Auto Accident at Canning

On Saturday a collision took place between two autos at Canning in front of Waverly Hotel. The autos of Hon. H. H. Wickwire Minister of Highways met that of Mr. E. McBride and both were very much damaged, McBride's lighter Ford car being almost demolished. The accident occurred by McBride who was on his side of the road turning out some to avoid a deep rut in the highway and Mr. Wickwire thought he was crossing the road and to avoid a collision turned his car to the other side when McBride turned back to his own side the cars smashed together. No one was seriously hurt.

Temperance Among Soldiers

A large number of Canadians from the camps were present at the annual meeting of the Royal Army Temperance Association held in England recently, when the Duke of Connaught expressed his pleasure at hearing that many of them were pledged as members. He hoped they would return to Canada and set a splendid example. Sir Hamar Greenwood in a strong speech said the wave of temperance had swept across the world since the war, which was irresistible, and would ultimately result in a teetotal world. There was no insobriety in the army and navy. It was the civilian who kept the breweries going and the politicians were afraid to talk to him. Referring to the camp canteen question he said the Canadians had fair ground for grievance, and though as a soldier he did not question higher commands, whether right or wrong, he hoped this matter would soon be remedied.

The Americans fighting on the front, have completed the cutting of the narrow gauge railway to Chateau Thierry.

The pounding process is being continued by the American and their Allies in this sector, keeping the German uncertain from moment to moment regarding the Allied intentions.

Prisoners taken by the Americans say that if the strenuous offensive of the Allies continue, the Germans will withdraw much further north, where they will fight for their lives. The Allied heavy artillery is hammering military objectives in the Soissons area.

A medical journal vouches for this story: A distinguished surgeon, while making his rounds through a hospital, was momentarily dazed when a wounded soldier inquired querulously, "Say, doctor, when one doctor doctors another doctor, does the doctor doing the doctoring doctor the other like the doctor wants to be doctored, or does the doctor doing the doctoring doctor the other doctor like the doctor doing the doctoring wants to doctor him?"

Picked British Troops are on Fighting Line.

They Have Taken the Same Positions as When May Offensive Opened.

Paris, July 22—When the Bavarian Crown Prince answered the German Crown Prince's appeal for help and sent some of his divisions from the Picardy front to aid the Germans in the Marne salient an equal number of British divisions was detached from the northern front and moved to the battle sector southwest of Rheims. The British divisions are composed of picked troops.

It is interesting to note that the British divisions on the front southwest of Rheims have again taken the same place in the battle order which the British occupied when they were driven back in the May offensive. Their transport from the British front to the Champagne front was executed in a most skilful manner.

With the American Army on the Aisne-Marne front, July 22nd.—The Germans are clinging desperately to the line south of Soissons, in an effort to protect their flank.
