

DISTRACTIONS

The Cross Roads dedicated to Karen,

It seems an eternity
that together hand in hand
we travelled the endless roads.
Two hearts beating in synchronicity friendship and love
was nurtured and grew.

The road was often rough and careless words flew like daggers piercing tender skin.
The flesh always mended through others tender care and ugly scars never became a reality.

The road was often untroubled as we ran blinded by our inhibitions and desires to be free.
Together we laughed
as memories were created of parties and pubs spirited times were many.

The road was often soothing when one was in pain the sorrows were shared equally and the burdens somehow seemed less.
Shoulders were presented as pillars of strength to help stabilize and reassure as the weaker gratefully rested.

Each road has created a special memory and while being travelled, has placed in our hearts special treasures created by each other.
However after a storm
the road split as if divided by the devil himself and we came to the cross-roads.

The desire to travel together was strong but each felt in our souls
a special calling from different directions.

Thus our lives separated.

But my dear friend
although my path lead me miles away
there is one thing I wish for you to know.
You are as special to me now as you were while we travelled together
and it is especially now that you are in my thoughts and my heart.
The cross-roads separated our lives
but will never separate our friendship.
You are a true friend forever.

Trisha Graves

Thoughts To Sleep On

Tonight think about the woman who is beside you. Think back to when you first met her. Wasn't she the most beautiful creation you've ever set eyes on?

Think also of how you would be alone now if you had never met her.

Remember the time when you had all the reasons in the world to make her happy.

Hold her close to your heart and tell her that she is and always will be a part of you.

Don't hide the truth. Tell her about how beautiful she is and say it with your deepest emotions that are hidden some where in your heart.

Gille Legacy

Truth

child of 43
with iron ring
a fool.
children abused
women battered
men killed.
work and money
power.
sin
the love is blinding
JESUS.

Daniel '71

A Cry For Love

Lady of the sky take me by the hand. Show me the way in this vast dream of freedom that I have in my heart. Take me with you on your wings let me see the love that is alive in this world. Let me look through the eyes of mankind. Let it guide me to a better way of understanding life. Lady of the sky answer the cry that has fallen in the heart of so many men. Give them a place to plant the seed of love that they have in their heart. Teach them how to take care of the flowers that will blossom into beautiful colors of the rainbow. The flowers will drop their petals to the wind. Let them fall in your path and lead us to love.

Gille Legacy