SEE TROUBLE AHEAD FOR THE PORTUGUESE

Violent Political Struggle and
Overthrow of the Monarchy
Predicted.

LISBON, Feb. 25.—Whether or not a republic is soon to supplant the monarchy in Portugal, it is practically the unanimous opinion here that the near future will witness a violent political struggle, in which the life of the monarchy may be at stake. The comparison of the present situation to the French revolution of 1789 is not too far from the truth, it is said. The masses of the people in the country are ignorant and have hitherto been entirely indifferent to the political battles which have convulsed the capital. Lisbon, for political purposes, is Portugal, and the Republicans are confident that the influence of the capital, which they assert is most unanimously Republican, will sound the knell of the monarchy.

Disinterested opinion, however, does not consider Portugal ripe for a republic. It believes, in fact, that the country under a popular regime in the present backward state of the masses would become a prey to the ambitions of politicians, and like the Central American republics, would witness a series of popular uprisings and dictatorships. Nevertheless the fear exists in these quarters that the monarchy is doomed. The young king, Manuel, has yielded to the enemies of his father and Franco. They have persuaded him to renounce the dictatorship and to begin as a strictly legislative sovereign, but above all to place himself in their hands. Under the present circumstances the course of the king is most dangerous, as he has turned the throne over to the leaders of the two discredited old parties—men whose past prevents them from meeting their adversaries in the open field of political discussion and who the people will insist must be disciplined.

Marconi Hopeful.
LONDON, Feb. 25.—Signor Marconi, in the course of his lengthy address to the Liverpool Chamber of Commerce on "Telegraphy Thru Space and Some of Its Commercial Applications," said in about four months when the latest apparatus was installed, they would be able to deal with at least 20,000 words a day.

"Don't Neglect a Cough or Cold."

It can have but one result. It leaves the throat or lungs, or both, affected. Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup is the medicine you need. It is without an equal as a remedy for Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, Sore Throat, Pain in the Chest, Asthma, Whooping Cough, Quinsy and all affections of the Throat and Lungs.

A single dose of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup will stop the cough, soothe the throat, and if the cough or cold has become settled on the lungs, the healing properties of the Norway Pine Tree will proclaim its great virtue by promptly eradicating the bad effects, and a persistent use of the remedy cannot fail to bring about a complete cure.

Do not be humbugged into buying so-called Norway Pine Syrup, but be sure and insist on having Dr. Wood's. It is put up in a yellow wrapper, three pine trees the trade mark, and price 25 cents.

CHRONIC BRONCHITIS

Mr. Wm. O'Hara, Souris, Man., writes: "Having suffered for a long time with a severe attack of Chronic Bronchitis, which I could not get cured, I eventually tried Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup and I am glad to state it has given me a complete cure."

Hurry Up Now.
Messrs. Sellers-Gough announce that there are only a few days left now of the big fur sale, and in consequence prices have received a further cut that brings every line down to the lowest notch. Yesterday was a busy day at the big fur store; in fact, almost equal to any of the others. It's really wonderful now the interest keeps up. The price of it is the numbers of people who are still attending the sale. During the selling yesterday large numbers of visitors from adjacent towns were present. It is a splendid opportunity for those who have the ready cash to secure the biggest bargains in fur this city has ever seen. The sale is on again to-day and readers of The World would do well to look over the advertisement.

Calve in London.
The musical event of the past week in London, Ont., was the wonderfully successful concert given there by Calve, the world-famous prima donna. This favorite star of the concert platform, with her dark and splendid personality and majestic figure, completely won the hearts of her hearers from her first entrance on the stage. She proved herself to be exactly what the world needed, a singer of operatic fame. Added interest was given to the concert in the fact that it was the privilege of Calve to use at this London concert, as she did a year or more ago when in Massey Hall, Toronto, a grand piano of the old firm of Heintzman & Co. Personally she did not hesitate to say how delighted she had been with this instrument, which stood parallel, if not superior, to any instrument that she has used anywhere in the wide world over, in her many brilliant musical functions.

She was born at St. Denis, County of Kamouraska, in June, 1803.

JURY "TOSSED" TO DECIDE JUDGE FINES THE DOZEN

Multed $50 Each for Contempt of Court—They Had Been Hopelessly Divided.

NEW YORK, Feb. 25.—Justice Guy in the New York Supreme Court today aside the verdict of a jury to-day and fined twelve jurors $50 each for deciding the verdict by the flip of a coin. The case was a suit brought against the New York City Railway Company for damages in causing the death of a child.
One of the jurors, explaining the verdict, said that the jury was hopelessly divided, and that one of the members had "tossed" the coin. The judge said he was not at all surprised at the verdict, and that he was not at all surprised at the verdict, and that he was not at all surprised at the verdict.

POLICYHOLDERS' CASE SUBMITTED AT OTTAWA

J. J. Harpell Gives Figures to Show Alleged Injustices—Matters of Expense.

OTTAWA, Feb. 25.—The hearing of deputations by the banking and insurance committee is nearly over, and after the passing of the evidence the bill will be taken up clause by clause.

J. J. Harpell appeared before the committee on behalf of the Policyholders' Association to show "how fallacious" were the arguments of the insurance men. The man wanted no restrictions, and wanted to be in a position to carry insurance abuses further than in the past. He had taken the "high and mighty" stand of not even reading the report of the insurance commission. The insurance men, according to Mr. Harpell, had been taken from an insurance work of one Kelcey of New York, superintendent of life insurance there, Governor of New York, and Mr. Harpell, was seeking to remove Mr. Kelcey, on the ground that his work had not been properly done.

Many Policies Have Lapsed.
Coming to the companies' figures for 1906, Mr. Harpell, taking old and new business together, said that, while the Canadian companies represented the insurance written as $70,000,000, they had lost in lapsed policies and policies not taken about $25,000,000, which should be deducted. In the case of one Toronto company, against a business of $4,000,000 there was a total of $800,000 of not taken insurance.

This, according to Mr. Harpell, worked out as a great injustice to the paying policyholders, because the cash premiums had to carry the risks of the losses brought in by the lapsed policies, this insurance being good until the notes matured, when much of it lapsed. Mr. Harpell cited the case of the North American Life and of the Union Life. He said the latter in 1906 wrote $6,800,000, while the lapsed and not taken business was $3,365,000. The Imperial Life in 1906 wrote new Canadian business of $2,000,000, while the lapsed amounted to $1,800,000.

Want of Confidence.
Mr. Harpell argued that the shrinkage in business in 1907 spoken of by insurance men was not due to the causes assigned. It was in part due to want of confidence and in part to the limitation of amount of insurance which companies could make. "Because of irregularities found by the royal commission in Canada, the business of Canadian companies in 1907 fell off by $7,000,000 to $8,000,000. The companies in which irregularities had been shown were the greatest losers."

Would Keep Down Expenses.
He advocated that expenses could be kept down to 60 per cent. in the first year's business, and 5 per cent. on renewals. This, he estimated, would leave a surplus of $1,000,000 to the policyholders. In the best British companies the highest percentage of expenses was 70 per cent. "Where did you get that figure?" E. B. Osler asked.

"From the evidence given before the Armstrong committee," was the answer. "Then," said Mr. Osler, "you must leave a sample of your own work." Mr. Harpell said there is a manager in England whose salary is $100,000 a year. "The president of the Bank of England," said Mr. Harpell, "only gets £200 a year."

The jury decided that any young actuary had left the Manufacturers' Life and gone to the United States, and that the company was in a change might be due to insufficient salary inducement in Canada.

G. G. O'Donoghue, parliamentary representative of the Trades and Labor Congress, moved that the committee be requested for a government department of industrial insurance. The conditions offered by the committee for this class of insurance he described as too onerous, the rates being too high, and the lapses as frequent. In passing, he commended the government annuities plan in the direction of old-age pensions.

POWERS OF RAILWAYS.

Mining and Lumbering Rights Give Undue Influence.

OTTAWA, Feb. 25.—The bill for the extension of the charter rights of the Niagara, St. Catharines and Toronto Railway Company was read a second time before the adjournment of the railway committee, but was laid over by agreement until Tuesday next, when it is understood that the cities of Toronto and Hamilton will ask for the insertion of amendments for the better protection of municipal rights.

Hon. George P. Graham, minister of railways, raised the point whether the bill should be amended so as to give the railway companies the right to engage in mining and lumbering, and other enterprises of this kind. The granting of such powers to railway companies resulted in companies gaining control of whole districts in the United States, and considerable trouble had been caused by railroads obtaining the control of coal areas.
