

- introduces scutage, 65; his contest with a Hecket, 66-71; his penance at Canterbury, 71; subdues part of Ireland, 71; his judicial reforms, 73; death, 74.
- Henry III., the first child king, with picture of his coronation, 89, 90; demands money to secure the Sicilian crown, 91; opposes de Montfort and the other barons, 91-93; building during his reign, picture, 92.
- Henry IV., chosen by Parliament, 121; his Welsh campaign, 123-125; makes war upon France, 124; portrait of Henry and his court, 124; his relations with his son, 126; death, 126, 128.
- Henry V., as prince, 126, 127; generosity to his foes, 128; partially conquers France, 129-132; death, 132.
- Henry VI., unhappy childhood, 133, 134; his French lands, 133-138; becomes insane, 139; captured by the Earl of Warwick, 141; deposed, 142; restored, 144; imprisoned, 145.
- Henry VII., betrothed to the daughter of Edward IV. of York, 151; wins at Bosworth Field and is crowned, 152; portrait, 156; methods of raising money, 157, 158; does not aid Columbus, sends the Cabots, 160; chapel of, picture, 161.
- Henry VIII., early traits, with portrait, 162-164; meets Francis near Calais, 164; his interest in the Renaissance, 166; becomes "Defendar of the Faith," 167; his struggle for a divorce from Katharine and his marriage to Anne Boleyn, 167-170; his persecutions, 170, 171; seizes the smaller monasteries, debases the coinage, 171; executes Anne and marries Jane Seymour, 173; marries Anne of Cleves, 174; divorces her, 175; his will, 175, 177, 180, 183; planned a marriage for his son with Mary Queen of Scots, 195.
- Hill, Rowland, introduces Penny Postage, 350.
- History of British kings, 60; history written, 60, 101, 102.
- Holland, the Pilgrims' refuge, 220; relations with England during the Protectorate, 247.
- Holy Grail, legend of, 74; connection with the crusades, 75.
- Holy Land, ruled by Arabs, 46, 47; ruled by Turks, 48, 78, 93, 126.
- "Home Rule," for Ireland, 360.
- Hood, Robin, ballads of, 101; their influence on the English people, 147.
- Hooper, John, Bishop, 186.
- "Hotspur," Harry Percy, so-called, 125, 128.
- Howard, Admiral, 202, 209.
- Hudson Bay, 292.
- Hundred Years' War, cause, 107; in time of Edward III., 107-111; 115; ends, 118; effects of, 130, 141.
- "Inclosing," 172, 178, 179.
- Independents, go to America, 221; in the war between Charles I. and Parliament, 238, 241.
- India, the English in, 306; English rule established in, 308; Sepoy Mutiny, 354-357; Queen Victoria becomes Empress of, 357; the acquisition and expansion of the Empire of, 376, 377; present government in, 377; benefits of British rule in, 377.
- Inquisition, 185.
- Interdict, John's kingdom placed under, 82.
- Inventions, steam engine and machines for spinning and weaving, 323; of the nineteenth century, 351, 352.
- Ireland, early churches and schools in, 17; partially subdued by Henry II., 72; ruled by John, 72; "Strongbow" in, 72; review of England's connection with, 231, 232; revolt against Charles I., 233; supports Charles II., 242; Cromwell's campaign in, 243; supports James II., 274-277; the English Parliament claims the right to make laws for, 292; Roman Catholics shut out of Parliament of, 320; Irish Parliament represents only members of the Church of England, 321; commercial limitations of, 321; raises troops and demands reforms, 321; obliged to support the Church of England, 325; Reign of Terror, 325; Irish allowed to vote for Protestants as members of the Irish Parliament, 325; united with England, 325; attempts of France and Spain to free, 325; the Irish flag and the "Union Jack," picture, 326; famine in, 353; the "land question," 359; Church of England disestablished in, 359; gain in the land tenure, 359; "home rule," 360; local self-government granted, 360.
- "Ironside," 237.
- Isabella, child queen of Richard II., 121; sent back to France, 124.
- Isabella, queen of Spain, 159, 160.
- Jacobites, 276, 280, 304.
- James I., birth, 196; proclaimed king of Scotland, 197; accession, appearance, 211; portrait, 212; confers with Puritan ministers, 213; his belief in the "divine right," 216, 217; favorites, conflict with Parliament, 217, 218; dealings with Spain, 218-220; executes Raleigh, 219; death, 220.
- James II., comes to England with Charles II., 252, 261, 262; accession, 263; Monmouth's rebellion and James's revenge, 263-265; arbitrary rule of, 267; attempt to restore the Roman Catholic Church to power in England, 268; imprisons the seven bishops, 269; portrait, 270; abdicates the throne, 270; tries to regain the throne, 276-277; death, 284.