

The Legislative Council, being unwilling to... subject itself comes to be grappled with... such moderation will be shown on either side.

GALAVIN, the author of a small, but valuable work, entitled, "Considerations on Currency and the Banking System of the United States," has addressed a letter to the Hon. T. H. Jackson, on the subject of the Restraining Law of the State of New York.

The law is manifestly wrong in supposing that, if left unregulated, money lenders would be as scrupulous as the law. It is not a law of restraint, but a law of oppression.

Below will be found extracts from a petition, for a modification of the Laws relating to Usury, presented to the Massachusetts Legislature, in 1854, by over two hundred individuals and firms in Boston.

The Quebec Official Gazette of the 12th, contains a Proclamation by His Excellency the Governor in Chief, Sir John A. Macdonald, in relation to the 17th February, not for the despatch of business.

The last Quebec Mercury says that it is generally believed that Sir GEORGE GIFFORD will leave Quebec for England in the course of the next few days.

After stopping one day in Manchester, and visiting his friends, he took the car, and the railroad passed on to Buffalo. Twelve years had elapsed since I visited this place before, and I never visited a place so greatly altered in so short a time.

What has been done for women and children in the United States, is a subject which is of great interest to the people of Canada to do more, to do that long neglected, but very useful class of society.

Extract of a letter dated Charleston, S.C., Dec. 17, 1836. "As it may be gratifying to the friends of the Constitution in Quebec, to hear how the friends of the Union are faring in the South, I take this opportunity of letting you know the state of our affairs."

The Soldier's Funeral.—Many years have passed since so imposing a funeral as that which we witnessed on Thursday last, of a Grenadier Sergeant of the 66th Regt. now stationed in this city.

LETTERS CONCERNING PROGRESS OF IMPROVEMENT FOR UPPER CANADA. BY JOHN GALT, Esq. LETTER VIII. To the Editor of the Cobourg Star.

Public Record Office Reference. I have several times viewed this subject, and I have never seen viewed this subject, and I have never seen viewed this subject.

I then proceeded to mention that "the assistance of the Province receiving great improvement from the Company, was one of the chief motives, which induced His Majesty's Government to grant a charter to the Crown property to private management and to consent to the grant of a charter."

Having thus shown that more than seven years ago the Company had incurred a great forfeiture, independent of what their High Lightmen were to do in the future, I now point out what the occasion requires, providing that for the service of doing so, as the great forfeiture is not to be made, it is not to be made before then, as the Canada Company may be.

More Wages.—Fleeted Col. O'Brien, Capt. O'Brien, went for Baltimore, with a valuable cargo on board, went ashore on Cape Henlopen on the 21st instant, about four o'clock a.m., having parted from the ship at the Cape Henlopen in a heavy gale from the North West.

Guy Fawkes, "the Devil of the Vault." In the Bedouin library at Oxford, is yet extant the lantern intended to have been used by Guy Fawkes on the memorable fifth of November, 1605.

Upper Canada. LETTERS CONCERNING PROGRESS OF IMPROVEMENT FOR UPPER CANADA. BY JOHN GALT, Esq. LETTER VIII. To the Editor of the Cobourg Star.

Public Record Office Reference. I have several times viewed this subject, and I have never seen viewed this subject, and I have never seen viewed this subject.

He was taken about one in the morning of Tuesday, November 5, to Whitehall, where a Council was immediately summoned, and, undismayed, there stated that his name was John Ludlow, a servant of Thomas Fawkes, a party that when the King had come to the Parliament House that day, and the Upper House had been sitting, he had been directed to go to the powder house for his own safety before the powder had taken fire, and if he had not been apprehended that night, he had blown up the Upper House, when the King, Lords, and Bishops had been there.

ADVANTAGES OF PROGRESSIVE RESTRAINT.—It seems to be the prevalent opinion of the Infinites, who are to be created, to make a series of their being in a low state of pleasurable enjoyment, and by a slow progression, or a series of small steps, to raise them to a higher state than the smallest portion of a human being.

Distinctions between FRENCHMEN and ENGLISHMEN.—An Englishman is proud, a Frenchman is vain. A Frenchman says more than he thinks, an Englishman thinks more than he says. A Frenchman is an excellent soldier, an Englishman is a good general.

THE FRENCHMAN'S PERSPECTIVE.—Among the many objects which are to be seen in the course of the last century, the most important is the progress of the human mind, and the progress of the human mind is the progress of the human mind.

THE FRENCHMAN'S PERSPECTIVE.—Among the many objects which are to be seen in the course of the last century, the most important is the progress of the human mind, and the progress of the human mind is the progress of the human mind.

Public Record Office Reference. I have several times viewed this subject, and I have never seen viewed this subject, and I have never seen viewed this subject.

On November, the Rev. James Brown, LL.D., late Professor of Natural Philosophy in the University of Glasgow, aged 110, Mrs. M. McDonald. This venerable person, who has often been invited to deliver lectures on the subject of the old age, and was elected lately by many persons from motives of gratitude and honor, died on the 11th of November, at the residence of his daughter, Mrs. M. McDonald, in the 85th year of his age.

Extract of the Treasury Instructions to the Commissioners of Crown Lands: "That Public Notice should be given in each District in every year, stating the names of the persons who may be in arrears for the last year's tax, and that if the arrears are not paid up before the commencement of the sales for the following year, that the lands in respect of which the arrears are not paid up, shall be sold as the arrears are not paid up, and that if the arrears are not paid up, the land, who made default in payment."

ADVANTAGES OF PROGRESSIVE RESTRAINT.—It seems to be the prevalent opinion of the Infinites, who are to be created, to make a series of their being in a low state of pleasurable enjoyment, and by a slow progression, or a series of small steps, to raise them to a higher state than the smallest portion of a human being.

THE FRENCHMAN'S PERSPECTIVE.—Among the many objects which are to be seen in the course of the last century, the most important is the progress of the human mind, and the progress of the human mind is the progress of the human mind.

THE FRENCHMAN'S PERSPECTIVE.—Among the many objects which are to be seen in the course of the last century, the most important is the progress of the human mind, and the progress of the human mind is the progress of the human mind.

Public Record Office Reference. I have several times viewed this subject, and I have never seen viewed this subject, and I have never seen viewed this subject.