All the efforts of the clerks and the tourist ociation to provide the people with an evening's enjoyment each week will really enjoy the music are to be at the ercy of an unthinking crowd like that of last evening. It is really amazin that those who so foolishly abused their privileges could not see that they were simply making it impossible for the city council to extend any further the permission to allow bands to play in Queen square. The mayor an tourist association and other contribu ors did theirs, and the members of th bands have displayed a commendable public spirit. All this is not done by hese people for their own pleasure but it is a pitifully poor return for their labors when the net result is a squares, upon the care of which public money is regularly spent to keep it in order.

THE MORMON SPECTRE.

New York has a new sensation. Two adies who were formerly active workers in the Congregational church and in the field of Christian Endeavor, have espoused the Mormon faith. The story is told elsewhere in today's Star. Discussing the subject the Mail and Ex-press says that "it causes something ike a shudder to read of a successfu propaganda by Salt Lake missionaries in one of the best suburban districts. It says the Mormon elders take full advantage of the freedom of discussion and distribute and preach their doc trines with great skill and persistence. Since the United States forces not very well prevent these people from teaching their doctrines. The Mail and Express is of opinion that polygamy ism as ever it was, but the elders art fully refrain from asking any married woman convert to leave her husband. It is urged that Christian minister should exert themselves to "combat the alluring, and eleverly sophisticated presentation of Mormon doctrine."

THE PICNIC SEASON,

The picule season is now on, and al-ready we hear of accidents as a result of carelesaness in connection with the affair. Picnics are a source of mucl leasure, but they are also the cause of considerable danger, especially when it is a Sunday school picnic, where there are many little ones who are impressed only with the idea that they are on a picnic and must get all the fun they can out of it. An overrun they can out of it. An over-crowded boat bearing a Sunday school plenic from Toronto Junetion had an exciting time on Saturday last. The impression got abroad that the steam-er was going to sink and women faint-ed and wept. The passengers were all put into the hold and the hatchways were guarded, and after much difficulty the party was landed in safety.

In an address to Yale students Dr. W. F. Slocum, Sunday evening last, said that there is no more abominable and damnable He than that a man cannot be a politician and a Christian Dr. Slocum affirms that all good men should be in politics, and prophesies further that in time the word-politician cannot have any suggestion of representable man is a politician to the degree that he is glad to come out and champion the choice of fit candidates, and that, having seen the right men chosen, he fights bravely for their election.

peat-up quarters and from narrow apartum quarters and from narrow apartuments that have been our homes during the long winter and the cold, lengthening spring and enjoy the outdoor life with brook and tree, mountain, lake and seashore, green lawn and refreshing atmosphere. This desire which is partly a sentiment, the dominant thing in social and business life. From June to October there is a reign of the outdoor spirit, a spirit that impels us all to do new things, and to seek new surroundings in which to enjoy them. This is human nature, of course, but it is amiable human nature at its best.

We are constantly reminded that "God made the country and man made the town." The summer pligitm who seeks the country even if it is but for his half holiday, or his week or fortuight of vacation, is led by necessity as well as by choice, to entertain himself with recreations that are both innocent in themselves and helpful to his welfare. The mission upon which he is setting out has its moral side and its more than half recreative and religious in its very nature. He is a better man, mentally and morally for his outing, be it on mountain, or by the sea, or be it nothing more than an afternoon on the beach, an evening in a hammock under the trees, or a late ride home by swift moving trolleys from some inexpensive local resort. As for being a better man physically for such a respite from business cares—be it but short—that has been settled long ago. Midsummer outings in the rountry are a physical necessity. Hot weather make some duties onerous, but they are duties that are pute delights—to "loaf and invite the soul" in the fresh air and under the trees with the open sky overhead.

NEWSPAPER BURNED OUT. The Fredericton Herald Office Badly Gutted by Fire Early This Morning.

A telephone message to the Sun at two celock this morning announced that the office of the Fredericton Herald and been badly gutted by fire.

The premises occupied by the Herald consist of the two upper stories of a brick building at the corner of Queen and Regent streets, the street floor being occupied by Hunt and McDonald as a drug store. The fire was discovered about one o'clock in the second floor and at that time had quite a foothold. The flames spread to the upper floor, and before extinguished had pretty well gutted the entire premises. The drug store below suffered severely from water.

The building is the property of Sheriff Sterling and is insured in the Keystone. The Herald is owned by J. K. C. Parlee and Miss Parlee, who have their property insured through Mr. Morrison.

It is believed the fire caught near the boiler.

Mrs. Nash kissed her husband, in ignorance that infection could come from it. They were both taken ill and went to the Pasteur Institute where they were informed that they were suffering from hydrophobia, but the expert said he believed he could cure them.
