"I love you, little sweetheart,"
"He in tender accents said.
"And I love you too," she answered,
As she bent his pretty head.
And the stars leoked down from heaven
On the charming tete-a-tete,
As the pair of youthful lovers
Gently swung upon the gate.

"Yes, I love you," she softly murmured Looking up at him again.

Holy mackerel! Gee Moses!"
Answered he in direst pain,
For, alas! we never knew the
Incentity of fate, And love that betrays us often
To a smashed thumb in the gate.
