

drawn from the vertex to the point of action shall bisect the vertical angle. (VI., 3.)

- (b) The points in which the bisectors of the external angles of a triangle meet the opposite sides, lie in a straight line.