

October
Seventh
1920.

Dr. Samuel J. M. Allen,
Department of Physics,
University of Cincinnati,
Cincinnati, Ohio.

Dear Dr. Allen:-

I have pleasure, in the absence of the Principal, in sending you the necessary credentials for presentation, as the representative of McGill University, at the celebration of the Fiftieth Anniversary of the founding of Ohio State University, October 13-15.

It is, perhaps, customary for the representative of a University to present some sort of a formal congratulatory address on such occasions, but we have really not given much thought to this, and had no time in any case at this period of the year. If it is necessary, perhaps you might be good enough to express such sentiments as are looked for in a short letter on behalf of the University, or in any address that you may be called upon to make.

The University authorities are exceedingly grateful to you for undertaking this duty on their behalf.

Yours very truly,

Registrar.