COMPENSATION OF SCOO

VOL. XXIX No. 253

Compensation of $650 for a stiff knee was award-ed to a workman by Mr. Justice Fortin yesterday, the jadgment being in accordance with a settlement reached between the litigants. The plaintiff alleged that, though he was capable of engaging in work at which he could stand, he would, as a result of the which he could stand, he would as a result of the suffness, be unable to engage in an occupation which reduired him to bend very much, a serious disadvan-use, in view of the fact that he was 50 years of age. The action was taken under the Workmen's Com-The action was taken ander the violation's com-pensation Act. The case was that of Gonthier vs. the Dominion Oil Cloth Company, Limited. The plaintiff, who was a mechanic, was engaged in boring sockets is a steel beam in the roof of the defendant's ware-He braced his drill upon the plank upor house, He blank upon which he was standing, with the result that the plank broke under his weight and under the pressure of the
