FOR TEMPERANCE.

Tennyson Smith Opened the Campaign on Saturday

And Promises Warner Addresses as He Goes Along—Large Audiences Attended.

The local temperance campaign was opened on Saturday evening by a reception to E. Tennyson Smith in the York assembly room. There was a large attendance. Mr. Smith is a powerful speaker and made a strong impression on those present. Rev. Dr. McLeod, of Fredericton, opened the proceedings with prayer.

Mayor Sears read an address of welcome to Mr. Smith. His worship stated that honesty and thrift, if followed, is temperance.

Rev. Thos. Marshall, president of the Provincial Federation, also delivered an address of welcome to Mr. Smith. He stated that the Federation aimed to bring together the different temperance societies, to procure prohibitory legislation. Other speakers were Mrs. J. H. Gray, J. B. Baxter, of Moncton, George Blewett and Rev. C. W. Hamilton.

Mr. Gray, on behalf of the W. C. T. U., promised Mr. Smith their hearty support in the campaign. Mr. Baxter, on behalf of the I. O. G. T. U., welcomed Mr. Smith. Mr. Hamilton, on behalf of the Sons of Temperance, promised Mr. Smith their support in the campaign.

In replying Mr. Smith stated that he was in the field to fight.

"You have two breweries here," he said, "and I will get the names of the shareholders and read them here every night." Mr. Smith was delighted and the welcome tendered him and thanked the speakers.

Mr. Smith was confident that prohibition would some day be obtained.

A meeting was held in Fairview Baptist church on Sunday morning. At 3 p. m. yesterday Mr. Smith spoke before the Portland Methodist Sunday school.

The first public lecture was held at 4 p. m. in York Theatre. A. A. Stockton, M. P., presided.

Mr. Smith said that he hoped everyone was convinced that the war was on. He hoped that there were some liquor dealers in the audience. He is here for the purpose of declaring war upon the liquor traffic. He would plant his gun upon the liquor traffic. He would take sight and those who come between will get hit.

In closing the speaker said that he had been mild in his remarks. He would be warm in the evening, hot tonight, red hot on Tuesday night, and at white heat on Wednesday night.

The theatre was crowded when Mr. Smith lectured last evening. He declared himself to be an optimist and believes that the liquor traffic will ultimately be destroyed.

His message caused to young men by drink. The speaker gave those in the audience a chance to sign the pledge, and eighty-six took the opportunity.

Tonight Mr. Smith will lecture in Union hall on "The Saloon Problem." D. J. Purdy, M. P., will preside.

STREET LIGHTING.

To the Star:

In answer to Mr. Hopper, of the Street Railway Co., re the lighting contract given his company where ago by the last council, it is only natural that he should champion their cause. Seeing that the various corporations in fact one might even be justified in going the length to say, that they have been biased in favor of his company, when all the concessions, privileges, etc., they have received from the City of St. John are taken into account. As far as the tax payers are concerned, I still hold the contract was rushed. If it was not why did not the council listen to the arguments of the lighting committee, whose chairman refused to sign the contract, and strongly objected along with some others to the time of the contract, viz., ten years. Mr. Hopper lays great stress on Ross & Holgate's mistake on the price of coal, and says that it could not be procured for less than $4 per ton. I suppose that includes cartage from some point. But did the Street Railway Co. intend that the city should place their plant where cartage was necessary. Regarding the cost of foundations, there are other places where suitable or just as suitable as Thompson's wharf, where foundations might be put in at Messrs. Ross & Holgate's prices, which prices not a few interested parties thought were on the liberal side. Also, as regards the line construction it is only just to suppose that St. John could do that work as cheaply as the other corporations now operating at a good profit. Does Mr. Hopper for a moment think he can delude the citizens of St. John by wishing them to believe that it would cost them the rates per lamp he quotes when the two sub-stations were one away with, and all light guaranteed in the central station, when the fuel bill, maintenance and supervision would have been reduced by nearly one-half. Citizens has not had the disadvantages of the working of the north light schedule pointed out to him, except in that the citizens of St. John have to pay 25 per cent. more for the lights according to Mr. Hopper's figures, as he says, "that it costs that figure to operate an all night system more than a 'momentary'." A good few of the citizens know that the council were not generated by the Street Railway Co., as it is much more to their advantage to run on the "all night" schedule, as they are paid for the extra output, and this extra output does not cost as much in proportion, as the attendants have to be there to run other portions of the plant through the night. Citizens do not blame the Street Railway Co. for getting all they can, but he does object to paying unnecessary expenses, which are not considered necessary in other cities.

Citizens does complain again about the time of the contract, and even if the price of electric supplies has gone up, will the price of fuel, which is the main factor, go up? And can Mr. Hopper say that the economic conditions of motive power for the next 10 years are not going to decrease as much as they have done in the last 10 years?

The reason why citizens selected those cities is that these cities are forging ahead far in advance of St. John in the same time and under not such good conditions, and why are they doing so? Simply because they have been able to govern them, and who do not get beaten on each and every contract they enter into as the St. John Common Council do.

As regards the honesty of citizen, re quotation of C. P. and put in the same information was got from the tram clerks of the various on about the 10th of March last, and which may not be correct today if they are not it was no intention of citizen to misrepresent the price, etc., as it is being well realized now that we, the tax payers, have been done again on this contract, as usual. Again, in closing, I am quite sure that all expenses, etc., as Mr. Hopper points out, would not be taken to the profit which could be derived from any up-to-date new plant.

CAPITAL AND LABOR.

Archbishop O'Connell's Sermon On Sunday

Dealt With Economic Conditions and Expressed the Fear That No Immediate Improvement Will Take Place.

LOWELL, Mass., Nov. 18. — Archbishop William H. O'Connell, a native of this city, was heard for the first time since his consecration as coadjutor-archbishop at the dedication of St. Patrick's Church today.

The spacious edifice was crowded, and the congregation included a large number of the Archbishop's friends in this city.

Archbishop O'Connell's sermon was in part a review of the social conditions in this busy centre of industrial life. Two tremendous forces have been working side by side from the first days of its history; both have contributed to its making-industry and religion. The first has contributed to its material prosperity; the second has preserved its peace and order without which prosperity would have been a curse. Labor in itself, inasmuch as it produces something useful for humanity, and by its fruits feeds the world, is not a curse but a blessing. But when industrial activity is not controlled by the laborer beyond endurance, and when the dignity of labor is ignored in the name of progress, then comes slavery and slavery is the mother of revolt.

The first has contributed to the growth of industry, wealth has grown, and the evils concomitant with the new conditions, are here. The greedy of money, whose appetite grows with indulgence, is admitted a danger to peace and order.

If with increased wealth, if with prosperity which flooded the land as if God were showering his blessings upon the nation, hand in hand went a corresponding gratitude to God, a corresponding generous response to the higher duties imposed by better conditions, all would yet be well. But when men's hearts grew only the heart of greed, when the blessings of heaven fall on stony ground, thorns and thistles grow instead of wholesome grain. The danger which are now confronting us and which if men do not have a care, will assume alarming proportions, are in reality nothing new; they are but the repetition of the evils of paganism which Christ came to heal. The church confronted them in the past and today if men will but hear her voice she can restore health and tranquility in spite of threatened disorder.

Out of the babel of voices each clamoring to be heard, each proclaiming his own nostrum and panacea, each combating the principles of the other and only succeeding in adding to the confusion and increasing suspicion, distrust and even hatred, there is no hope of a true settlement of the social evils. It is harder to make each man realize that upon him in part lies some of the blame, and to persuade him to do his share in righting the wrong conditions. That the church alone can do, for she deals with great masses arrayed on either side, but especially with the individual conscience, and brings order out of chaos, and brings order in the state or city were absolutely faithful to his own individual duty to God, to himself, and to his fellow man, there would be no wrong clamoring to the nation for settlement, no national cry crying for legislative remedies. Envy, jealousy, hatred, avarice, indolence, luxury, are deep rooted spiritual diseases flowing from the invisible sources in the mind and heart of the people. The lessening of labor and the increase of wealth will never in themselves settle the eternal unrest of humanity. Even the millionaire, if his greed and avarice are unchecked by his possessions, remains as restless and unsatisfied as the humblest laborer in his employ. The blame, therefore, is not with any one class, the fault is general and is daily growing. Prosperity will do little to appease the ravages of a spiritual disease. Indeed, it seems only to aggravate them. The disease is not material; that is the common mistake of all so-called reformers. It is deeper than food or clothing; it is spiritual. It is not the body but the soul that is unhappy."

St. Andrew's Day, November 30th, has been appointed for the consecration of the Bishop Coadjutor-elect in Montreal. The C. P. R. will grant a return ticket for one fare from St. John if ten or more are going. Dr. Henry Scamell will be glad to receive the names as early as possible of any desirous of going, in order that arrangements for sleeping car may be made.

SERIOUS STORMS IN SOUTHERN STATES

Several Lives are Said to Have Been Lost

Wind and Rain Cause Much Damage to Property in Tennessee.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Nov. 18.—Telegraph and telephone messages today from points in Mississippi, Arkansas and Tennessee, for a distance of several hundred miles, report that territory to have suffered last night and early today from a destructive rain and wind storm.

Only meagre details are as yet obtainable, but five lives are known to be lost and a great damage done to property and crops. Railroad traffic from Memphis is demoralized by numerous washouts, and many trains have been annihilated.

From the reports so far received the greatest damage occurred in the central and Delta regions of the Mississippi.

At Winona, Miss., the Catholic, the Christian and Negro Methodist churches, and the Holy brickyard were demolished and many buildings unroofed and damaged. Among the largest built buildings at this place are the post office, the opera house, the oil mill, the compress, the warehouse of V. Peterson and Fireman Co., and the residence of E. J. Bunkston.

Besides these twenty-five smaller buildings were partly destroyed. Telegraphic communication is prostrated.

Of these buildings not destroyed, the compress was probably the most severely damaged. The roof of this building was torn off by the wind, which at times reached a velocity of 100 miles an hour. The roof, falling on the home of E. J. Bunkston, 200 yards away.

The wind storm was preceded and followed by heavy rain, causing serious washouts along the route of the Illinois Central R. R. and damaged crops. At Mathison, Miss., serious damage is reported to have occurred. A woman was killed by a falling building. At Toluha, a falling tree striking a small frame building caused it to be set afire, burning a woman and child to death.

At Nacemah Creek, a few miles from Memphis, a railway trestle fell under the weight of a switch engine, the engine plunging into the swollen stream, carrying with it Engineer C. V. Peterson and Fireman A. R. Ritchie, who was drowned.

Westport, Columbus and Mahan, Miss., are reported to have suffered serious damage, but, as these points are cut off from communication, it is impossible to verify the report.

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 18.—Three persons were killed near Klona and a number of houses blown down and others unroofed.

At Haben, Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Woodford were caught in the debris of their home and are believed to be fatally injured.

At Winona, forty persons are said to be injured, but none seriously.

At Mathison, all the southern part of the town was blown away, including the Baptist church and the school building.

SEVENTEEN YEAR OLD BOY IS AN INCENDIARY

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—Wm. Doran, 17, of Providence, R. I., boy, who was arrested on the charge of setting several incendiary fires on the morning of Nov. 8th, today was sentenced to the reformatory until he reaches the age of 21. Doran has been at Bellevue Hospital for days undergoing mental examination. The authorities at that institution reported today that he is not insane but that he should be committed to a penal educational institution.

SIR F. LUGARD

A MODERN CLIVE

Dramatic Career of Northern Nigeria's ex-Ruler.

ending in Africa as Half-pay Adventurer, He Won Uganda for British Flag.

LONDON, Nov. 17.—Sir Frederick Lugard, who recently resigned as High Commissioner of Northern Nigeria on account of poor health, has been apparently described as a fine de siècle figure. Now only 45 years old, with no known great deeds before him, he has been one of the most dramatic and romantic to be found in the list of African empire builders.

Tall, trained down to nothing but kin and bone and muscle, with bright grey eyes, strongly marked features, a keen nose, and a fierce, bushy moustache, he is the best deal of a modern soldier of fortune. He came of military stock. His father was a chaplain in the Indian army, but it was as an adventurer, the pitiful descendant of Hawkins and Drake, bent on such an enterprise as conquering the heart of the King of pain," that he found his chance to serve a name for himself in the Dark Continent.

With $50 in his belt and with practically no outfit at all except an old 50 express rifle, paid for in India, the absence of funds—by shooting man-eating tiger with a reward on his head, Lugard got on a tramp steamer bound for Naples and Suez. He had already won three medals in Africa, Soudan and Burma Wars, it was on half-pay leave, his one was running short, and he was due to strange shifts.

So he took a deck passage on a timber ship bound for Massowah, and left among the cargo. This throws a rod of light on the personal qualities which enabled this half-pay captain to have Uganda for the Empire, and to be in the space of four years, to be the nk of brigadier-general.

It was his own opportunities, starting that a trading post in Nyasaland was besieged by Arava slave raiders, as a bit of recreation, he or a relief expedition and drove the Arabs off after a sharp fight, in which he was badly wounded. This which he was entering the service of the East Africa Company. When Cart Peters was trying to gain a foothold in Uganda for Germany, Lugard made a dash for it with a handful of black soldiers, two white comrades and a Maxim gun. He bluffed Mwanga into a treaty which ended in annexation.

He played a big part in the early stormy days of Uganda. He marched against and defeated Kabarega of Unyoro with a force largely composed of Ugandese. He led the Christian levies of Uganda when they fought and beat the Mohammedan rebels. Then he passed to the other side of Africa where, something over six years ago, he was appointed High Commissioner of Nigeria. His seizure of Sokoto was accomplished so rapidly that the orders of the Colonial Office to avoid action only reached him when he was reporting the accomplished fact.

Had Lady Lugard been a man she would probably have rivalled her husband as an empire builder. Few women have been such intrepid travellers or passed through so many adventures. She has had a long and most of the modern imperial pies. She was a confidante to Cecil Rhodes, and was mixed up in the ill-starred Jameson raid. That was when she was still Miss Flora Shaw and the Colonial Office. The London Times, in which capacity she visited most of the remote regions of the Empire.

JAPANESE SQUADRON WILL VISIT SAN FRANCISCO

Port Authorities Have Been Ordered to Make Preparations for Its Reception.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 17.—Collector of the Port Stratton has been notified to prepare for the reception of a Japanese squadron which will come to this port next spring. The visit will assume much international importance and every courtesy is to be offered the officers and squadron.

The Tokio government has appropriated $50,000 yen for the expenses of the cruise. Vice Admiral Schichiro Kataoka, commander of the third squadron of Port Arthur under Admiral Togo, will be in command. The squadron will be composed of three vessels, a first class battleship and two cruisers. It will come direct to San Francisco, arriving in either March or April after making a brief stop at Honolulu.

UNION REGULATIONS AND MILITARY RULES

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 17.—John McComgan, a recruit at the barracks here is a union barber. Because he refused to shave his fellow soldiers for a nickel and cut their hair for a dime, which is under the union rates, he was called before the commanding officer and severely reprimanded. He was ordered to be placed in the guard house.

Every soldier must be shaved twice a week and must have his hair cut once a month. The barber gets half the proceeds. As there are 1200 men and only two barbers to serve all of them, the plan of barbers shaving pay is well. McComgan made $10 a week.

Geodon Division, Sons of Temperance, will meet in their hall, Market Building, at 5 o'clock this evening.
