Mean Temperature Above the Average-Precipitation Was in Excess.

-The mean temperature of the month | ing of the London and Port Stanley | ditions that would apply when the Meteorological Office, Toronto, Feb. 7. was higher than average in all parts of Canada, exclusive of some of the eastern counties of Ontario.

The precipitation was somewhat in excess of the average in Quebec and the Maritime Province and deficient in other parts of the Dominion. In British Columbia the deficiency was small; in the Western Provinces it was approximately equal to about half the average amount. At the close of the month the Western Provinces had a covering of snow of from 2 to 5 inches, while in Ontario and Quebec there was from 6 to 30 inches of snow on the ground. In the Maritime Provinces the ground was bare in eastern districts, and was covered to a depth of from 6 to 8 inches

The weather of January in Ontario was remarkable for high winds and mild conditions until near the end of the month, when decidedly low temperatures were recorded. The precipitation consisted of both rain and snow and at the end of the month, although there was a large amount of snow on TEAMSTERS GAIN the ground, yet, owing to the heavy winds, sleighing in many localities was
