MAYOR AND ALDERMEN NEGOTIATE THE TICKLER

Staid Members of the Civic Corporation Do Stunts at the Beach.

"Beautiful, beautiful,, the Temple of Music, look thru the door, his worship the mayor and the aldermen are inside, delighted with the greatest musical entertainment ever presented peautiful, peautifui."

The "spieler" at Scarboro Beach on Saturday night, who found the members of council among his patrons, was quick to proclaim the fact as proof of the excellence of his attraction. Most of the spielers had the opportunity for the members of the corporation overlooked little in their search

It was civic night at Scarboro Beach and the mayor and all his satellites were there in state. Controllers, aldermen, members of the civic press gallery, heads of civic departments, secretaries, their wives and sweet-hearts followed his worship over the big park and properly "did" all of the concessions, not forgetting the Tickler. The mayor with his straw hat on the back of his head, hands in his pockets, a cigar in his mouth and a benign smile illuminating his classic features, was thoroly in his element. When he emerged from the human roulette wheel the crowd caught sight of him descending the stairway and cheered lustly, whereat the chief magistrate dived precipitately into the passing throng and was lost for fifteen minutes. Afterwards he was careful not to attract further attention to himself and atthe Blake circus the spieler even mistook Ald. Church for the mayor and asked him how he could do it and still keep looking so young. And by the way the second ward's favorite son was rather shabbily treated by the Blake people who run the circus. It appears that a prize is offered nightly to the intrepid horseman who is able to spend a few moments with Maud, the malevolent mule, with out being assisted by this gracious creature thru the roof of the tent. Ald. Church had fully intended entering the contest armed with the knowledge learned from Joe Wright. As his entry Bread Co. The funeral will take place was being prepared, however, the ring on Monday. naster without notice announced that Ald. Church was barred on account of city side, was struck and rendered un-alleged professionalism ess to say the decision arous Needless to say the decision aroused the liveliest protests, and it was freely stated that the unfair discrimination against the athletic alderman criginated with the mule itself, which heard of its challenger's prowess and had absolutely refused to go on. The plausibility of this theory was strengthened by the fact that the mule's manager, Mr. Casey, offered both the mayor and Controller Harrison inducements to enter the ring, but as neither had trained for the moment and when the lightings are now the economic of the shock, among whom was a young may who was laughing just at the thunderstorm on Friday evening.

NORTH TORONTO, June 21.—Chief Constable Collins had the misfortune to break his right arm just below the elbow on Saturday afternoon. Having coasion to go to the pumping station on his wheel he dismounted going down the steep grade near the power house. Being half way down he thought he could do the rest of the way on his wheel, but lost control of incomposed to the mayor and Controller Harrison inducements to enter the ring, but as neither had trained for the eyemst, negotiations, so far as they were concerned, were off.

There were easily fourteen thousand people at the park, and the municipal body had difficulty in making its way to the various other attractions, but finally they were all negotiated, including the scenic railway, chutes, infant incubator, airship, tours, cascades, Temple of Music, House of Mirth and the various other devices of the park. A fitting finale was a trip down the "Tickler," which shook the visitors up a good deal and which Ald. Keeler likened to a stormy meeting at Brockton Hall. Afterwards the host of the occasion, W. H. Moore, entertained his guests with a cold collation and everybody drank each other's health in the justly famous Scarboro Beach root beer, the most lation and everybody drank each other's health in the justly famous Scarboro Beach root beer, the most desperate beverage which the park affords. Editor World: Will you kindly stir up the proper authorities to what is a standing disgrace to this fair city of ours. I refer to the condition of the sidewalk on Yonge-street between Carlton and Queen-streets after a rainfall. The walk is a series of miniature lakes of varying depths, which is not only ruinous to shoes and clothing, but must be unsanitary as well. For the main pedestrian artery of a great city to remain in that condition is to give visitors a very poor impression at a tone of fraternal organization.
