AFTER DOCTOR'S FAILED

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Cured Her.

Toronto, Canada.—"I shall endeavor to describe to you how I felt before I began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I scarcely knew what it was to be well. I had awful bearing-down pains and usually before my monthly periods I suffered terribly and had to go to bed. I was not able to walk across the floor the pain was so bad. I doctored for a long time, but the doctor's treatment did not do me any good. I gave up all hopes of ever being well again until one day my husband saw the Compound advertised in the paper. He decided to get me a bottle, and I am thankful he did. I had not taken one bottle before I began to feel better, and I kept on taking it until now I am a different woman. It also helped me during maternity and childbirth. I can thoroughly recommend your Vegetable Compound to any woman who is afflicted with female troubles."

Mrs. J. M. TWEEDALE, 138 Nassau St., Toronto, Canada.

The success of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, is unparalleled. It may be used with perfect confidence by women who suffer from displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, dizziness, or nervous prostration.

A MATTER OF ETIQUETTE

Judge Ruled that Wife Justified in Opening her Husband's Correspondence.

An Austrian judge has ruled that a wife was justified in breaking the law by opening her husband's correspondence, because the letter she opened proved the correctness of her suspicions. In other words, according to this chapter of justice, the end justified the means. Unfortunately, we are left in doubt as to what would have been the pronouncement had the letter in question proved the suspicion to be unfounded, and yet information on this point would be of far wider interest and importance. In that case, however, it is not probable that the husband would have made the charge against his better half. Altogether an exceptional proceeding, as we begin by saying, and yet it is likely to be widely welcomed and quoted as a precedent for a prevalent habit.

Many wives, indeed, will deny that the habit needs any legal sanction. In all good faith they hold that it is a right bestowed upon them by marriage; that a husband's letters, or rather their contents, are part of the worldly goods which would be endowed his spouse on their wedding day.

It is, after all, not a question of law or of right, but of private agreement, mostly tacit—least after more or less argument. The habit is generally established in the golden days of the honeymoon, when the two are one and would have no secrets from each other; when the bridegroom is fondly anxious to let his bride read all that he does not tell her. Sometimes the habit is not established until later in life, when the sons leave home to stand on their own feet at college, or to try the strength of their young wings in the world without. But what there can be of undiminished interest to a wife in her husband's general correspondence is a puzzle that no man can solve. How many husbands, by the way, would have enough curiosity to avail themselves of the privilege of reading their wives' correspondence, or even to ask for it? They are generally quite content with the snatches from it read to them across the breakfast table.

Chinese Puzzles.

Members of the latest Hague peace tribunal are wondering yet whether one of the delegates from China was having fun with them or really wanted to know when he asked these questions:

"I have listened to your discussion as to what constitutes a state of war. Will you learned gentlemen kindly tell me whether you consider a state of war exists when the armies of several foreign countries are landed in another country, march to the capital of that country, climb its walls, enter all its sacred places, and not only kill its inhabitants but loot its palaces and temples?"

While the delegates were considering this question he asked: "What is the situation when one country declares war on another country and the other country won't fight?"

The Bishop Couldn't Swear.

An Eastern bishop declined to take up golf, and as he wished to begin his practice where he was unknown he sought a public links instead of one of the many clubs which would have been joyously opened to him. He provided himself with an outfit and a book of rules, hired a caddie at the links, and proceeded to set up his ball for the first stroke. After the usual feinting and lumbering process he gave a mighty lunge at the ball and went wildly over the top of it, leaving it reposing on the tee in impenetrable celluloid majesty. "Tut! tut! tut!" exclaimed the bishop, in mild, clerical dismay. "Tut! tut! tut!" Then he tried again, with yet more earnest and vigorous swings, and that time he ploughed a hole in the ground ten inches away from the ball. "Tut! tut! tut!" he reiterated. "Tut! tut! tut!" "Say, mister," warned the caddie nonchalantly, without shifting his gum, "you'll never loin to play golf wid dem woids."

PROFESSIONALS BARRED

Students of Cambridge Must Not Take Part With Actresses in Theatricals

In an order issued lately the proctors at Cambridge university have forbidden undergraduates to take part in amateur theatricals with professional actresses. It has long been the custom of the Oxford Amateur theatrical society to engage the services of professional actresses for their parties. Two years ago Cambridge adopted a similar course and have followed it ever since, but hereafter they will have to abandon it. From now on the dramatic club will have to find some pretty-faced, bright-cheeked undergraduates for the female roles. The order is resented, but the proctors are inexorable.

He Knew It.

Manager: "That young woman whom I placed at this counter a year ago already knows more about the business than you do, and I find that I shall have to put her at the head of the department, though I fear it will be rather unpleasant for you to be under her orders."

Clerk: "Oh, no; I am getting used to that. We were married last month."

One Hundred Years Hence.

A somewhat unusual case will shortly engage the attention of the courts. Last year the Republic of Nicaragua sold the entire cinematograph rights in its wars to a wealthy New York firm. This firm is now suing the Republic for heavy damages because in a recent revolution, it is alleged the Government forces, in direct violation of the agreement, began a battle before the cinematograph apparatus was ready.
