

"Mary's Little Lamb" must not be forgotten, and a number of the children gave recitations. A couple of carols were also sung. And last, but not least, there was the presentation of prizes and presents to the children. Miss Hilda Boulton kept things going with her effective piano playing, and altogether, a very pleasant evening was spent.

Y.M.A. SOCIAL.

Which stands for the social given by the Young Men's Association, and was held on Thursday, 26th ult. There is only one phrase which can adequately describe it, viz., a great success. There were over 200 present, both sexes being pretty equally represented, for the members of the Young Women's Bible Classes and S. Agatha's were there in force, with many of their young friends. There was a capital programme—on paper—for several who promised to play and sing were not there. This, however, did not spoil the performance, for Mr. Phillips was there. So was also the graphophone, which rolled out music and talk, both sweet and otherwise. Then the trios of Messrs. Smith, Hughes and Hastie, and the songs of Messrs. Davis and Carruthers, and the cornet solos by Mr. Sharp, more than made up for the gaps in the programme.

The whole affair reflects great credit upon the Y.M.A., for the room was beautifully decorated; the refreshments were excellent, and all went with a go from start to finish. The young men who organized it were determined that all should enjoy themselves, and they were completely successful.

The only thing which tended to make the social less than perfect was the absence of Mr. Kenrick, who had taken such interest in it. It was on that day that he heard of the death of his brother at Winnipeg. Naturally, then, all present felt the deepest sympathy with him in his loss, and this feeling gave somewhat of a sombre tone to the gathering.

At the opening of the second part of the programme the Rector gave a short address, in which he voiced the general feeling of sympathy towards Mrs. Kenrick and her family in their affliction. Fitting expression was given to this feeling in a resolution moved by Mr. Cameron, President of the Association, and seconded by Mr. Harry Smith, in the following terms: "That this meeting has heard with very great regret of the death of Mr. Edgar Kenrick, and desires to express to the Rev. Charles B. Kenrick the deepest sympathy with his family in their affliction, and that a copy of this resolution be sent to him."

This resolution expresses the sympathy universally felt in the church towards Mrs. Kenrick and her family—now one of the oldest in the parish. By the death of Mr. Edgar Kenrick the Church sustains a loss which will be widely felt in the West. Science also loses one of her most devoted sons, for he was a man of brilliant parts and considerable eminence in his profession.

Prize List.

Christmas.

Girls.

Edna Anderson,
Nellie Anderson,
Edith Buckle,
Doris Blunden,
Rita Beckwith,
Frances Brown,
Nettie Brown,
May Crashley,
Vivienne Da Costa,
Audrey Da Costa,
Grace Durnan,
Marie Daltry,
Ethel Dorrington,
Hazel Davies,
Marguerite Da Costa,
Clara Davies,
Mabel Godard,
Bessie How,
Alice Hodgson,
Nellie Lowe,
Dottie Murdoch,
Cassie Murdoch,
Gertrude Potts,
Grace Wallis,
Irene Webb,
Violet Webb.

Boys.

Willie Bakewell,
Charlie Buckle,
Allen Brown,
John Bourne,
John Crashley,
Clarence Clubb,
George Cable,
Willie Da Costa,
Henry Godard,
Ralph Graham,
Wilbert Moxon,
Reaford Murdoch,
Eddie McDougall,
Bert Thorpe,
Charlie Winsor,
Ernest Webb.

Many of the above also earned prizes for saying the Collect each Sunday.