BRANTFORD ON MAIN LINE

G.T.R. DIVERSION NOW READY

CITIZENS WILL CELEBRATE

Service To Be Inaugurated Oct. 1st Marks an Era, Not Alone in Railway Policy But in Progress of the City—New Route Adds Two and Half Miles To Be Traveled—Cost G.T.R. $500,000 and Brantford $57,000—Three Miles of New Road Were Built.

SHOWING THE NEW G. T. R. MAIN LINE ROUTE AS IT WILL PASS THROUGH BRANTFORD.

Brantford, Sept. 21.—(Special)—Elaborate preparations are being made for the ceremony inaugurating the new main line service, which goes into effect on Oct. 1, when all passenger trains on the main line of the Grand Trunk will pass thru Brantford. It is expected that the Lieut.-Governor, Premier Whitney, Hon. William Patterson, Hon. C. S. Hyman and Sir William Mulock will be present, as well as General Manager Hays and other leading officials of the Grand Trunk Railway. A special train will be run on Saturday, Sept. 30, from Toronto to Paris by the old line. Thence it will join General Manager Hays' train, and the combined train will come to Brantford. At the Market-street station speeches will be heard. There will be a drive around the city, a luncheon, and at night fireworks at Market-street Station.

MACKENZIE-MANN COUNSEL JUSTICE NESBITT THE MAN

According to Rumor, Will Leave Bench to Look After the Railway Corporation's Interests.

Ottawa, Sept. 21.—(Special)—The news that Justice Nesbitt is shortly to retire from the supreme court bench is accepted in the best informed circles here as correct. It is understood that Mr. Nesbitt will go to Toronto and become connected with Mackenzie and Mann interests. He will exercise a kind of local superintendence over all the large concerns which are now controlled by Mackenzie and Mann, and in this position he will have a wide scope for his legal ability.

IS SAYING NOTHING.

Mr. Justice Nesbitt is back in the city. "I just declined to be interviewed," he remarked cheerfully when The World asked him if it was true that he would leave the bench to resume a private practice. "I shall open the sittings on Oct. 3," he continued, and had nothing further to say in regard to the rumor. He declined to say whether he contemplated resigning from the bench or not. "Haven't the faintest idea how the rumor originated," he said.

PROVINCIAL RIGHTS IN SOURS.

Former Liberal to Run as a Hamilton Supporter. Gainsboro, Sask., Sept. 21.—(Special)—J. T. Brown was unanimously nominated here this afternoon as the provincial rights candidate for Souris. He subsequently addressed the meeting and was received with great enthusiasm. He is a prominent Liberal lawyer in the field and has not only taken to the Hamilton camp a large number of old Liberals, who are resolute to place the province in the hands of the present government, but he has also been taken as a single instance of the powerful movement which daily gains force in Saskatchewan.

WIFE SHOTS HUSBAND.

Woodstock, Sept. 21.—In a fit of jealousy, Mrs. Switzer, wife of Dr. John Switzer, formerly of this city, shot and probably fatally wounded her husband at their home in Leaton, Mich., yesterday afternoon. Dr. Switzer now lies at the point of death and his wife is under arrest. Both are known to many people in this city, having resided here until about six years ago.

EXTRA PROTECTIONS.

The Holmes Electric Protection Company differs from any other company of guarding by electricity; individual wires to every bank store and warehouse. In fact they cover the business district, and are constantly adding to their already large number of subscribers. The system has been so thoroughly tested and improved during recent years as to merit the hearty endorsement of the bankers and merchants of this city.

PERKINS DO NOT STAND AGAIN SAYS NO MONEY WAS LOST

Transaction With Morgan Again Explained—Biggest Sensations Are Yet to Come.

New York, Sept. 21.—The probing of the methods of life insurance companies was resumed to-day by the executive investigating committee. Before the day's proceedings were begun, Charles E. Hughes, chief counsel of the committee, said he believed that facts of more importance and greater interest than any developed thus far still remained to be brought out. "We have not yet reached the real heart of this inquiry," said he. "In fact, we have only started."

Cheque as Evidence.

These bonds were sold by the New York Life Insurance Company to Morgan and Company at the close of the calendar year, Dec. 31, 1903, and bought on the next business day, Jan. 2, 1904. The cheque was offered as evidence. An accompanying cheque for $25,000, Mr. Perkins said he did not know about, but would look it up. The cheque of Morgan & Co. for $300,000 in payment of the bonds also was asked for. Mr. Perkins then presented a statement of the New York Life Insurance Co.'s joint account from 1897 to 1905. Mr. Perkins also presented a number of other financial statements that had been requested.

Never Made a Loss.

"In these joint accounts," he said, "I have never made a loss. Our profit from 1897 to date is $4,000,000. These joint accounts, $383,522 and when the value of the bonds withdrawn are considered, the profit has been on the record run up to $88,804. There is one other person, however, connected with the account, who bought 25 shares in order to have his name on the record. Mr. Hughes himself. He is a physician in the New York City Life Insurance Co., and as such is a party to all these contracts."

Meant to Say No.

"You ask whatever our purpose was to report $2,000,000 in the record as an answer, 'Yes sir,' with 'I don't mean it.' I don't mean that." "You mean to say no?" asked Mr. Hughes. "I mean to say no," replied Mr. Perkins.

"C. P. R." NOT ACTIVE IN TORONTO LOCAL BROKERS ARE CLEANED OUT

One Dealer Inclined to Believe the Company Has Been Doing the Buying for the Past Two Years.

"C.P.R. 177. Phew!" shouted one of the tape watchers in a local broker's office yesterday. "I have no stock to sell and I doubt if many other Canadians have. When the price touched 150 I thought, if a good time to let somebody else carry the stock, but I might as well have another $200 on my 100 shares if I had had any inkling of what was doing in the shares."

Mrs. Annie Goddard, 73 years old, is at the General Hospital in a serious condition, as the result of an attack made upon her by a vicious cow. She lives on Merton-avenue, Davisville, and on her way home when the beast attacked her without any cause. She was attempted to protect herself but was forced to run away.

MAINTAIN FREE MEETINGS ANOTHER REFORM IN RUSSIA

St. Petersburg, Sept. 21.—(310 a.m.)—A project for granting the Russian people, under certain limitations, the right of assembly to discuss political and economic questions, a reform second in importance to the convocation of the representative assembly, and which has been elaborated by a commission under the presidency of Count Ignatieff, is now practically completed, and after a final review by the Solsky commission on Saturday will be immediately laid before the emperor. His promulgation is confidently expected early next week. The coupled with restrictions on the right of assembly, the oversight of proceedings in order to prevent discussion of treasonable or seditious subjects, this reform will mark a great constitutional advance for the people, who hitherto, having had no general right of assembly, were without a representative body.

HOBAN MURDER ACCESSORY

JOHN CHARGED DE MARCO Was One of Three Italians Involved in Fight and May Have Supplied the Knife.

"We say and find that at the Emergency Hospital, on the evening of Sept. 7, John Hoban came to his death from septic peritonitis, the result of a stab wound received at the hands of a person to this jury unknown. We further say and find that Charles De Marco either indicated the wound or handed the knife to an accomplice who did so and thus became an accessory before the fact."

The verdict returned last night by the jury empaneled to inquire into the death of John Hoban, the finding was in direct following of the charge made by Coroner Powell, and came within a quarter of an hour of the conclusion of the evidence.

Mrs. Bella Mossman, the first witness called last night, gave her impressions of the fracas, as seen by her from outside the grocery, standing about 10 feet from the corner of Chestnut and Edward-streets. She saw that a row was in progress, and that one of the men, known as the 'stranger' and had then turned away, one subsequently coming back and dealing a deadly blow.

Henry Lafferty testified that he had seen John Hoban, whom he knew, on the Edward-street side of the hotel. There were three men, Italians by appearance, standing about 10 feet away on the corner. Hoban walked toward the group and then came back and said he had been stabbed.

Lafferty showed a good deal of hesitation at this point, and was asked by the coroner that he was upon oath. He finally said that he could identify the man who had the knife. Continuing his testimony he said that the three men were standing close together, and that the knife thrust was so sudden that he could hardly say whether he had seen it or not, although he saw a man spring at Hoban, and afterwards cross the street and run south. The man he had seen run away was the man who had struck the blow. He (Lafferty) had then gone with Hoban into the hotel, taking note of the actions or movements of the other two Italians.

Recognized as One of the Trio. Lafferty was then asked to look around the room and see if he could recognize Hoban's player. He said that he positively asserted that neither was the man. The former was then brought forward and ranged alongside the witness, who, after careful scrutiny, and a long pause declared him to have been one of the three Italians, the not the one directly responsible for Hoban's death. The man who had struck the blow was of about the same height, but stouter and wore a wide soft hat.

Mansanto was in a palpable state of nervousness when brought forward. Upon his head was a soft felt hat of the kind described as having been worn by the man for whom the police are searching. Lafferty, however, as identifying him as one of the trio, failed to recognize him at all. As a parting shot the crown attorney asked the witness how close De Marco was to Hoban when the blow was struck. The reply was "within two feet."

The pit of Geo. H. Clarke's evidence was that he had seen Hoban and De Marco standing near a tree with Mansanto close by. Witness had turned round just before the blow was struck. He testified that prior to it happening Hoban had gone toward the tree, and put his hand to his hip pocket. There was no weapon visible and witness considered the action suspicious. Counsel Phelan declined to allow De Marco to testify, claiming that he would have to bear the burden of what inference might be drawn from such a refusal. The coroner in his summing up laid emphasis upon the fact that it has been shown that De Marco was within a yard of Hoban, and that it would thus appear that he was the man who had passed the knife to the one who had used it, in which case he must have been accessory to the crime. The evidence did not apparently point to Mansanto having had any guilty part in the death, but that might have been the case advised Coroner Powell.

Just what disposition will be made of Mansanto is uncertain. It is not likely, however, that he will be discharged pending further evidence.
