PROTEST TO CITY PAPAS

South Dawsonites Want Fire Protection

And Object to Intention of City Council to Move the Engine.

The resolution passed by the city council at its last meeting by which the fire engine located back of the electric light plant in the south end of town is to be taken out of commission, has raised a storm of disapproval on the part of the residents of that part of the city. The property holders of South Dawson, while they are in full sympathy with the endeavor of the city council to lower the expenses of the city as much as possible, believe that the start should be made in some department which is not quite so important as the taking away of the only means of fire protection which is accorded a large district.

It is the intention of the fire committee of the council to use the service of the Dawson Electric Co.'s power house as a substitute for the regular engine which is to be taken out of commission. But this arrangement is entirely unsatisfactory to the citizens who are looking for protection for their property.

Before the incorporation of the city and the election of the city officers the residents of that district were only protected from fires by the service of the power house, which it is claimed was proven entirely insufficient for the needs of the community, and one of the strong points with the "southerners" in favor of the present administration was the promise of the establishment of the fire brigade at the lower end.

A delegation of the heavier property holders is in session, with the fire committee this afternoon, to enter a protest against the action of the council, and the probabilities are that the matter will be satisfactorily adjudicated.

BULLETIN.

Whitehorse, July 31.—The improvement of Governor Ross continues. Speech improving and power and function of arm gradually improving.

Behind the Time

San Francisco, July 12.—The July issue of the Maritime World, published here on the 15th of each month, will say that Capt. Smith of the Shawmut, considers San Francisco's harbor facilities the very poorest of any city in the country.

"I could not find a wharf here," said the captain, "with water enough for the Shawmut, though we draw but thirty-four feet. If we should ever have the misfortune to have to visit San Francisco with a load we should have to discharge in the stream. We are now at the Filbert street wharf, where we are supposed to have twenty-six feet of water, but I sounded and found but twenty-one. The fact is that political control, some say downright fraud, rules this port. It is a shame that your people permit this."

The Maritime World comments as follows: "From all we can learn, Capt. Smith's charges are well founded. The people of San Francisco and the state do not seem to realize that we are living in a new time. Seattle will find accommodations for the Shawmut and several sister ships much larger than the Shawmut. Our Northern competitor seems to be wide-awake, and San Francisco will probably wake up some day, Rip Van Winkle like, and find the wind blowing through whippers of a century growth, while Seattle will have won the business, the population and the honors. It is simply disgraceful and criminal that this port has no facilities for ships of this century."

VERY LITTLE DAMAGE DONE

Morning Joke's Story Not True

No Shafts Belonging to Kirkpatrick & Munroe Were Flooded.

The morning "nip" endeavored to create a sensation by stating that walls of water had yesterday afternoon devastated Dominion and Hunker creeks, that flumes had been carried away, shafts flooded, machinery submerged and many thousands of dollars' worth of property laid waste.

A telephone message from Caribou on Dominion today to the Nugget says they had a good shower yesterday but that it was nothing in the nature of a cloudburst and no damage resulted from it.

A telephone message from Hunker, where the "nip" says such heavy devastation was wrought, says that 17 below is working today as usual but that a cut on 30 was filled with water, but as no debris was carried in it will be pumped out today. No shafts on that part of Hunker were filled.

People interested on Hunker refer to the "nip's" misrepresentation as an effort to damage that creek.
