

honors thick upon him," nevertheless is quite approachable. It is rumored that he purposes adding stenography to his many other accomplishments.

MacKeracher, W. M.—The High Churchman and litterateur of the class. "Cap'n Gown" was a very popular man at the University, being second editor-in-chief of the "Fortnightly," and valedictorian of his year. Wears a court of Charles I. beard.

Murray, Hazen Thomas.—The facile pen of the "deacon" has frequently brightened the pages of this magazine. He is great at making bargains, especially in coats and programmes. Murray was elected President of the Missionary Society at the beginning of this session and has performed his duties admirably. Is said to be engaged.

Tanguay, G. B.—The only representative of the French element of the college in the graduating class. Dr. Tanguay is a graduate in medicine of Bishop University.

Walker, P. A.—An Ontario man who buys books on "How to" do things. Has already, in anticipation, furnished the Manse. Is a good public speaker and well informed. Doesn't like politics.

Weir, George.—Last, but not least. Used to boast that he never was "soaked"; alas for boasting! Took a fair degree at McGill and backed up college societies well while in Theology. As convener of the committee he did much to ensure the success of the recent conversazione. Is preparing for a rainy day in the near future.

Vale, '97!

The reception given to Principal MacVicar on his return from Europe, which took the form of an oyster supper, and the presentation of an address, was remarkable for its spontaneity and heartiness. Professors and students, resident and non-resident, were there in full force, and vied with each other in expressions of pleasure and fealty. The address of welcome, read by Mr. McIntosh, evidently voiced the feelings of all
