Present System_Little Good for Reforming of Drunkards, He Declares.

Police Magistrate J. C. Judd is strongly in favor of prison farms and is endeavoring to secure just such a farm for this municipality

Magistrate Judd said: "I believe that the prison farms will before long do away with many of our county jails. Noble E. R. C. Struthers o'clock. Instead of sentencing a habitual drunkard to jail for a short term, where his family will derive no benefit from his incarceration, a man in this condition will be taken to the prison farm where he will be made work and part of the money he carns will be turned over his family jail does little good to most drinkers. They go down, serve their term and when they get out they are almost if not as bad as ever. Then too there is the man who fails to support his wife. If he is sent to jail, his wife or family are not benefited, but we had a prison farm where the men were given wages for their work, it would be possible in this way, to make a wife deserter keep his wife and
