Why Don't You Use Amalite ROOFING? It Needs No Painting!

EVERYTHING about Amalite appeals to the man with common sense. He can see its superiority at once—the real mineral surface which never needs painting; the two layers of Pitch which is the only impervious waterproofing known; the two layers of heavy Tarred Felt—all these contribute to the popularity of Amalite. We can make Amalite better and cheaper than anyone else on account of our greater facilities, and consequently we sell it at a surprisingly low figure. Simply the fact that it needs no painting is enough to make a man sit up and take notice—especially the man who has spent dollars and days in painting and repainting his smooth-surfaced roofings. THE CAMPBELLTON SUFFERERS

A generous contribution was made to the parish of Campbellton, N. B., by the Catholics of the diocese of London, Ont., to aid in rebuilding the church property destroyed by fire a few months ago. The following letter of acknowledgment has been made public.

Chatham, N. B., Sept. 3, 1910.
Dear Rev. Father, I have just received your cheque for $1,828 for the Campbellton sufferers. Now, on my part, on Father Wallace's part, and in behalf of the congregation of Campbellton, I offer most grateful thanks to His Lordship the Bishop of London, and to all his generous diocesans for this magnificent donation, of which His Lordship himself, notwithstanding the many calls made upon him has contributed the handsome sum of $100. We can only pray that God may reward His Lordship and abundantly bless his diocese. With deepest gratitude,
I remain, yours faithfully in Christ,
THOMAS F. BARRY,
Bishop of Chatham.

VICTIM OF THE CAMPBELLTON FIRE
Mr. L. T. Joudry, formerly of Moncton, but for some years a resident of Campbellton, was one of the heaviest losers by the fire in that town last July. All his property, having a value of something like $25,000, was swept away and his loss was only partially covered by insurance. Mr. Joudry had just about completed a substantial new residence at a cost of $3,000, and on this he had only a carpenter's risk of $1200. Mr. Joudry has, however, not lost confidence in the future of the northern town and will erect a substantial brick block on his land in the business district. Mr. Joudry says the town presents a busy appearance at present, with scores of buildings in course of erection. There will be considerable inconvenience and some hardship during the coming winter, and the relief committee yet requires a considerable amount to carry on its work in a thoroughly efficient manner.—Times.

THE REBUILDING OF CAMPBELLTON

At the meeting of the Provincial Government last week the report of the Auditor General showed that of $98,206.33 received to date, $10,392.96 had been expended, leaving $87,813.37.

Of this amount the sum of $52,000 has been appropriated to the building committee in aid of the needy in building their homes and in the construction of some 30 small houses now in course of erection at a cost of $300 each. For food and fuel during the coming winter the sum of $25,000 more will be required.

The bonded debt of the town is $300,000 and the annual interest is $12,920. The auditor estimates the amount which will be needed for the immediate future and which will probably be provided by an issue of debentures, to be $113,119.

The auditor reported that the burned town is now being rebuilt at a rapid rate. The new buildings now in course of erection number 400 and there will be many more before Spring.

The following industrial establishments are being rebuilt: I. C. R. works, the Harquail woodworking establishment, the McLennan machine shops and the W. J. Duncan foundry.

There are also good prospects for the building of six saw mills in the town and vicinity in the near future.

An order-in-Council was passed expressing the opinion that proper steps had been taken to safeguard the interests of the public in the administration of the funds and approving of the work of the relief committee.

LARGEST MOOSE HEAD REPORTED

Killed on International Railway by Logging Foreman.

SPREAD 64 3-4 INCHES

The largest moose head seen here in recent years was brought to town this week by Alfred Harquail, foreman for the Dalhousie Lumber Co. Its spread is 64 3/4 inches.

Mr. Harquail and a crew of men were engaged in swamping a main logging road for a new operation at Whites brook on the International when he killed the moose. He was blazing the roadway in advance of the swamper when he unexpectedly came upon the monarch of the forest, and with a well directed shot brought him down.

The head, although very large is not a pretty one. It has eleven points on one side and thirteen on the other.—Campbellton Graphic.

EXTENDS SYMPATHY TO CAMPBELLTON

New Glasgow, N. S., Oct. 5.—At the afternoon's session of the synod the question of the need of the congregation of Campbellton was presented. Sympathy of the synod was extended to the congregation, and they were commended to the liberality of the Presbyterian people of the maritime provinces.

Encouraging reports were given on the Presbyterian College, on Evangelism, on Young People's Societies and on the condition of the Aged and Infirm Ministers' Fund.

At the evening session the subjects of Home and Foreign Missions were taken up. Rev. J. S. Sutherland presented an encouraging report on home missions.

Revs. Gordon Dickie, John McMillan and James Ross spoke of the good work being done in the home mission fields.

Under the head of Foreign Missions, Rev. Dr. Coffin, of Trinidad, spoke of the splendid work being done in Trinidad, and Rev. F. H. ... successful work ... the missionar-

CHURCH ADVERTISING.

What Some Ministers Do to Draw People to Worship.

A good deal has been heard lately respecting cheap marriages and the clerical competition for fees. In several parts of London, England, more than one church has placed "matrimonial advertisements" on its walls.

At Bermondsey, some time ago, a poster was issued by a clergyman which read thus: "Are you going to be married? Then we invite you to favor our own beautiful church of St. Crispin. It is the prettiest church for a wedding. It is to your advantage to come."

It was not so very long ago when the vicar of a little Scottish church issued a poster setting forth the fact that he was willing to unite loving couples at half the usual rates. As a further inducement he stated that he was prepared to accept the fees in weekly instalments from those in straitened circumstances. It appeared that the decrease in the marriage rate was felt rather severely in the vicar's parish, which is a poor one, and he resorted to advertisement in order to cope with the situation.

A most remarkable scheme for drawing people to church was conceived and carried through by one clergyman. This gentleman had advertisements inserted in several newspapers stating that a wealthy man had handed him a large sum of money on condition that he distribute it among the people who attended morning service at the church. The result was that huge crowds gathered outside the place of worship, and a score of police had to be engaged to keep order. The people who were fortunate enough to get into building at each morning service were presented with 5 cents apiece.

It may not be generally known that the British town of Holywell gives awards to old maids and pretty girls who attend its church regularly. Each year the oldest unmarried lady is rewarded with the sum of £5 for going to church every Sunday, while the prettiest girl, who also shows her piety by attending church regularly, is given the interest on a sum of money left to the town by the Rev. Thomas Merriek many years ago. Hulton, in Kent, Eng., was left a sum of money nearly a century and a half ago by a Bishop of London, who was formerly a rector of its church, on condition that the interest thereon should be awarded to the oldest inhabitants who were the most regular attendants at divine service. Every year several pounds are divided among the inhabitants who are eligible to benefit by the charity.

A Terrible Discovery!

An old farmer living at a remote farm in South Africa determined to have a new set of loath put in, as his own were practically useless. In fact, he had only a few stumps left. The dentist made a very good job of the new teeth, and when fitted in they improved the appearance of the old gentleman so much, and aided him in articulation and mastication so nicely, that he felt ten years younger and began to feel as if he had a new lease of life. His wife was delighted with the improvement in her husband's appearance, and looking round the house, thought it desirable to have the old furniture repaired. There were chairs that wanted attention, and other parts of the woodwork that required mending. So without saying anything to her husband she got some glue and wrapped it in a piece of newspaper, and placed it on her chest of drawers when she went to bed that night.

In the morning she rose and dressed very early, before her husband was awake, and went to the chest of drawers and got a paper packet that she found there, and took it outside on to the piazza, and there she placed it on the stone flags, and with the aid of a small ironstone boulder she pounded it till it was in shreds. She then found the glue in the fire, to her horror she found that she had smashed to atoms her husband's beautiful teeth. It appears that the old gentleman had wrapped his teeth in a piece of newspaper and placed the packet on the chest of drawers. Of course, the truth had to be told, and the old lady had to break the news to her husband. The language used by the old gentleman has never transpired, but at any rate it was said that he did not appear to be addressing a Sunday-school.

King Edward and Elman.

Mischa Elman had no greater admirers in all Europe than King Edward and the Queen Mother Alexandra, they being among the first to recognize the great genius of the young Russian and command that he appear before them. Mentions from the late King, now highly prized by young Elman, are a scarf pin, presented to him three years ago, and on an earlier occasion, when he was presented with a ring in the form of a lion's head, the eyes being diamonds. The presentation of the latter was after Elman had appeared at Buckingham Palace at a musicale given in honor of the present King of Spain, who was at the time visiting the English Metropolis. Elman's first series of recitals in London were given under royal patronage, and his audiences are the most fashionable to be seen at any recital. Twenty-one shillings, a little over five dollars, is the fee for the best seat to hear Elman when he gives a recital in London.

Sleepy Watchmen.

At the fire brigades conference in Melbourne, the chief officer of the Melbourne Brigade, said it sometimes happened when the alarm of fire was given the night watchmen of the burning buildings was asleep, and had to be rescued by the firemen.

His Revenge.

He—And as your answer is Anal, you will not be missed!
She—(Never!) But you don't go and show your brains out.
He—I should be so like to say, "You'll be missed!"

Royal Household Flour
The best for Bread and the best for Pastry

"The Little Brother of The Rich"

NOW, this is not a talk about money.

It isn't a contrast between the rich and the poor, for in some things we are all equally rich and there are no poor brothers.

The poorest woman in the land can have just as good bread as the richest. The children who walk can have just as delicious pies and cakes and "goodies" as the children who ride in carriages.

All the money in the world cannot buy better flour than "ROYAL HOUSEHOLD", for there isn't any better.

And the woman who does her own baking can have just as good bread as is served to the Royal Household of England, and that is made from ROYAL HOUSEHOLD FLOUR sent to England from Canada. And then, a barrel of "ROYAL HOUSEHOLD" produces many more loaves than a barrel of ordinary flour. The bread is better—sweeter, nicer to eat—and more wholesome—has more health and strength in it—makes more delicious pies, cakes, biscuits and doughnuts. Children, whose mothers use "ROYAL HOUSEHOLD" at home, can have just as good baked things as the Princes and Princesses of England.

Although "ROYAL HOUSEHOLD" costs a little more per barrel than ordinary flour it contains so much more nourishment and makes so much more bread of superior quality it is in reality the most economical of all flours.

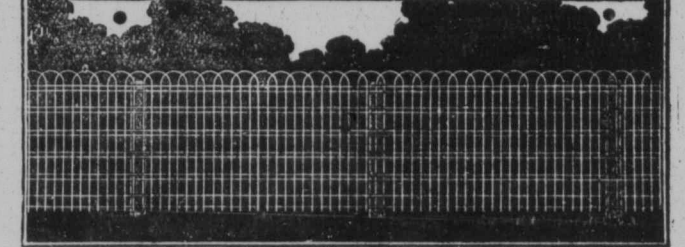

"Ogilvie's Book for a Cook" comprises 125 pages of splendid Recipes which have been tested and tried. Every woman who is interested in good things to eat should send and get it.

Tickling in the Throat

"Just a little tickling in the throat!" Is that what troubles you? But it hangs on! Can't get rid of it! Home remedies don't take hold. You need something stronger—a regular medicine, a doctor's medicine. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral contains healing, quieting, and soothing properties of the highest order. Ask your doctor about this. No alcohol in this cough medicine. J.C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

Constipation positively prevents good health. Then why allow it to continue? An active liver is a great preventive of disease. Ayer's Pills are liver pills. What does your doctor say?
