

THE CITY AND VICINITY.

THE DAILY ROUNDUP OF LIFE IN AND ABOUT TORONTO.

What the People are Doing and Thinking About in the City and Surrounding Districts.

The interior of Knox church is being modernized.

There are 105 women and 20 girls in the school at present.

A chimney on fire on Shuter street brought the firemen out yesterday.

The head 200,000 miles thick - not the new comet, but the globe man.

Yesterday the Wilton avenue horse wagon broke an axle in going down Jarvis street.

James Clark, 290 Spadina avenue, was burglarized Friday night to the extent of $5 and some crockery, cheese and beer.

In the Switzer arson case, Mr. Fallerton asked a witness "with what object was the house fastened up?" "Boards," replied the witness.

We don't know now which is the worse of two evils—the fire and drum band in the evening, or the Toronto Mail in the morning.

The Grand Truck braken held their annual picnic at Lorne park on Saturday. There was a large attendance, and a good time was spent.

The employees of Moses' cigar factory held their annual picnic at Lorne park. Mr. Moses has offered a gold medal for a prize in a walking match.

Edward Knusel, charged with being concerned in the stealing of some crockery from the Hubert's estate some days ago, was in his cell last night.

The street car track on King street, west of Strachan avenue, is being taken up. As it has not been used, and as it is higher than the road, it has been an obstruction to wheeling.

"Oh, where are you going, my pretty maid?" "To do some shopping," she sweetly said. "And where?" "I asked in glad surprise. "Oh, anywhere, where they advertise."

The improvements which the manager of the Royal opera house is making to that theatre are very elaborate, and are very near completed.

The St. George's Society, at its last meeting, decided not to send delegates to the North American convention on the 28th inst., with Ada Gray in "East Lorne" month at Boston.

Mysterious disappearance number three. This time it is Robert Templeton, a young carpenter employed at the Mackay power Co.'s biscuit factory. He has been missing for about two weeks, and his friends are very anxious.

Wm. Lyell (an old Toronto boy) and M. B. Snyder have purchased from Samuel Colville the right to play The World through Canada.

On Friday afternoon last the children of the Boys' home went on invitation to see the wonders of the Zoo. The monkey proved an inexhaustible source of amusement to the boys. The Orphans' home will visit the Zoo this week, same day.

When the Credit Valley is finished to St. Thomas fast time will be made by the Galt and Woodstock; the thirty miles will be run inside of one hour, including six stoppages; and through time to St. Thomas will be the same as is now made between Toronto and Ingersoll.

At Lumber's annual sale of fruit on Hamilton's wharf Saturday morning following prices were realized: Peaches, 1st class $1 40 to $1 70 in handle baskets; 2nd class, $1 10 to $1 40 in handle baskets; inferior, 60c; pears, 45c to 60c; apples, 55c per bushel; harvest apples, in barrels, 82c.

The employees of Hunter, Rose & Co. held their fourth annual picnic at Lorne park by the steamer Toronto. The picnic was held on Thursday last. The party, consisting of athletic games and dancing, and returning to the city well pleased with the day's outing at 7 p.m.

That the medieval prejudice against the Jews is not quite extinct, is shown in the less intelligent classes, was shown in a case tried at the police court on Saturday, in which defendant admitted that he had called complainant "a dang Jew," and asked him "who killed Christ?" A fine of $1 and costs was imposed.

The fence separating College avenue from University street has been removed, and the street is being boulevardized and provided with posts and rails. As a consequence property on the street has taken a bound forward in value. While doing something to improve the appearance of the avenue, the city officials might as well place some seats there, which are greatly needed.

Kate Fleming's case was adjourned from Saturday till to-day, on the strength of a medical certificate that she was suffering from palpitation of the heart.

Fleming has taken out three summonses—one against Edward Barnes, a well-known hotel runner, for being a habitual frequenter of a disorderly house; one against Josephine La Pice, for being an inmate, and a third against the same girl for being a frequenter of a disorderly house.

On Saturday morning about 3 o'clock Hugh Beckman, a carpenter living in a tenement building on Dorset street, known as the "London," "Dorset" house, jumped out of a window to the ground, a distance of about fifteen feet. He was suffering from delirium tremens, and thought that Satan was pursuing him. His wife was sent to the general hospital. His wife and family are utterly destitute.

Vital statistics for week ending August 13: Births 44, marriages 29, deaths 39. Causes of death: Diphtheria 3, phthisis 5, cholera infantum 4, convulsions 3, still born 2, typhoid fever 2, hydrocephalus 2, and one each of the following: Marasmus, gout, enterocolitis, hemorrhage of the stomach, heart disease, general debility, gastric mania, purpura, apoplexy, exhaustion of lungs, and premature birth.

"And folks who came to scoff remained to pray." We receive many letters from those having tried white dotting, yet troubles with ZEPHEA. Clergymen write earnestly certifying to its wonderfulness.

A Family Tragedy in Haine. BAR MILLS, Me., Aug. 12.—Charles Boynton this morning fired at his wife, who refused to live with him. She jumped from a second-story window to the ground unhurt. Boynton was probably fatally shot by his wife's sister, Mrs. Waterhouse, and finally shot himself dead.

A Seizure of Electric Lamps. PARIS, Aug. 12.—There was great commotion in the Chamber of Deputies last night. Having obtained an injunction from a Paris tribunal, Edison's agent made seizure of the Maxims lamps in the exhibition. The lamps and apparatus were removed to the Maxims, and the quarrel will be brought before the courts. Maxim representatives resisted the seizure and appealed to President Berger for protection, but without success.

THE SWITZER ARSON CASE.

Evidence for the Defense—The Prisoner Committed for Trial.

On Saturday the evidence for the defence was opened and the following narrative was made out: On the 23rd of June a woman named Mrs. Hannah was ejected from the house, which was afterwards burnt, and threatened that she would burn it down and kill whoever entered it. Bright, the Switzer's officer, and George S. Easton, who acted as Switzer's agent, boarded up the windows closely and nailed all the doors, and the latter swore that he saw them in the same condition at 11 o'clock on the night of the fire. As to the prisoner's movements on that night, his brother John said that he slept with him, that Tobias was in bed when the alarm of fire was given, and that they both got up together, the prisoner putting on his shirt and pants. Prisoner's sister also says that she came into the room about 11:30 to give one of the children a drink and saw the two brothers in bed. This would be about twenty-five minutes before the fire broke out. Mrs. Clark and another woman were at the house nursing Mrs. Switzer's sick baby. There was in the dining-room, and Switzer did not come into the room until the cry of fire was raised. P. C. Archibald says that on the night of the fire he found prisoners running along King street, in their shirts and pants and detained him, whereupon he informed the constable about the prisoners. On being released he ran to a box and tried to sound the alarm which was afterwards done by Archibald.

Mrs. Legier, another sister of the prisoner, said that on the morning after the fire Mrs. Waddick (the principal witness for the prosecution) came into Mrs. Switzer's yard and asked her to buy some potatoes. She requested the loan of a stick of wood. Mrs. Switzer then said to her, "Folly, I hear among the women that you are a holy saint, and you are a thing; I never said it; how could I say such a thing?" "I saw a man going along the lane in his clothes and a woman with a bundle of four fowls past," and adding, "God may strike me dead if I said it," and asked Mrs. Switzer to go up to the woman who said she had been in the house on the night of the fire, and she would "put the lid down her throat."

Mrs. Waddick being recalled in order to confront the witness, denied positively that any such conversation had taken place, and repeated her statement that she had seen Tobias Switzer sitting on the bench. She said her sister had gone up to sell potatoes, from this it might appear that the last witness had confounded the two sisters, but on the other hand there is the testimony of Mrs. Legier's wife, Mrs. Switzer's address, Mrs. Switzer's going up to the woman who said she had been in the house on the night of the fire, and she would "put the lid down her throat."

Mrs. Waddick being recalled in order to confront the witness, denied positively that any such conversation had taken place, and repeated her statement that she had seen Tobias Switzer sitting on the bench. She said her sister had gone up to sell potatoes, from this it might appear that the last witness had confounded the two sisters, but on the other hand there is the testimony of Mrs. Legier's wife, Mrs. Switzer's address, Mrs. Switzer's going up to the woman who said she had been in the house on the night of the fire, and she would "put the lid down her throat."

Mrs. Waddick being recalled in order to confront the witness, denied positively that any such conversation had taken place, and repeated her statement that she had seen Tobias Switzer sitting on the bench. She said her sister had gone up to sell potatoes, from this it might appear that the last witness had confounded the two sisters, but on the other hand there is the testimony of Mrs. Legier's wife, Mrs. Switzer's address, Mrs. Switzer's going up to the woman who said she had been in the house on the night of the fire, and she would "put the lid down her throat."

Mrs. Waddick being recalled in order to confront the witness, denied positively that any such conversation had taken place, and repeated her statement that she had seen Tobias Switzer sitting on the bench. She said her sister had gone up to sell potatoes, from this it might appear that the last witness had confounded the two sisters, but on the other hand there is the testimony of Mrs. Legier's wife, Mrs. Switzer's address, Mrs. Switzer's going up to the woman who said she had been in the house on the night of the fire, and she would "put the lid down her throat."

Mrs. Waddick being recalled in order to confront the witness, denied positively that any such conversation had taken place, and repeated her statement that she had seen Tobias Switzer sitting on the bench. She said her sister had gone up to sell potatoes, from this it might appear that the last witness had confounded the two sisters, but on the other hand there is the testimony of Mrs. Legier's wife, Mrs. Switzer's address, Mrs. Switzer's going up to the woman who said she had been in the house on the night of the fire, and she would "put the lid down her throat."

Mrs. Waddick being recalled in order to confront the witness, denied positively that any such conversation had taken place, and repeated her statement that she had seen Tobias Switzer sitting on the bench. She said her sister had gone up to sell potatoes, from this it might appear that the last witness had confounded the two sisters, but on the other hand there is the testimony of Mrs. Legier's wife, Mrs. Switzer's address, Mrs. Switzer's going up to the woman who said she had been in the house on the night of the fire, and she would "put the lid down her throat."

Mrs. Waddick being recalled in order to confront the witness, denied positively that any such conversation had taken place, and repeated her statement that she had seen Tobias Switzer sitting on the bench. She said her sister had gone up to sell potatoes, from this it might appear that the last witness had confounded the two sisters, but on the other hand there is the testimony of Mrs. Legier's wife, Mrs. Switzer's address, Mrs. Switzer's going up to the woman who said she had been in the house on the night of the fire, and she would "put the lid down her throat."

Mrs. Waddick being recalled in order to confront the witness, denied positively that any such conversation had taken place, and repeated her statement that she had seen Tobias Switzer sitting on the bench. She said her sister had gone up to sell potatoes, from this it might appear that the last witness had confounded the two sisters, but on the other hand there is the testimony of Mrs. Legier's wife, Mrs. Switzer's address, Mrs. Switzer's going up to the woman who said she had been in the house on the night of the fire, and she would "put the lid down her throat."

Mrs. Waddick being recalled in order to confront the witness, denied positively that any such conversation had taken place, and repeated her statement that she had seen Tobias Switzer sitting on the bench. She said her sister had gone up to sell potatoes, from this it might appear that the last witness had confounded the two sisters, but on the other hand there is the testimony of Mrs. Legier's wife, Mrs. Switzer's address, Mrs. Switzer's going up to the woman who said she had been in the house on the night of the fire, and she would "put the lid down her throat."

Mrs. Waddick being recalled in order to confront the witness, denied positively that any such conversation had taken place, and repeated her statement that she had seen Tobias Switzer sitting on the bench. She said her sister had gone up to sell potatoes, from this it might appear that the last witness had confounded the two sisters, but on the other hand there is the testimony of Mrs. Legier's wife, Mrs. Switzer's address, Mrs. Switzer's going up to the woman who said she had been in the house on the night of the fire, and she would "put the lid down her throat."

Mrs. Waddick being recalled in order to confront the witness, denied positively that any such conversation had taken place, and repeated her statement that she had seen Tobias Switzer sitting on the bench. She said her sister had gone up to sell potatoes, from this it might appear that the last witness had confounded the two sisters, but on the other hand there is the testimony of Mrs. Legier's wife, Mrs. Switzer's address, Mrs. Switzer's going up to the woman who said she had been in the house on the night of the fire, and she would "put the lid down her throat."

Mrs. Waddick being recalled in order to confront the witness, denied positively that any such conversation had taken place, and repeated her statement that she had seen Tobias Switzer sitting on the bench. She said her sister had gone up to sell potatoes, from this it might appear that the last witness had confounded the two sisters, but on the other hand there is the testimony of Mrs. Legier's wife, Mrs. Switzer's address, Mrs. Switzer's going up to the woman who said she had been in the house on the night of the fire, and she would "put the lid down her throat."

Mrs. Waddick being recalled in order to confront the witness, denied positively that any such conversation had taken place, and repeated her statement that she had seen Tobias Switzer sitting on the bench. She said her sister had gone up to sell potatoes, from this it might appear that the last witness had confounded the two sisters, but on the other hand there is the testimony of Mrs. Legier's wife, Mrs. Switzer's address, Mrs. Switzer's going up to the woman who said she had been in the house on the night of the fire, and she would "put the lid down her throat."

Mrs. Waddick being recalled in order to confront the witness, denied positively that any such conversation had taken place, and repeated her statement that she had seen Tobias Switzer sitting on the bench. She said her sister had gone up to sell potatoes, from this it might appear that the last witness had confounded the two sisters, but on the other hand there is the testimony of Mrs. Legier's wife, Mrs. Switzer's address, Mrs. Switzer's going up to the woman who said she had been in the house on the night of the fire, and she would "put the lid down her throat."

Mrs. Waddick being recalled in order to confront the witness, denied positively that any such conversation had taken place, and repeated her statement that she had seen Tobias Switzer sitting on the bench. She said her sister had gone up to sell potatoes, from this it might appear that the last witness had confounded the two sisters, but on the other hand there is the testimony of Mrs. Legier's wife, Mrs. Switzer's address, Mrs. Switzer's going up to the woman who said she had been in the house on the night of the fire, and she would "put the lid down her throat."

Mrs. Waddick being recalled in order to confront the witness, denied positively that any such conversation had taken place, and repeated her statement that she had seen Tobias Switzer sitting on the bench. She said her sister had gone up to sell potatoes, from this it might appear that the last witness had confounded the two sisters, but on the other hand there is the testimony of Mrs. Legier's wife, Mrs. Switzer's address, Mrs. Switzer's going up to the woman who said she had been in the house on the night of the fire, and she would "put the lid down her throat."

Mrs. Waddick being recalled in order to confront the witness, denied positively that any such conversation had taken place, and repeated her statement that she had seen Tobias Switzer sitting on the bench. She said her sister had gone up to sell potatoes, from this it might appear that the last witness had confounded the two sisters, but on the other hand there is the testimony of Mrs. Legier's wife, Mrs. Switzer's address, Mrs. Switzer's going up to the woman who said she had been in the house on the night of the fire, and she would "put the lid down her throat."

Mrs. Waddick being recalled in order to confront the witness, denied positively that any such conversation had taken place, and repeated her statement that she had seen Tobias Switzer sitting on the bench. She said her sister had gone up to sell potatoes, from this it might appear that the last witness had confounded the two sisters, but on the other hand there is the testimony of Mrs. Legier's wife, Mrs. Switzer's address, Mrs. Switzer's going up to the woman who said she had been in the house on the night of the fire, and she would "put the lid down her throat."

Mrs. Waddick being recalled in order to confront the witness, denied positively that any such conversation had taken place, and repeated her statement that she had seen Tobias Switzer sitting on the bench. She said her sister had gone up to sell potatoes, from this it might appear that the last witness had confounded the two sisters, but on the other hand there is the testimony of Mrs. Legier's wife, Mrs. Switzer's address, Mrs. Switzer's going up to the woman who said she had been in the house on the night of the fire, and she would "put the lid down her throat."

Mrs. Waddick being recalled in order to confront the witness, denied positively that any such conversation had taken place, and repeated her statement that she had seen Tobias Switzer sitting on the bench. She said her sister had gone up to sell potatoes, from this it might appear that the last witness had confounded the two sisters, but on the other hand there is the testimony of Mrs. Legier's wife, Mrs. Switzer's address, Mrs. Switzer's going up to the woman who said she had been in the house on the night of the fire, and she would "put the lid down her throat."

Mrs. Waddick being recalled in order to confront the witness, denied positively that any such conversation had taken place, and repeated her statement that she had seen Tobias Switzer sitting on the bench. She said her sister had gone up to sell potatoes, from this it might appear that the last witness had confounded the two sisters, but on the other hand there is the testimony of Mrs. Legier's wife, Mrs. Switzer's address, Mrs. Switzer's going up to the woman who said she had been in the house on the night of the fire, and she would "put the lid down her throat."

Mrs. Waddick being recalled in order to confront the witness, denied positively that any such conversation had taken place, and repeated her statement that she had seen Tobias Switzer sitting on the bench. She said her sister had gone up to sell potatoes, from this it might appear that the last witness had confounded the two sisters, but on the other hand there is the testimony of Mrs. Legier's wife, Mrs. Switzer's address, Mrs. Switzer's going up to the woman who said she had been in the house on the night of the fire, and she would "put the lid down her throat."

Mrs. Waddick being recalled in order to confront the witness, denied positively that any such conversation had taken place, and repeated her statement that she had seen Tobias Switzer sitting on the bench. She said her sister had gone up to sell potatoes, from this it might appear that the last witness had confounded the two sisters, but on the other hand there is the testimony of Mrs. Legier's wife, Mrs. Switzer's address, Mrs. Switzer's going up to the woman who said she had been in the house on the night of the fire, and she would "put the lid down her throat."

Mrs. Waddick being recalled in order to confront the witness, denied positively that any such conversation had taken place, and repeated her statement that she had seen Tobias Switzer sitting on the bench. She said her sister had gone up to sell potatoes, from this it might appear that the last witness had confounded the two sisters, but on the other hand there is the testimony of Mrs. Legier's wife, Mrs. Switzer's address, Mrs. Switzer's going up to the woman who said she had been in the house on the night of the fire, and she would "put the lid down her throat."

Mrs. Waddick being recalled in order to confront the witness, denied positively that any such conversation had taken place, and repeated her statement that she had seen Tobias Switzer sitting on the bench. She said her sister had gone up to sell potatoes, from this it might appear that the last witness had confounded the two sisters, but on the other hand there is the testimony of Mrs. Legier's wife, Mrs. Switzer's address, Mrs. Switzer's going up to the woman who said she had been in the house on the night of the fire, and she would "put the lid down her throat."

Mrs. Waddick being recalled in order to confront the witness, denied positively that any such conversation had taken place, and repeated her statement that she had seen Tobias Switzer sitting on the bench. She said her sister had gone up to sell potatoes, from this it might appear that the last witness had confounded the two sisters, but on the other hand there is the testimony of Mrs. Legier's wife, Mrs. Switzer's address, Mrs. Switzer's going up to the woman who said she had been in the house on the night of the fire, and she would "put the lid down her throat."

Mrs. Waddick being recalled in order to confront the witness, denied positively that any such conversation had taken place, and repeated her statement that she had seen Tobias Switzer sitting on the bench. She said her sister had gone up to sell potatoes, from this it might appear that the last witness had confounded the two sisters, but on the other hand there is the testimony of Mrs. Legier's wife, Mrs. Switzer's address, Mrs. Switzer's going up to the woman who said she had been in the house on the night of the fire, and she would "put the lid down her throat."

Mrs. Waddick being recalled in order to confront the witness, denied positively that any such conversation had taken place, and repeated her statement that she had seen Tobias Switzer sitting on the bench. She said her sister had gone up to sell potatoes, from this it might appear that the last witness had confounded the two sisters, but on the other hand there is the testimony of Mrs. Legier's wife, Mrs. Switzer's address, Mrs. Switzer's going up to the woman who said she had been in the house on the night of the fire, and she would "put the lid down her throat."

Mrs. Waddick being recalled in order to confront the witness, denied positively that any such conversation had taken place, and repeated her statement that she had seen Tobias Switzer sitting on the bench. She said her sister had gone up to sell potatoes, from this it might appear that the last witness had confounded the two sisters, but on the other hand there is the testimony of Mrs. Legier's wife, Mrs. Switzer's address, Mrs. Switzer's going up to the woman who said she had been in the house on the night of the fire, and she would "put the lid down her throat."

Mrs. Waddick being recalled in order to confront the witness, denied positively that any such conversation had taken place, and repeated her statement that she had seen Tobias Switzer sitting on the bench. She said her sister had gone up to sell potatoes, from this it might appear that the last witness had confounded the two sisters, but on the other hand there is the testimony of Mrs. Legier's wife, Mrs. Switzer's address, Mrs. Switzer's going up to the woman who said she had been in the house on the night of the fire, and she would "put the lid down her throat."

Mrs. Waddick being recalled in order to confront the witness, denied positively that any such conversation had taken place, and repeated her statement that she had seen Tobias Switzer sitting on the bench. She said her sister had gone up to sell potatoes, from this it might appear that the last witness had confounded the two sisters, but on the other hand there is the testimony of Mrs. Legier's wife, Mrs. Switzer's address, Mrs. Switzer's going up to the woman who said she had been in the house on the night of the fire, and she would "put the lid down her throat."

Mrs. Waddick being recalled in order to confront the witness, denied positively that any such conversation had taken place, and repeated her statement that she had seen Tobias Switzer sitting on the bench. She said her sister had gone up to sell potatoes, from this it might appear that the last witness had confounded the two sisters, but on the other hand there is the testimony of Mrs. Legier's wife, Mrs. Switzer's address, Mrs. Switzer's going up to the woman who said she had been in the house on the night of the fire, and she would "put the lid down her throat."

Mrs. Waddick being recalled in order to confront the witness, denied positively that any such conversation had taken place, and repeated her statement that she had seen Tobias Switzer sitting on the bench. She said her sister had gone up to sell potatoes, from this it might appear that the last witness had confounded the two sisters, but on the other hand there is the testimony of Mrs. Legier's wife, Mrs. Switzer's address, Mrs. Switzer's going up to the woman who said she had been in the house on the night of the fire, and she would "put the lid down her throat."

Mrs. Waddick being recalled in order to confront the witness, denied positively that any such conversation had taken place, and repeated her statement that she had seen Tobias Switzer sitting on the bench. She said her sister had gone up to sell potatoes, from this it might appear that the last witness had confounded the two sisters, but on the other hand there is the testimony of Mrs. Legier's wife, Mrs. Switzer's address, Mrs. Switzer's going up to the woman who said she had been in the house on the night of the fire, and she would "put the lid down her throat."

Mrs. Waddick being recalled in order to confront the witness, denied positively that any such conversation had taken place, and repeated her statement that she had seen Tobias Switzer sitting on the bench. She said her sister had gone up to sell potatoes, from this it might appear that the last witness had confounded the two sisters, but on the other hand there is the testimony of Mrs. Legier's wife, Mrs. Switzer's address, Mrs. Switzer's going up to the woman who said she had been in the house on the night of the fire, and she would "put the lid down her throat."

Mrs. Waddick being recalled in order to confront the witness, denied positively that any such conversation had taken place, and repeated her statement that she had seen Tobias Switzer sitting on the bench. She said her sister had gone up to sell potatoes, from this it might appear that the last witness had confounded the two sisters, but on the other hand there is the testimony of Mrs. Legier's wife, Mrs. Switzer's address, Mrs. Switzer's going up to the woman who said she had been in the house on the night of the fire, and she would "put the lid down her throat."

Mrs. Waddick being recalled in order to confront the witness, denied positively that any such conversation had taken place, and repeated her statement that she had seen Tobias Switzer sitting on the bench. She said her sister had gone up to sell potatoes, from this it might appear that the last witness had confounded the two sisters, but on the other hand there is the testimony of Mrs. Legier's wife, Mrs. Switzer's address, Mrs. Switzer's going up to the woman who said she had been in the house on the night of the fire, and she would "put the lid down her throat."

Mrs. Waddick being recalled in order to confront the witness, denied positively that any such conversation had taken place, and repeated her statement that she had seen Tobias Switzer sitting on the bench. She said her sister had gone up to sell potatoes, from this it might appear that the last witness had confounded the two sisters, but on the other hand there is the testimony of Mrs. Legier's wife, Mrs. Switzer's address, Mrs. Switzer's going up to the woman who said she had been in the house on the night of the fire, and she would "put the lid down her throat."

Mrs. Waddick being recalled in order to confront the witness, denied positively that any such conversation had taken place, and repeated her statement that she had seen Tobias Switzer sitting on the bench. She said her sister had gone up to sell potatoes, from this it might appear that the last witness had confounded the two sisters, but on the other hand there is the testimony of Mrs. Legier's wife, Mrs. Switzer's address, Mrs. Switzer's going up to the woman who said she had been in the house on the night of the fire, and she would "put the lid down her throat."

Mrs. Waddick being recalled in order to confront the witness, denied positively that any such conversation had taken place, and repeated her statement that she had seen Tobias Switzer sitting on the bench. She said her sister had gone up to sell potatoes, from this it might appear that the last witness had confounded the two sisters, but on the other hand there is the testimony of Mrs. Legier's wife, Mrs. Switzer's address, Mrs. Switzer's going up to the woman who said she had been in the house on the night of the fire, and she would "put the lid down her throat."

Mrs. Waddick being recalled in order to confront the witness, denied positively that any such conversation had taken place, and repeated her statement that she had seen Tobias Switzer sitting on the bench. She said her sister had gone up to sell potatoes, from this it might appear that the last witness had confounded the two sisters, but on the other hand there is the testimony of Mrs. Legier's wife, Mrs. Switzer's address, Mrs. Switzer's going up to the woman who said she had been in the house on the night of the fire, and she would "put the lid down her throat."

Mrs. Waddick being recalled in order to confront the witness, denied positively that any such conversation had taken place, and repeated her statement that she had seen Tobias Switzer sitting on the bench. She said her sister had gone up to sell potatoes, from this it might appear that the last witness had confounded the two sisters, but on the other hand there is the testimony of Mrs. Legier's wife, Mrs. Switzer's address, Mrs. Switzer's going up to the woman who said she had been in the house on the night of the fire, and she would "put the lid down her throat."

Mrs. Waddick being recalled in order to confront the witness, denied positively that any such conversation had taken place, and repeated her statement that she had seen Tobias Switzer sitting on the bench. She said her sister had gone up to sell potatoes, from this it might appear that the last witness had confounded the two sisters, but on the other hand there is the testimony of Mrs. Legier's wife, Mrs. Switzer's address, Mrs. Switzer's going up to the woman who said she had been in the house on the night of the fire, and she would "put the lid down her throat."

Mrs. Waddick being recalled in order to confront the witness, denied positively that any such conversation had taken place, and repeated her statement that she had seen Tobias Switzer sitting on the bench. She said her sister had gone up to sell potatoes, from this it might appear that the last witness had confounded the two sisters, but on the other hand there is the testimony of Mrs. Legier's wife, Mrs. Switzer's address, Mrs. Switzer's going up to the woman who said she had been in the house on the night of the fire, and she would "put the lid down her throat."

Mrs. Waddick being recalled in order to confront the witness, denied positively that any such conversation had taken place, and repeated her statement that she had seen Tobias Switzer sitting on the bench. She said her sister had gone up to sell potatoes, from this it might appear that the last witness had confounded the two sisters, but on the other hand there is the testimony of Mrs. Legier's wife, Mrs. Switzer's address, Mrs. Switzer's going up to the woman who said she had been in the house on the night of the fire, and she would "put the lid down her throat."

Mrs. Waddick being recalled in order to confront the witness, denied positively that any such conversation had taken place, and repeated her statement that she had seen Tobias Switzer sitting on the bench. She said her sister had gone up to sell potatoes, from this it might appear that the last witness had confounded the two sisters, but on the other hand there is the testimony of Mrs. Legier's wife, Mrs. Switzer's address, Mrs. Switzer's going up to the woman who said she had been in the house on the night of the fire, and she would "put the lid down her throat."

Mrs. Waddick being recalled in order to confront the witness, denied positively that any such conversation had taken place, and repeated her statement that she had seen Tobias Switzer sitting on the bench. She said her sister had gone up to sell potatoes, from this it might appear that the last witness had confounded the two sisters, but on the other hand there is the testimony of Mrs. Legier's wife, Mrs. Switzer's address, Mrs. Switzer's going up to the woman who said she had been in the house on the night of the fire, and she would "put the lid down her throat."

Mrs. Waddick being recalled in order to confront the witness, denied positively that any such conversation had taken place, and repeated her statement that she had seen Tobias Switzer sitting on the bench. She said her sister had gone up to sell potatoes, from this it might appear that the last witness had confounded the two sisters, but on the other hand there is the testimony of Mrs. Legier's wife, Mrs. Switzer's address, Mrs. Switzer's going up to the woman who said she had been in the house on the night of the fire, and she would "put the lid down her throat."

Mrs. Waddick being recalled in order to confront the witness, denied positively that any such conversation had taken place, and repeated her statement that she had seen Tobias Switzer sitting on the bench. She said her sister had gone up to sell potatoes, from this it might appear that the last witness had confounded the two sisters, but on the other hand there is the testimony of Mrs. Legier's wife, Mrs. Switzer's address, Mrs. Switzer's going up to the woman who said she had been in the house on the night of the fire, and she would "put the lid down her throat."

Mrs. Waddick being recalled in order to confront the witness, denied positively that any such conversation had taken place, and repeated her statement that she had seen Tobias Switzer sitting on the bench. She said her sister had gone up to sell potatoes, from this it might appear that the last witness had confounded the two sisters, but on the other hand there is the testimony of Mrs. Legier's wife, Mrs. Switzer's address, Mrs. Switzer's going up to the woman who said she had been in the house on the night of the fire, and she would "put the lid down her throat."

Mrs. Waddick being recalled in order to confront the witness, denied positively that any such conversation had taken place, and repeated her statement that she had seen Tobias Switzer sitting on the bench. She said her sister had gone up to sell potatoes, from this it might appear that the last witness had confounded the two sisters, but on the other hand there is the testimony of Mrs. Legier's wife, Mrs. Switzer's address, Mrs. Switzer's going up to the woman who said she had been in the house on the night of the fire, and she would "put the lid down her throat."

Mrs. Waddick being recalled in order to confront the witness, denied positively that any such conversation had taken place, and repeated her statement that she had seen Tobias Switzer sitting on the bench. She said her sister had gone up to sell potatoes, from this it might appear that the last witness had confounded the two sisters, but on the other hand there is the testimony of Mrs. Legier's wife, Mrs. Switzer's address, Mrs. Switzer's going up to the woman who said she had been in the house on the night of the fire, and she would "put the lid down her throat."

Mrs. Waddick being recalled in order to confront the witness, denied positively that any such conversation had taken place, and repeated her statement that she had seen Tobias Switzer sitting on the bench. She said her sister had gone up to sell potatoes, from this it might appear that the last witness had confounded the two sisters, but on the other hand there is the testimony of Mrs. Legier's wife, Mrs. Switzer's address, Mrs. Switzer's going up to the woman who said she had been in the house on the night of the fire, and she would "put the lid down her throat."

Mrs. Waddick being recalled in order to confront the witness, denied positively that any such conversation had taken place, and repeated her statement that she had seen Tobias Switzer sitting on the bench. She said her sister had gone up to sell potatoes, from this it might appear that the last witness had confounded the two sisters, but on the other hand there is the testimony of Mrs. Legier's wife, Mrs. Switzer's address, Mrs. Switzer's going up to the woman who said she had been in the house on the night of the fire, and she would "put the lid down her throat."

Mrs. Waddick being recalled in order to confront the witness, denied positively that any such conversation had taken place, and repeated her statement that she had seen Tobias Switzer sitting on the bench. She said her sister had gone up to sell potatoes, from this it might appear that the last witness had confounded the two sisters, but on the other hand there is the testimony of Mrs. Legier's wife, Mrs. Switzer's address, Mrs. Switzer's going up to the woman who said she had been in the house on the night of the fire, and she would "put the lid down her throat."

Mrs. Waddick being recalled in order to confront the witness, denied positively that any such conversation had taken place, and repeated her statement that she had seen Tobias Switzer sitting on the bench. She said her sister had gone up to sell potatoes, from this it might appear that the last witness had confounded the two sisters, but on the other hand there is the testimony of Mrs. Legier's wife, Mrs. Switzer's address, Mrs. Switzer's going up to the woman who said she had been in the house on the night of the fire, and she would "put the lid down her throat."

Mrs. Waddick being recalled in order to confront the witness, denied positively that any such conversation had taken place, and repeated her statement that she had seen Tobias Switzer sitting on the bench. She said her sister had gone up to sell potatoes, from this it might appear that the last witness had confounded the two sisters, but on the other hand there is the testimony of Mrs. Legier's wife, Mrs. Switzer's address, Mrs. Switzer's going up to the woman who said she had been in the house on the night of the fire, and she would "