portunity given the public to examine the Court House was very poor. The Society no doubt did the bold under the circumstances; but next year an attempt will be made in this respect. The whole affair in too hurried a manner; and some advantage of such an exhibition is a long tent, with a passage centre for visitors, and the articles on both sides, would be much better than rooms of the Court House for exhibitors. In York County they have buildings erected, and grounds set for their County Shows. If Carleton have the same it certainly can improve the past.

ic-Nic.—The Pic-Nic of Captain company of Rifles took place on the servale on Friday, according to an. The day was a most lovely one; the amusements provided, passed off have not heard the amount raised, but it must be very considerable.

ING THE COLORED PEOPLE.—William, of Boston, the well-known colored on his tour through the Canadas, and stimulating the colored population, sobriety and emigration from and towns, to the W. St. Indies. The says he gave a very interesting lecture of citizens in London, on Monday which occasion, a large number turned him. He urged his hearers to be of the soil and said that, to those able to purchase land in Canada, the Nayti offered a free homestead, equal with the natives, and all the privileges those born on the island. With re- flection, he urges his brethren to the use of intoxicating drinks, give and tobacco and devote their more cultivation of their mind. The appeared to appreciate very highly the speaker, and felt that such calculated to accomplish much good colored population.

FROM PAPERS BY THE EUROPA.

Despatches have been received at Toulon from Cochinchina. They state that 500 or 600 Annamites had suddenly attacked a French establishment on the frontier, placed under the protection of M. Vial, a midshipman. This officer having but 25 sailors to defend the place, entrenched himself in a fortified redoubt, where he made an obstinate defence. The enemy, equally determined approached so close that the French succeeded in killing two of the most forward chiefs who led the attack. The loss of their leaders produced a panic among the Cochinchinese, and they fled, leaving 38 dead or wounded on the ground.—The midshipman received a lance wound in the thigh, which is not considered dangerous.

THE FUTURE KING OF GREAT BRITAIN.—In the extremity of the Camp, slightly removed from the general mass of huts, and standing half way up a gentle slope of grassy mounds, is a hut rather larger than the rest, very neatly kept, and with a lawn and little garden round it. This is the hut of the Prince of Wales. It was formerly occupied by General Ridley, who now resides in another small mansion of the same kind, but nearer to head-quarters. The Prince Consort rode from the station across the Curragh direct to this temporary wooden villa, the hut of the Prince of Wales. But his Royal Highness had already left, and was out with his regiment to drill in the green sloping valley, some mile or so across the plain. To this spot therefore, the Prince rode, and remained attentively watching the Guards while they were put through all the most difficult manoeuvres which one regiment is capable of performing. Beyond one or two Irish peasants who happened to be passing, there was hardly a single spectator in the plain. Yet the sight was a suggestive one, though neither very grand or very striking as a spectacle. Apparently it was only three mounted gentlemen looking on at a regimental drill. Even the country people present did not know that the Prince Consort was one of these three, or that the fair young officer with black craps on his arm at the rear of the regiment, who was so quick in obeying Colonel Percy's stentorian orders, and who stood at such rigid attention among the privates of his company till the word "Officers at ease" gave him and others time to rest and wipe their brows was the Prince of Wales, the future King of England. Yet there he was, shoulder to shoulder with privates Smith and Brown, and looking after his company with as much care and eager activity as all the rest of the captains.

He looked, as he always does in his uniform, remarkably well, perhaps a little browner, and certainly more robust and formed in figure, even than he did on that eventful morning when he landed from the Hero and won the hearts of all the ladies of Halifax by standing under the arch of the dockyard while his photograph was taken. The drill of the regiment and with it of the Prince lasted continuously for some hour and a half or so. It is quite superfluous to say how the Grenadier Guards acquitted themselves during this examination. Long and strict training has brought this superb corps to such a perfection of drill that the whole regiment resembles a single piece of machinery in the solid, even precision of its every movement. The marching past at slow, quick, and double time was really wonderful. When the drill was at last over the Prince Consort rode by the side of the Prince of Wales as the corps marched back, and waited till the regiment was dismissed, when both went away to His Royal Highness quarters.—Letter from the Curragh.

THE NEW PAMPHLET.—The substance of the new pamphlet issued in Paris on the 30th ult., entitled the "Emperor, Rome and the King of Italy," implies that it is impossible to see actually at Rome anything else but a "Coblentz" directed against the King of Italy, the Emperor of the French, civilization, progress, the country, and liberty. Such a conspiracy cannot be tolerated under the French flag. France is about to withdraw her troops and the principle of non-intervention will be strictly maintained. There is not a single guarantee, either moral or material, which has not been offered by the Italian Ministers for the independence of the Sovereign Pontiff. If the Court of Rome obstinately persists in refusing, an appeal will be made to the Roman people. The Plebiscite will take place under the eyes of the French army. If Victor Emmanuel is called upon to reign, on the following day the French troops will be relieved by the Italian troops, and the King of Italy will publish the accordance agreed upon between him and the Catholic Powers, with a view to the independence of the Holy See. The Pope may then act as he pleases.

ARRIVAL OF THE "PERSIA." CAPE RACE, Sept. 22. The Persia, from Liverpool 14th, was intercepted 8 30 on Sunday morning. Political news unimportant.

BRITAIN. The times ridicules the passport system of America, and says it will not secure the desired ends. The only complaint England has to make in the matter is with regard to the discourtesy of leaving Lord Lyons to learn the new arrangement from the newspapers.

Movements were making of troops preparatory to their embarkment for Canada. Russell writes to the Times that McClellan was becoming master of his situation, and says that the movements of Federalists by water, both on the seaboard and Mississippi, must greatly embarrass the South. The Prince of Wales gone to Prussia to witness military movements on the Rhine. It is understood that the Earl of Clarendon will represent England at the Coronation of the King of Prussia. It is again reported that the visit of the King of Prussia to Napoleon is likely to be postponed.

The monthly returns of the Banks of France show an increase in cash of nine million francs. The Moniteur denies the rumor of extraordinary naval arrangements by France.

Italian affairs unchanged. The Corvairs Mercantile confirms the news that American Minister visited Garibaldi at Caprera, to offer him a command in the Federal army. The Despatch regrets it cannot give denial to rumor of acceptance of the offer by Garibaldi. It is confirmed that Spain joins in the expedition to Mexico. It is said that the Hungarian Diet will be convened for December 1st.

INDIA AND CHINA. The Australian mails reached Marseilla. Partially anticipated. Unimportant. Persia passed Great Eastern putting back to Liverpool in damaged state on Monday, 16th.

Boston, Sep. 23. Everything quiet in Washington and vicinity. The Latest news from Missouri is that Lexington was surrendered to the Confederates on Friday.

Count DeParis and the Duke DeCharters have tendered their services to the government which have been accepted and they will probably be attached to Gen. McClellan's staff. Boston, Sep. 24. Everything quiet at Washington. The news of the surrender of Lexington, Missouri, to the rebels, is confirmed. It is said General Fremont is to take the field in person. The National Fast will be generally observed throughout the loyal States. The seizure of vessels owned in part at the South is still going on. Arrests of individuals charged with treason continues. The United States loan is eagerly taken. Federal prisoners at Richmond are said to be suffering many hardships. A large number have been sent to Baton Rouge, Louisiana.

A pedler called on an old lady to dispose of some goods and inquired of her if she could inform him of any road which no peddler had travelled. "Yes, said she, I know one, and only one, and that is the road to heaven."
