(From "Boston Commercial", Nov. 21) SOUTHERN PACIFIC.

Heavy Traffic Features Closing Months—All Lines in Splendid Con-dition to Handle Business—Im-provement Expected to Continue Into 1926. "Traffic east and westbound is larger than last year, and we have reason to believe the return from operations in closing months of this year will be very satisfactory," said President Sproule of Southern Pacific in reply to inquiry as to whether increases in gross and net in September might be repeated this quarter. All lines of the system are in excellent condition to handle increased traffic.

From his statement it is reasonable to expect 1925 share earnings wifl nearly reach 1924 earnings of 10.24 on $349,051,000 stock. Decline in net of 16% at end of first seven months of this year had been reduced to 9% at end of September. Improvement in September gross and net established high records, repetition of which this quarter should raise 12 months'

income to last year's level. "Improvement may be expected to continue into 1926," Mr. Sproule said. "Reports from all states served by Southern Pacific reveal better agricultural conditions and active business which should make next year a very satisfactory one. Southern California has recovered from frosts experienced early last summer, and recent rainfall in Texas bettered the outlook there. Cudahy 56% All cattle quarantines have been lifted Passenger business is showing signs of continued improvement. "Southern Pacific lines are moving the largest shipments of fruit on record this year. Crop conditions all along the Pacific coast have been excellent. Between 60,000 and 70,000 carloads of fresh grapes have been taken out of California. Averaging 14 tons to a car, the state's exports of grapes reached almost a million tons, of which Southern Pacific lines originated a good share.

"Movement of California traffic has been expedited by completion, a month ago, of much of the double tracking construction of Siera Nevada Mountains. The most difficult sections have been finished, including the two-mile tunnel, now in operation. Joint use of tracks in Nevada with Western Pacific also increases and expedites transcontinental freight shipments." Several centers with great agricultural possibilities are developing in Arizona and Southern Texas. Irrigation projects under construction and being planned are opening up Arizona. Water is now piped down' from Elephant Butte dam as far as Southern Pacific is confining locomo-

Territory holding greatest promise of agricultural development is southern agricultural development is southern Texas, into which the recently acquired San Antonio & Aransas Pass runs. President Sproule recently appeared before Commerce Commission on behalf of Southern Pacific's plan to extend San Antonio & Aransas Pass into the prosperous Rio Grande Valley. Southern Pacific is confining locmotive accommendation of the prosperous of the program of the tive experiments to a program of fuel economies with the three-cylinder type of locomotive especially built for it by American Locomotive company. Locomotives, with few exceptions, consume oil, which is picked up at several points on the main line and is so logical a fuel that none of the various new types of locomotives on eastern lines is being tried.

No extensive automobile bus lines are in operation or contemplation, excepting various feeder systems belonging to a traction subsidiary in Southern California, Pacific Electric Company.

Later the company will be in the market for equipment and supplies, but probably not for additional power. All rail being received and to be purchased for 1926 will be of the 39-foot length, which is proving successful.
