THE LITTLE LEAVEN.

During the recent session of the Shewsbury and Rahway Half Year meeting, Isaac Wilson, of Canada, who was very acceptably in attendance, had an appointed meeting at the Methodist church at Oceanport. This meeting was well attended, and our friend was much favored in presenting the truth according to the belief of the Society of Friends.

His explanation of the parable of the "little leaven that a woman took and hid in three measures of meal till the whole was leavened," seemed particularly to impress itself on my mind. The three measures of meal represents the three fold nature of man, (the physical, the intellectual and the spiritual) in which is hidden the Christ spirit or leavening principle; which, if permitted to do its perfect work, will so permeate our nature that the whole will become leavened or made like unto itself, that is—Christlike. Thus we, like the leavened meal, will become fitted for the work which is given us to do.—M. V.
