

ES TO LEAD THE ULSTERMEN

ral Richardson to be Chief Officer in Command of Volunteers.

FAST, Sept. 19.—It was announced at a meeting of Irish Unity at Banbridge, in the County Down yesterday, that Lieutenant Sir Geo. Reilly Richardson, who previously watched the party of 1,500 drilled men, had been elected general of the Ulster Volunteers.

George addressed the meeting and the volunteers they were of physique and fit to be led. He impressed upon them the necessity of discipline and drill, efficiency in the use of the rifle and the use of the members staff would give them the of their experience whenever needed for it.

Gen. Richardson served for six years in the British army in various campaigns, but retired some years ago. He is a member of the Ulster Volunteers, and is continuing his work in the West Down, and the hope, in addressing the volunteers, that the next he saw of every man will have a rifle on his back. He advised them to be stone unturned to resist the advances of any force.

Richard E. Smith, another of the speakers, urged them to make a deal such that when the time came, Sir Edward Carson to negotiate with the government he might be able to do so with the knowledge that behind him are 100,000 disciplined volunteers.

BIG CONGRESS FOR TRADES AND LABOR

Opens in Montreal on Monday--All Kinds of Important Projects Will be Reviewed by Dominion Labor Men.

(Canadian Press Despatch) MONTREAL, Sept. 20.—The trades and labor congress of Canada, the working man's parliament, will begin its 25th annual meeting at Auditorium Hall here on Monday next. The sessions of the congress are expected to last until Saturday. Delegates to the number of 300 are expected from all parts of the Dominion while Will Thorne, member of parliament for Westham, Eng., will arrive to-morrow morning on the Laurentic to represent organized labor in Great Britain. The program just issued gives the following list of interesting subjects that are to come up for discussion during the convention: Dominion and provincial legislation affecting labor interests; the repeal of the present useless alien labor law; enforcement of the misrepresentation and monetary clauses of the

THAW'S EXTRADITION SAID TO BE IMPOSSIBLE

NEW YORK, Sept. 20.—Inquiries are being made through official circles throughout the country by counsel for Harry K. Thaw, it was learned to-day to find if a precedent anywhere exists for the action of the New York state authorities in asking the extradition from New Hampshire of Thaw, an insane man, on a charge of crime. Moses H. Grossman, of the Thaw counsel, who has the inquiry in charge, declared it had been his contention all along that Thaw could not

THOMPSON TELLS THAW SECURES ABLE COUNSEL

It Was All Due to Him That Thaw Was Able to Escape.

(Canadian Press Despatch) MONTREAL, Sept. 20.—Freed from the clutches of the Canadian courts and safe from deportation and the possibility of being arrested by the New York State authorities, "Educated" Roger Thompson, who drove Thaw from Matteawan on the morning that he escaped, has given out a few of the details of the race across the country in the big black car. Thompson claims that he did not know that he was to drive Thaw until he saw him jump into the car at Matteawan; as he was sent out by his employer in New York in the ordinary way of business. He says that when he saw Thaw he objected, but his companions finally persuaded him to go through with the race. Thompson says Thaw and he stopped the first night just outside Rochester, N.H. In the morning Thaw shaved in the barber shop under the hotel, and while in the chair, a man called the "squire" came in and began to talk to the barber about the escape. Thompson states that they there took the train for Canada. They had arranged that in case any officer apprehended Thaw while on the train Thompson was to claim that he was a detective, who was taking him back to Matteawan. Thompson says that wherever Thaw moved about the car he accompanied him as if afraid to let him out of his sight.

Dramatic Revelations to Follow in Mystery of Missing Necklace

LONDON, Sept. 20.—Augustus Horne, the finder of the $650,000 pearl necklace, was taken to Scotland Yard by detectives for examination, and is still detained there. Superintendent Leach, who is engaged on the case in behalf of the underwriters, thinks that the jewels were discovered in the street, but he declines to enter more fully into the matter, as there possibly will be further arrests. On the other hand, it is asserted that one man whom the police are watching was seen to pass along the road where the jewels were found some hours prior to their discovery. It is evident the mystery is not yet at an end, and it is freely declared by the London papers that some most dramatic revelations are yet to come. Horne is a piano back maker, 40 years old, living with a wife and three children in two rooms. After the find he spent the day with companions, not turning up at his work nor returning to his home till late evening, shortly before the arrival of the detectives to take him to Scotland Yard. His wife only heard of her husband's good fortune from a newspaper reporter. At first she expressed complete incredulity. "No such luck," was her repeated comment; then, "We shall not get the reward anyway"; and finally, "Well, if it is true and we do get it, I don't know what we shall do with that much money."

RICH AND POOR PAY LAST HONOR TO "BIG TIM" SULLIVAN.

CHARLES F. MURPHY, THOMAS F. FOLEY, JUDGE OTTO ROSALSKY TAKING THE BODY FROM OLD ST. PATRICK'S CATHEDRAL.

Timothy D. Sullivan's body was borne to its last resting place in Calvary Cemetery, New York city, with 25,000 mourners from every rank in life, most of whom could truthfully say, "I knew him and he knew me." It was the personal side of "Big Tim" that made his funeral cortege miles in length and packed the streets for many blocks with spectators from every borough.

There was an aspect of genuine sorrow in the great assemblage, which presented in its conduct an amazingly small evidence of mere curiosity.

United States Senators Manning and Hughes, of New Jersey, and "Ollie" James, of Kentucky, and most of the delegation of twenty Representatives in Congress appointed by Speaker Clark to pay the last honors to the dead Representative on behalf of the present Congress, in which he never had taken his seat, were the only official mourners.

The large illustration shows Charles F. Murphy, leader of Tammany Hall; Thomas Foley, formerly Sheriff of New York county, and Judge Otto Rosalsky, all big political men and all great friends of the best loved man in the east side of New York city, "Big Tim" Sullivan.

In the small insert is shown "Joe" Sullivan, the seion and hope of the Sullivan clan, the nephew of the dead leader.

CHARGES AGAINST W. P. KELLETT WERE DISMISSED IN GALT TO-DAY --- VICTORY FOR L. E. & N. OFFICIALS

Charges against W.P. Kellett in the Galt police court this morning were dismissed. The first charge was that of laying a diamond across another railway's tracks in contravention of the Railway Act. Mr. Kellett produced a permit from the Dominion Board to do so and the case was dismissed. On the trespassing charge, Mr. Kellett showed that he was on the highway and this count was thrown out by the magistrate. G. E. Munro was discharged for obstructing Grand Valley cars. There was nothing to the cases except a victory for the L. E. and N. officials.

The war is still raging between the Grand Valley Railway and the Lake Erie and Northern Railway over the construction of a diamond by the latter road over the former's tracks at the outskirts of Galt. Two lively "set-backs" occurred yesterday, a matinee in the afternoon and the big show at night.

The Matinee. In the middle of the afternoon Motorman and special constable James Longhurst of the G. V. R. placed Mr. Arto Bunnell of the L. E. and N. Ry. force in the vicinity of the Blue Lake power house, under arrest and was taken to Police Headquarters in Galt, charged with trespassing. The Police official asked $100 bail and Mr. Bunnell handed him a $10 bill which he could not change. Longhurst of the G. V. R. obligingly accommodated his enemy by putting up the needed one spot for bail.

Kerr on the Job. Late in the afternoon High Constable Kerr armed with a warrant for A. E. Johnson's arrest, started for Galt in Louis Stander's car, but when they got about half way to Paris, the machine ran out of gasoline. An appeal was made to a farmer's house for gasoline, but only a small quantity was secured in a little bottle.

Rescued. Mr. Johnson of the Johnson Bros. Construction Company on the L. E. and N. happened to come along and (Continued on Page 6)

COUNTERFEITING APPARATUS AND SURGICAL INSTRUMENTS FOUND IN OFFICE OF PRIEST SLAYER'S FRIEND, DETECTIVE GUARD

Dr. Ernest Arthur Muret, dentist, was arrested, and, according to the New York police, confessed that he had been for several months engaged in making counterfeit $10 and $20 bills as the partner of the Rev. Father Hans Schmidt, the Roman Catholic priest now in the Tombs, New York city, as the confessed murderer of Anna Amullor, the victim of the Hudson River murder mystery. The counterfeit activities of the priest were revealed through the finding in his room in the rectory of a half engraved $20 bill. "The detectives seem convinced that Father Hans Schmidt had aid in cutting up the girl's body. In the rooms of "Dr." Muret was found a full set of surgical instruments—none were found in the priest's apartment.

BRILLIANT EVENT AT THE NURSES' HOME

Formally Dedicated Friday Afternoon --- Clever Nurses Receive Diplomas --- Proud Day for the Hospital Aid.

Grand. That is the word to be used in connection with the achievement of the Women's Hospital Aid in bringing to a completion and successfully opening the Nurses' Home erected at a cost of $40,000, including the splendid site, on the hospital property. It was a grand undertaking, a grand achievement, and a grand opening. For a number of years the Women's Hospital Aid, of city ladies, have been working to bring about just such an event as took place yesterday afternoon. Their labors were amply rewarded when hundreds of citizens gathered between 3 and 4 o'clock and while the Empire Orchestra rendered choice music the visitors were welcomed by officers, executive, and former presidents of the W. H. A. and governors' wives and escorted through the building. The vast majority of those who attended had in some manner helped to make the opening of such a fine building possible. To them there was a double satisfaction.

In the Auditorium. At 4 o'clock the ceremonies in the auditorium commenced and they were of an extensive and pleasing nature. Gathered on the platform which was suitably decorated were: from the Hospital Aid, Mrs. J. E. Waterous, president; Mrs. Livingston, first vice-president; Mrs. F. D. Reville, second vice-president; Mrs. George Watt, treasurer; Mrs. Thos. Watt, secretary; executive, Mrs. Cummings. Nelles, Miss Carson; the hospital superintendent, from the board of governors, Mr. C. H. Waterous, who presided, Mr. A. K. Bunnell, Dr. B. C. Bell, Mr. George Watt; the graduating nurses, Misses M. Hall, A. McCulloch, J. Shaff, K. Martin, J. McGregor, M. Taft, and Mrs. W. F. Cocksbutt, Mr. B. Mayor Hartman, Mr. Joseph Stratford, Mr. G. S. Muirhead, Dr. Mackenzie, Dr. Bruce Smith, inspector of hospitals and charities, Dr. E. R. Sessord, Mr. T. H. Preston, and Rev. Woodside.

Called To Order. The gathering was called to order by Mr. A. K. Bunnell, the W. H. A. representative on the board. Mr. Bunnell during his remarks said that it was 28 years since the hospital idea in Brantford first took root. Kindly reference was made to the late Mr. J. H. Stratford, the donor of the hospital; also to Mrs. Stratford and the deceased brother, Mr. Joseph Stratford. Mr. Bunnell then spoke of the progress the work had made and of the accomplishment through the assistance of the W. H. E. Waterous, called upon Mrs. J. E. Waterous, president of the Aid who read a dedicatory address. When the Women's Hospital Aid in 1906, decided to begin working for a Nurses' Home, they did so, because they felt there was nothing they could do which would contribute so largely to the general good of the Hospital, and although an ambitious undertaking.

for all their kindness and co-operation--also those who have contributed in any way to the success of our work--especially remembering our friends in the county, and the working men who have assisted us on so many occasions.

We trust after inspecting the Home to-day, that all may feel that the money we have expended, has been wisely and judiciously handled.

Dedicatory Prayer. Mrs. Waterous, concluding the address called upon Dr. Mackenzie to make the dedicatory prayer. At the conclusion of the prayer, Mrs. Waterous said: "It gives us a great deal of pleasure to now transfer to the Board of Governors, this Nurses' Home, with the very best wishes of every member of the Women's Hospital Aid."

Mr. Waterous Accepts. Mr. C. H. Waterous, president of the board of governors, then accepted on behalf of the board.

Mr. Waterous. In accepting from you, on behalf of the Board of Governors this Nurses' Home, it is difficult for me to express myself as I should like to do, and as I feel the importance of the occasion warrants.

It is easy to say that you have accomplished a great work, and that you have shown great skill in management and organization, but these statements do not convey any idea of the many years of intelligent and hard work that has been given by you to the accomplishment of your purpose.

This splendid building, fire-proof, ample in its proportions, thoroughly modern as to its conveniences and beautifully furnished, is the result of your work, and you have every reason to be proud of its completion. I can assure you that the Board of Governors of this hospital accepts your gift with the profoundest sense of gratitude. It is an addition to the hospital that was most urgently needed. When in the early days of your organization, you saw the inadequate, uncomfortable and unsanitary conditions under which our nurses were housed, living with and surrounded constantly by the sights and sounds of the hospital, which made it difficult, if not impossible, for them to keep in such physical and mental health as to permit them to give their best to their work.

You undertook to build this separate Home, it was a large task, and but for your skill and persistent work, would have been impossible. I have been asked many times how it was that Brantford has so grown and prospered; the answer is I think in this building. With women who can
