LAURIER AND PROHIBITION.

(New York Voice.)

Up in Canada the people by their persistence have forced an indifferent government to give them a prohibition plebiscite, but that does not assure them the co-operation of the government in the fight on that question. In fact, the indications are that the liberal party machine may do for prohibition in the field just what the republican machine did for the same question in the amendment campaign in Pennsylvania-knife it in back and front. Premier Laurier has already trotted out the revenue bugaboo, practically telling the people that they must put their hands in their pockets and make good the $7,000,000 rum revenue if they vote prohibition. Just why the head of the government should become the disseminator of a scare like that, unless he sends out with it its offset and antidote, unless he means to prejudice the fight, is not easy to understand. The Canadian prohibitionists will need to keep their eyes on some of their profest friends as well as their enemies. As we think of our work every de As we think of our work every department seems important, whether preventive, educational, evangelistic, social or legal. Surely God has filled our hands with his beautiful services. We may not do great things, but we can study our work and be intelligent in it. We can be faithful up to the fullest extent of our ability. Our dominion president says that this is a red letter year for the W. C. T. U. of Canada, as it will be many years dominion president says that this is a red letter year for the W. C. T. U. of Canada, as it will be many years before the world's union will meet here again. It will certainly be a great privilege to meet the famous workers from all lands. We hope that our delegations to the dominion convention may be full and that meny visitors will avail themselves of the opportunity of hearing women who lead in the greatest women's movement of the world. Our unions have heard much about a crusade for new members. The leaders in dominion work are making plans to observe a crusade week throughout all our provinces from the "Atlantic to the Pacific." An unknown friend has offered $500 to be paid into the dominion treasury if the membership of the Women's Christian Temperance Union is doubled by October. We now have $449 white ribboners in Canada. If we are successful in doubling the membership, the fee of 50 cents each will amount to $4,200, adding the $500 we will have the handsome sum of $4,700 to spend in temperance work, and then we have the greater gain of encouraging the old workers, the influence of our work in a greater number of homes and individual vows, which come by wearing the white ribbon as a token of consecration and helpfulness will prove a blessing in many directions.

Dear sisters, let us go into this work trusting in our divine leader, and if we fail, let it be after we have done our best. The world has never before witnessed such earnest, self-sacrificing efforts in Christian and moral activities. The spirit of Christ is taking possession of the Christian church in a marked degree. Bible study is being made intensely inter-foung men and women are offering selves for foreign mission work n large numbers. The work alrealy ne in foreign fields is taking desper root and native workers are entering heartily into our Blessed Redeemer's ervice for their own people. Young eople's societies are doing a grand ervice throughout the world. The oples for the study of the consecration of life and hollness of heart as used in their meetings, will surely do much toward making our coming members earnest and devoted workers. The cry of India in her sore need has revealed the fact that the spirit of Christian helpfulness has touched the hearts of Canadians from her highest offices down to the people in the humblest walks of life. Sums of money, large and small, were gen rously given for the relief of the suffering. In view of our future work we need individually to seek the Spirit's power and to have the know-ledge of His will and to pray that for "God and home and native land," may feel their responsibility and give themselves to the service which the Master requires.
