THE ORANGE vs. BOOZE

New and startling benefits of Prohibition are being brought to light frequently. One of the most significant of these benefits is reported by a New York city commission merchant. In a recent conversation with Mr. C. L. Waitman of Citra, Fla., this commission man declared that in his opinion Prohibition was directly responsible for the tremendously increased sale of Florida's citrus fruit on the New York market. Mr. Waitman is a large citrus fruit grower of Florida and the commission merchant has handled much of his product in the past on the New York market.
 Mr. Waitman reminded the commission man that only a few years ago Florida was producing about five million boxes of citrus fruit while prices on the market ruled low. "But this year", said Mr. Waitman, "the state will ship around thirteen million boxes, yet the prices this year will range close around three times what they were when the production was scarcely more than one-half of what it is now. Can you give me any reason why this is so?"
 The commission man replied: "I can answer you in a word—Prohibition. It is this way. Heretofore thousands of New Yorkers were sucking bottles who have now gone to sucking oranges. They get up in the morning and wanting something to drink and unable to obtain liquor as they used to do, they take an orange instead and it satisfies them. There is your reason and there is no doubt about it."—Forward.

SYDNEY GIRLS RESOLVE

Sydney has a branch of Canadian Girls in Training, who at a recent meeting passed a resolution in which they resolved that "by our dress, general conduct, business principles, and treatment of others (especially our elders) and by our speech, show that we have set up a standard for the Ideal Modern Girl and are trying, as Canadian Girls in Training, to live up to that standard, as follows:
 To dress simply and becomingly without resorting to extreme styles and inconspicuously so as not to attract attention.
 To behave in public places, especially on the street, quietly and with dignity, not loitering for conversation.
 To be honest in all business dealings, not extravagant or over-indulgent.
 To bear in mind the principles of true courtesy and to act upon them.
 To close mouth and ears to gossip.
 To banish from our vocabulary all vulgar and meaningless slang.

"Saved My Little Girl!"
 Mother tells how her little Ethel's life was saved.

That is what one woman wrote us recently, and then she goes on to say:—
 "Ethel, who is just past eight, caught a bad cold last August. The child is of a highly strung, nervous temperament and could not be kept quiet in bed. We tried everything we could think of to cure her cough. But, the cough became worse and from a rosy, healthy, sturdy girl she became pale and thin. Nothing we did seemed to stop the cough and by this time regular spasms of coughing had developed. These coughing spells left the child weak and completely tired out. I believe that in a short time the cough would have reached the child's lungs. After trying everything I could think of, I saw an advertisement for Carnol, saying that this preparation would build one up. I got a bottle from the druggist and before it was half finished my little girl had almost completely shaken off her cough. Her cheeks began to get back their old colour. She started to put on flesh again and would run and play all day without being tired. Today, after having taken two bottles of Carnol, she is looking and feeling better than she has ever felt in her life."
 Carnol is sold by your druggist and if you can conscientiously say, after you have tried it, that it hasn't done you any good, return the empty bottle and he will refund your money.

ACADIA SEMINARY ALUMNAE

An enthusiastic business meeting and social reunion of the Alumnae Association of Acadia Seminary was held in Alumnae Hall during the Closing exercises last week. Miss Eva L. Andrews, the recently elected president, welcomed the guests, and Miss Margaret Bars opened the meeting with prayer.
 The minutes were read and approved, and the treasurer reported present funds as $4,432.39.
 Mrs. M. R. Elliott, convener of the executive committee, reported the work of the year, including an Alumnae evening reunion in March, two afternoon teas for the senior class of the Seminary and the selection of a president.
 The Necrologist, Mrs. F. H. Beals, touched hearts with sadness in the tribute paid to the passing of Mrs. J. W. Manning, Wolfville; Mrs. Archibald Foster, Amherst; Miss Ora P. Elliott, Mount Hanley; and Mrs. A. J. McKenna, Wolfville.
 Mrs. B. J. Lawson, Amherst, reported interest of their town club.
 Mrs. J. W. Ryan, Truro, read a report from Mrs. W. I. Dodge, secretary-treasurer of the Truro club, which contributed $124.37 during 1920-1922.
 At the Alumnae evening reunion Dr. DeWolfe had suggested that the association establish a scholarship to assist at least one student, who otherwise could not attend the Seminary. After discussion it was decided to establish a $50 scholarship to be available in 1922-23. Miss Jackson was selected to secure subscriptions for this purpose.
 Miss Glendinning brought to the meeting the greetings of the Class of 1922.
 Miss Andrews addressed the meeting concerning the aims of the association.
 Miss Marguerite Woodworth, and Mrs. Ralph Eaton, Kentville, gave piano and vocal solos.
 Mrs. B. J. Lawson, Amherst, first president of the Alumnae Association, spoke of the work of the past years and hopefully for the future.
 Mrs. James Floyd, of the New England Alumnae graduates, gave an address.

THE EDITOR'S DREAM

Last evening I was talking
 With an Editor, aged and grey,
 And he told me of a dream he had
 I think, 'twas Christmas day.

While snoozing in his office,
 This vision came to view
 For he thought an angel entered,
 Clad in garments white and new.

Quoth the angel, "I'm from Heaven,
 The Lord has sent me down
 To bring you up to glory,
 And put on your starry crown.

"You've been a friend to everyone,
 And worked both night and day;
 You've comforted and aided thousands,
 But from few received your pay.

"So we want you up in Heaven,
 For you have labored hard,
 And the good Lord is preparing
 You're eternal, just reward."

Then the Angel and the Editor,
 Started out for Heaven's gate,
 But when passing close to Hades,
 The Angel murmured "wait".

"Here's a place I wish to show you,
 It's the hottest place in hell,
 Where the ones who never paid you
 Evermore in torment dwell."

And behold the Editor saw there
 His old patrons by the score;
 And grabbing up a chair and fan,
 He sat down by the door.

He desired to sit and watch them,
 As they'd sizzle and burn,
 So his eyes could rest upon them,
 Which ever way they'd turn.

Quoth the Angel, "Come on Editor,"
 There are pearls gates to see,
 But the Editor only muttered
 "This is Heaven enough for me."

ALWAYS YOUR FRIEND

The "home paper" never loses interest in you. It chronicles your successes and your sorrows where ever you may be. Those who would forget you but for the home paper, are ever and anon reminded of your existence by an item in the town paper where you spent your boyhood days. Others may deceive and defraud you, but the home paper never forgets. What do you give the editor in return for his constancy? The big man never forgets his home town.

Lot of people would like to see the wages of sin lowered, but there's nothing doing.

FORMER WOLFVILLE MAN DROWNED

The following from the Stewiacke correspondent to the Truro News refers to a former resident of this town. The many friends here of the deceased will join THE ACADIAN in regret at the distressing accident, and profound sympathy for the sorrowing family:

May 29th.—Never, in our remembrance, has this community been so shocked and saddened as on Friday morning, when the word went around that William Hennigar was drowned. While out fishing in company with his brother-in-law, Frank Johnson, on Young Lake, the boat capsized throwing both men suddenly into the lake. Mrs. Johnson was able to get to the shore and go back with a raft to Mr. Hennigar's assistance but only in time to see him go down for the last time. After using almost superhuman efforts to recover the body alive, Mr. Johnson went for assistance, and after a short time returned with men and they were able to recover the body but too late for resuscitation.

The funeral services were held Sunday afternoon in the village church which was packed to the doors, by friends of Mr. Hennigar and the family. Rev. John Mutch, pastor of the church, Truro, of which Mr. Hennigar was a member, gave a sympathetic and touching address taking for his text the two words "Jesus wept". He spoke of the sterling qualities of the deceased, his genial friendly manner which won for him friends wherever he went closing with words of hope and sympathy for his young wife, and brothers and sisters, who were thus so suddenly bereaved. Rev. J. K. McInnis and Rev. J. A. McKeen also assisted at the service. A solo by Mr. John Sprott, Truro, was much appreciated and beautifully rendered.

The deepest sympathy goes out to Mrs. Hennigar, who was formerly Miss Amy Johnson, and her two small sons, Robert and James; and to all the members of the two families who for many long weary days "will sigh for the touch of a vanished hand and the sound of a voice that is still".

Debts and Debtors
 If we give a merchant our custom, we have a right to expect him to advertise—to tell us weekly in the columns of "THE ACADIAN" what he has for us. Advertising is shop news, designed to inform us, save our time, and bring to our attention desirable merchandise.
 Every retailer who is alive to the interests of his customers has a message—often many messages—for his customers concerning new goods, special offerings, and things that we ought to know about. Customers and non-customers will be attentive and responsive to these messages, if they are delivered every week in the form of advertisements in "THE ACADIAN". The way to get more business is to ask for it.
A NOTE TO MERCHANTS
 Would YOU buy much or regularly from firms that never solicit your trade? Do you not say—"The firm that wants my business must come after it?"
 Yet some of you say, in effect, to your customers—"We're here. If you want our goods, come and get them, but don't expect us to go after you." It's a poor rule that doesn't work both ways.
