THOROLD

Mr. Edward P. Foley, president of the Board of Trade, addressed the council at their last meeting. He stated a large number of pulp and paper men, members of the technical section of the National P. and P. Association, were expected to visit Thorold on the 14th of this month. As they were to be escorted around the town in automobiles, he asked the Council to have some of the streets to be traversed cleaned up and repaired as far as could be.

LIFT OFF CORNS!

Drop Freezone on a touchy corn, then lift that corn off with fingers

Doesn't hurt a bit! Drop a little Freezone on an aching corn, instantly that corn stops hurting, then you lift it right out. Yes, magic! No humbug.

A tiny bottle of Freezone costs but a few cents at any drug store, but is sufficient to remove every hard corn, soft corn, or corn between the toes, and the calluses, without soreness or irritation.

Freezone is the sensational discovery of a Cincinnati genius. It is won-

THE CAPE IS MAKING A STRONG BID FOR FAVOR

When Worn as it Should be There is No Garment More Graceful.

Capes of all kinds are making a strong bid for favor in smart circles this year and yet there are few things that are more difficult to wear and at the same time more graceful and attractive when worn well.

Perhaps one reason for their popularity is that they are such adaptable things and elect to be fashioned in material that is equally suitable for night wear or day, as for instance, fine serge, Georgette, satin and so on.

Chamois cloth is playing rather an important part in some of the models just at this season before the spring wraps come definitely into their own, and in shades it has many variations. Sometimes it is used in a way that is bright and gives just that brilliant touch that is extremely welcome in the rather drab atmosphere of the month of March.

Freedom of movement is an essential of the day and the new capes conform to this requirement by substituting slits for sleeves, but one would never guess it until midday uses her hands, so carefully hidden are they among the folds.

Novel features are not lacking in fact they are numerous. Take the collar, for instance. The smartest model has a high one that evokes the neck in full soft folds and buttons at one side, and often these buttons do not stop when their duty is done, but continue right on over the shoulder of the cape until they reach the hem.

The Stuart period has been the source of inspiration in another case where a satin lined crepe cape has one end that is designed to be thrown over the shoulder and this effect gives it a marked distinction.

Then there is the cape with the yoke and the model cut on circular lines, and so on. As far as variety goes these wraps leave nothing to be desired.

Peacock blue is a favorite color for lining the day-night cape, particularly when it is developed in black, but as a matter of fact the shade of both outside and in is a question that the owner of the cape may settle as her individual taste dictates.

High Collars are Particularly Chic, and in Most Models Slits Substitute for Sleeves.

The real spring wrap for evening wear is, as one would suppose, developed in a typical springtime tint.

A fascinating affair is depicted that owes its charm to the satin and georgette which have joined in a felicitous alliance in its development. Insets of fibre silk fringe add a unique and pleasing finish.

Now that travelling conditions are somewhat improved the tourist is likely to indulge in her favorite sport and she will find the cloak of the season ideal, either in a thick cloth for travelling or in a softer fabric to throw on when chill winds blow, or at sunset when the cold air rushes in from the mountains or sea.

Of course if she is going to some Utopian spot where there is no smoke or smut, pure white will develop for her a stunning wrap (but few of us are).

The capes with just a slight suggestion of the military are wonderfully smart and these have chic gilets that give extra warmth, as do the sleeves of the waistcoat. In a model of this sort the cape scarcely meets in the front.

Original in both line and conception are these wraps, almost without an exception, and more than one of them has a hint of the picturesque highwayman's coat. A scarf thrown carelessly over the shoulder forms a hood and the soft folds of the fabric hang gracefully in front.

Although, as we said once before, the color scheme is a matter of personal desire, it may interest some of us to know what Dame Fashion has set the seal of her approval upon. Champagne colored cloth lined with opalescent pink satin is a striking contrast; so too is rigger brown with a tomato red satin lining.

Hoods are not generally worn, nor does there seem to be possibility of their finding favor, but here and there appears a hooded model.

It is fairly apparent that hoods as our grandmothers knew them will never take by storm, the maid of 1919 (although it is never safe to be too certain about what turn fashion will or will not take). She is too elegant, thinks too much of artistic lines of forms and coiffure to willingly disfigure the symmetry of either.

GREEN ROOM COSSIP

Ann Little, Theodore Roberts and others in the cast of Wallace Reid's new Paramount picture, directed by James Cruze, say they had a yell of a good time during the course of the production. Wally drove a car around a course at breakneck speed, while his support sat in the grandstand and yelled, "Go to it, kid!" Wally didn't hear them, but he certainly went to it, as the fans can tell for themselves when the picture is released.

Fatty Arbuckle held up his right hand the other day and swore that his New Year's resolutions were still

GENERAL DEBILITY FOLLOWS INFLUENZA

Health Can Only be Restored Through the Use of a Blood-Making Tonic.

Debility is a loss of vitality not affecting any one part of the body particularly, but the system generally. It is dangerous because it reduces the body's resistance to disease. When debility follows acute diseases, convalescence is slow, and one's strength does not return as it should. An attack of influenza often results in debility that persists for months. Everybody recognizes that the remedy for debility is to build up the blood, because the blood goes to every part of the body, and any improvement in its condition is quickly felt throughout the system.

In cases of simple anaemia, or debility following acute diseases such as fevers or influenza, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills will be found valuable, because they really build up the blood and strengthen the nerves. There is no other medicine as valuable for growing children, and for men and women whose nervous energy has been overdrawn. They are worth a fair trial in every case where thin blood and weak nerves have started the trouble. The value of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills has been proved in the home of Mrs. John Fram, Owen Sound, who says: "My daughter Mabel was troubled with a bad cough; she was pale, weak and her appetite was very poor, indeed I feared that she was going into a decline. A friend advised the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and after taking eight boxes she was again enjoying the best of health. Again last autumn Spanish influenza attacked our home, and after the acute symptoms were past, both myself and another daughter were left very much run down. My daughter was so weak that she could not walk to school and would tremble when she got upon her feet. I was so weak myself that I could not do my housework. Again we resorted to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and in each case we took five boxes, when we were as well as ever we had been. I never enjoyed better health than I am now doing, and am able again to do my housework. After our experience it is not possible for me to say too much in favor of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills."

You can get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills through any dealer in medicine, or by mail at 50 cents a box, six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

in fact, inasmuch as everybody else in the party had fallen from grace, there was a unanimous demand to find what Fatty's resolutions consisted of. Here they are: "To eat nothing that will make me thin; to keep laughing myself and to keep others laughing; that's all, since that will keep me busy during 1919."

Lilla Lee's pt horse, Hippocrates, has a wooden leg; in fact, he has four of 'em, that being the sort of a horse he is. She was getting him nicely trained; he got so he wouldn't kick at all, when she took a trip to New York. When she got back Hippocrates had been sent to some store-room, and the little Paramount star is disconsolate.

A correspondent, evidently a negro, writes the following letter to the New York Globe during the week of the presentation of D. W. Griffith's Artcraft picture, "The Greatest Thing in Life" at the Strand Theatre in Manhattan:

"If permissible I would like to thank Mr. D. W. Griffith through your paper for producing 'The Greatest Thing in Life,' which is on the screen at the Strand Theatre this week. It's a wonderful play in every way. There is one scene where a white and colored soldier run into one another going over the top, and the scene enacted there is the first real serious part for the colored people of all the war plays up to date. On the stage and on the screen we are generally used as a joke."

The incident referred to is undoubtedly one of the most remarkable

"touches" ever produced on the screen. The hero of the play, an erstwhile snob who is being remoulded in the crucible of the trenches finds himself in a shell hole alone with a dying negro. The black man has given his white companion the last drop of water from his canteen and is himself dying. In his delirium he calls piteously for his mammy to kiss him. The struggle which is going on in the mind of the young

It was their inability to reach the real source of catarrh and bronchitis that caused the medical profession to drop liquid cough medicines and adopt 'Catarrhozone' instead. This wonderful inhaler provides a method of breathing into the lungs certain rare medicinal vapors which are so healing and comforting as to entirely banish coughs, catarrh and throat trouble in a very short time.

The most wonderful thing about Catarrhozone is, that no matter where the germs of bronchitis or catarrh are hidden, Catarrhozone will reach and destroy them.

white man is felt unmistakably by all who witness the scene and an indescribable feeling of relief grips the spectator as the young fellow slowly presses his lips to the cheek of his black comrade that he may "go West" in happiness.

The incident is revolutionary and attempted by somebody other than Griffith might easily spell ruin. But it is used by the master director as the very climax in the development of his theme of the brotherhood of man. As a touch of dramatic art and as an example of noble sentiment transferred to the screen it probably has never been equalled on the screen. In brief, it is one of the things that make Griffith the great figure he is.

The other day Dorothy Gish, Paramount star, received a dainty scented note from a town in Maine. It was written by a little child who had admired the picture in which the star had appeared.

"Dear Dorothy," the note read "My name is Dorothy, too, and my mama says it means gift of Heaven. Did you know that?"

Greatly pleased the star of "The Hope Chest" turned to her director. "Do you know that Dorothy means gift of Heaven?"

"Gift of whom? Don't try to kid me, young lady, for I know," retorted the director in a professional tone.

And Dorothy Gish is of the opinion that at least one director has lost the illusions of his early youth.

Ethel Clayton has completed work at the Lasky studio at Hollywood, Calif., on a new production, the title of which is "Petigrew's Girl." The picture is said to embody one of the most charming stories growing out of the war, though in no sense a war picture, that has been written in many months. It was first published in the Saturday Evening Post, Dana Burget being the author. Will M. Ritchey wrote the scenario and George Melford was the director. Paul Perry was the cameraman. Monte Blue plays the leading male role, and Miss Clayton will be seen for the first time in the characterization of a chorus girl.

A SICKLY WIFE NO FIT MATE FOR ANY MAN GIRLS AND WOMEN SHOULD LOOK WELL TO THEIR HEALTH AND STRENGTH

Never before was physical health and vigor so highly esteemed and so eagerly sought for as to-day.

No man finds happiness in a sickly wife, and the woman who wishes to enjoy the pleasures of life should spare no effort to maintain perfect health.

If your daughter growing up strong and ruddy? Has she strength to drink in greedily all the pleasures that youth so zealously seeks—or is she compelled to use the street car instead of enjoying the delightful exercise of walking—does she after the ball arise refreshed and vigorous, or is she exhausted, indignant, and perhaps irritable?

When strength and vigor can be so easily maintained by Ferrozone, when the glow of health is so quickly brought to the cheeks and elasticity to the step, it is plainly a mother's duty to see that Ferrozone is on hand to assist her daughter back to health.

Upon the wake of Ferrozone quickly follows a stream of rich, nourishing blood which imparts that power and surplus energy so earnestly desired by those in ill-health.

Stop and think what this means for your daughter—certainly a great deal, and it can be accomplished by Ferrozone.

Every growing girl and young woman derives enormous benefit in many ways from this nutritive, vitalizing tonic.

It is specially suited for young women and is a guarantee of health and regularity as long as it is used. Ferrozone is free from alcohol and perfectly safe to use. Prepared in the form of a chocolate-coated tablet and sold in 50c boxes or six for $2.50, at all dealers, or direct from The Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Ont.

A large gathering of representative men from Essex and Kent counties, representing practically every municipality between Chatham and the Border Cities, met in Tilbury Tuesday afternoon and discussed the question of permanent roads. A trunk road through the centre of Essex County was favored by the delegates. The route suggested is: Border Cities to Maldenstone, in the most direct way, thence to Tilbury along the middle road, thence to Chatham, along the most conveniently direct route.

It has been suggested that Toronto establish parking places for automobiles, in charge of returned soldiers, on vacant lots in various parts of the city. The lots are not to be charged for, and a fee of ten and fifteen cents to be paid the soldier.
