

" O'er nature in triumph I now hold my court,
 " Such times as these surely were not made for sport ;
 " Then be sad as the season while with you I stay,
 " And let no joy be seen from November to May."

" Not so, ancient Monarch," we all cried at once,
 " You shall join in our glee, or we'll break your old sence,
 " Mend the fire, fill our pitchers, let laughter go round,
 " With a flagon of stingo our guest shall be crown'd."
