MRS. TURNER KILLED BABY.

The Coroner's Jury Say That Child Was Strangled.

Supicious Noises Heard in Mrs. Turner's Rooms.

Tracing the Box in Which the Body Was Found.

"We find that this female infant came to her death in the city of Toronto, in the county of York, tween the dates of Saturday, September 11th, and Thursday, September 16th, by strangulation, at the hands of Mrs. Mabel Turner; and that the aforesaid Mrs. Mabel Turner did kill and slay the aforesaid infant Authers.

Toronto, Oct. 5.—After being out for fifty minutes the jury in the Muthors murder inquest early this morning brought in the foregoing verdict. Mrs. Turner was not in the court room when the verdict was read. She sat in her usual place during the hearing of evidence, but when Dr. Robert Dunlop, with whom she lived under the name of Miller at the Wood street house, stepped into the box to give his evidence, she complained of feeling ill and was allowed to leave the room. Later permission for her return-to the jail was granted.

CHIEF CORONER'S SUMMING UP. Chief Coroner Johnson addressed the jury for twenty minutes, bringing out the important points in the evi-dence given during the four hearings of the inquest. In closing the Chief Coroner referred to the awful trade of child murderer.

The first witness called last night was Mrs. Annie Walker of 62 Peter street, who was with Mrs. Turner on the boat on the trip across to Lewiston on September 16. Mrs. Walker's story completed the chain of evidence tending to show that Mrs. Turner had a box with her on the boat and still had it when she left the New York Central train at the Suspension Bridge.

tending to show that Mrs. Turner had a box with her on the boat and still had it when she left the New York Central train at the Suspension Bridge.

Dr. Robert A. Dunlop told of his acquaintance with the accused. He had never seen the Authers child until after the arrest of Mrs. Turner. Examined by Mr. Monahan, Dr. Dunlop told of going home on September 14 and find Mrs. Goldie, and the prisoner in an excited state. Mr. Goldie, who was standing at the door, told him that the women were frightened about some cats that had been making a noise. Witness said the prisoner was not overly nervous then, but complained of having a headache. Mrs. Turner, witness said, had intended to go to Niagara Falls Wednesday morning, but put in a sleepless night and did not get up in time to catch the boat.

Miller's room.

"She called me to come into the room as there was a terrible noise," said Mr. Goldie. "I went in and I said. Well cats make a funny noise, but that doesn't sound like cats.' Mrs. Miller said, "No. I'll look.' She wut and peeped under the bed and lifted up one corner of the cover. That lifted up one corner of the cover. That was all the investigation there was. I went out into the yard and looked around.

"That night I went into Mrs. Miller's room. She was lying on the couph and breathing heavily. She said to me: Your wife has gone me all unnerved." "Oid you say you went out into the rard to look for the noises." said Mr. Bradford. "Did you find anything there:"

"Where was Mrs. Miller then?"
asked Mr. Monahan.

"I think she was around the foot of the bed. I said: "Surely the cats haven't got in here?" I kept putting my head under the head of the bed and said: "That noise is here. "Why, no; it's outside," Mrs. Miller said. She took me by the arm and said: "Come on and let's look for the noise. It must be outside.' I said: "No it's must be outside.' I said: "No it's when I

"I went back into one end of the room and said, 'The noise isn't plain here or near the window, but when you get near the head of the table it's quite plain. In fact, it sounds like a baby strangling.'

"She got very much excited and started calling 'My baby, my baby.'

"Where was the other baby then, Mrs. Miller's baby?"

"It was in the carriage."

'It was in the carriage. Was it asleep or awake?" asked

Mr. Monahan.
"It was asleep, I think."
Mrs. Goldie said that she asked a neighbor to come in. "I asked him to come and listen to the funny noises," said Mrs. Goldie. "Then Mrs.
Miller cried out, 'Don't come in; you are getting as bad as myself. Get me a glass of water.

"She was offered a drink," continued Mrs. Goldie, "and she came outside and drank it. No one went in the room after that except her husband."
"How long were you in the room?" asked Mr. Monahan.
"About ten minutes."

WHAT IS "CLASSY"?

Editor Times—What is meant by the word "classy," which I sometimes see in newspaper reports? Is it a legitimate English word, and, if not, why do the papers use it?—Old Country Man.

IT IS TO LAUGH.

To the Editor,—A lot of us people who did not know about this electric business voted for Hydro because of the misleading stories of ex-Mayor Stewart and Ald. Wright and the rest of that bunch. of the inquest. In closing the Chief Coroner referred to the awful trade of child murders.

"This is a very large case," he said, "and we know that this child murder is a trade in some countries. I have for years pointed out, not only to the police but to others, that it was a strange thing the number of strangled babies found in different places and nobody know where they had come from. Somebody must be doing it, We may have one. There may be others."

The inquest was conducted by Chief Coroner Johnson, with Assistant Crown Attorney Monahan and Mr. S. H. Bradford, K. C., representing the Crown. Mrs. Turner's interests were looked after by Mr. W. A. Henderson.

SENSATIONAL EVIDENCE.

The most sensational evidence of the inquest was given by Mrs. Minnie Goldie, of 39 Wood street, with whom Mrs. Turner was boarding under the name of Miller at the time of her arrest. When called to the witness box Mrs. Goldie became hysterical, and it was some time before she was in a condition to give her evidence. Starting out by recounting her first meeting with the accused, Mrs. Goldie told of events leading up to the evening of Tuesday, September 14, the date on which the Authers child is supposed to have been murdered.

"I was going to the front door about 7.30 o'clock, said Mrs. Goldie, "and as I passed Mrs. Miller's door I heard a peculiar noise. I put my head in the door and said: 'My, what a funny noise.'"

Dear Times,—I just want to say, Well done. Sealey! and congratulate you on taking up the market enlargement question. It is one that the council should not neglect. It is all humbug to talk of starting other markets and splitting up the trade. And it is shameful to us that we do not have more room for the farmers. It is not helpful to the Greater Hamilton.
