THE HIPPODROME.

"Sowers and Reapers," the Metro wonder play, starring that talented film favorite, Anna Wrenn, will headline the bill at the Hippodrome next week. The picture tells the story of a factory girl, married and then abandoned, how she reaches the ending position in the film, how she gains a fortune and is in a position to avenge herself for her persecution, but stays her hand in a series of thrilling scenes. Headley, Le Rue and Company present a quaint little pastoral comedy, entitled "The Domine." "Little Miss Flirt," a bright miniature musical comedy, features a company of clever boys and girls in new sayings, songs and dances. Mrs. Vernon Castle, supported by Marie Walcott and a host of talented stars, will be shown in the fourteenth episode of the serial "Patric," Wolford's canines, cleverly trained animals; Helen Moratti, a smart singing comedienne; Rose and Company in a feature serial act, and Hadden and Page complete a bright, well-balanced bill.

DOUBLE BILL AT MADISON.

For the first half of next week the Madison Theatre will present a successful week's engagement at the Madison Theatre. One of the two features will be Fannie Ward in "Unconquered," a powerful photograph of mother-love. The other will be Charlie Chaplin in "The Immigrant," his latest and greatest scream.

BAND CONCERTS AND ACROBATS.

Sharriss' Arab acrobats will close a successful week's engagement at Scarborough Beach with this evening's performance, and the act has been such a popular one that they are certain of a good send-off. There will be band concerts this afternoon and evening, and also on Sunday afternoon and evening.

LADY ROSS CHAPTER'S GIFT.

Donation of Three Thousand Five Hundred to War Veterans' Club. "A good beginning makes a good ending," is an old and well-tried adage and in connection with the permanent club for the Great War Veterans, the gift of $3,500 from the Lady Ross Chapter, L.O.D.E., of which Mrs. R. H. Cameron is regent, should prove a success for the enterprise. The money was made at the "Piccadilly Circus" held last September, the motive of the workers being to apply the receipts to a permanent home for returned men. In giving it to the movement inaugurated under Miss Church, the chapter is fulfilling its original idea and at the same time is giving a fine lesson in co-operation. Another chapter of the Daughters of the Empire, who decided to send a handsome donation to the object, is the Union Jack Chapter, which donated $500 to the purpose.

GIRL WORKERS WANTED.

Scores of girls to work in the canneries and on the farms are still wanted, applications and appeals coming in large numbers for this kind of help. The work in the canneries has been going on for some time in the fruit areas and many of the girls employed are from the colleges and University of Toronto. Provision has been made for lodging and other protection for the girl workers, all of which is looked after by the Y.W.C.A. Application should be made to the Government Employment Bureau at 164 Bay Street, or at the new office at 15 King Street east.

NATURAL CAUSES WERE RESPONSIBLE

Coroner's Jury Returns Verdict in Case of Stoutley Infant.

CHARITIES CRITICIZED

Rider Added to Effect That Relief Methods Are Cumbersome.

After a deliberation of fifteen minutes, the jury empowered to investigate the cause of death of baby Louise Stoutley, returned a verdict, "Death from natural causes. At the morgue last night, Coroner Fred Winnet, in summing up the evidence to the jury, stated that death was caused from natural causes, and he suggested that the jury might express its opinion as to the working of the different relief societies. At the opening session of the investigation, Attorney Greer charged that there were too many "uplift societies," in view of the conflicting evidence as to the amount of assistance the mother of the child had received.

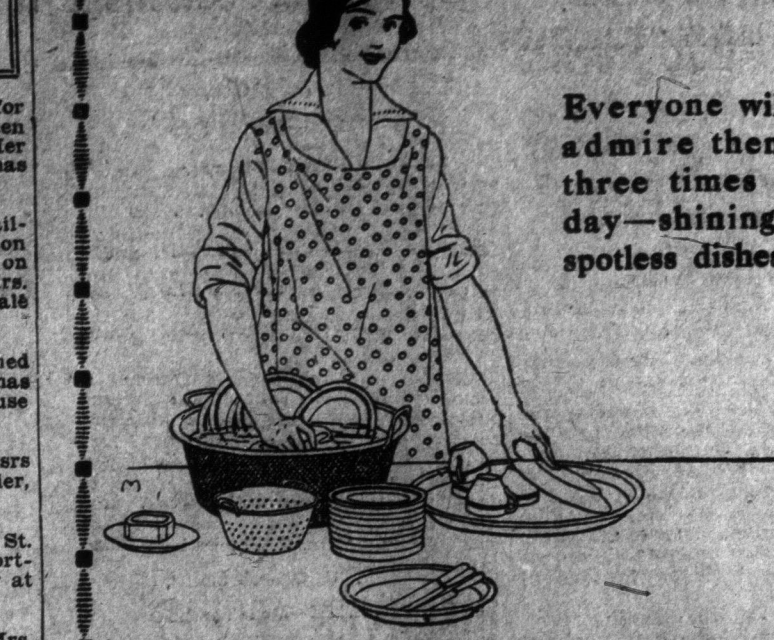

Attached to the verdict the jurymen stated that they had come to the conclusion that the methods adopted governing the proceedings of the charities societies are cumbersome and expensive.

They also declared that if the proper authorities were vested in a lesser number of societies it would be to the advantage of the recipients of their bounty.

Mrs. Stoutley was present, and informed the court that she was living on Parliament street and being well cared for. To Crown Representative Greer she said that she would not return to North Bay until September on account of ill-health.

A Jackman, secretary of the North Bay branch of the Canadian Patriotic Fund, forwarded a letter to The World stating that Mrs. Stoutley and her family were under their care from July 8 to December, 1916. The letter states that she received $23.50 a month, in addition to the government separation allowance and assigned pay. When she decided to move to Toronto on January 15, 1917, representatives of the association endeavored to persuade her to stay at North Bay. When she left, her name was transferred to the Toronto branch.

IMPERIAL MUNITIONS BOARD MERELY ORDERS

No Control Over Working Conditions or the Internal Economy of the Plants.

In regard to the statements that munition manufacturers are employing enemy aliens, it was learned at the office of the imperial munitions board yesterday that that body merely acts as a purchasing agent and has no control over the working conditions or the men employed in any of the plants. This information was given by Mark Irish, M.L.A., a member of the board, in the absence of Sir Joseph Flavelle, who was in Ottawa.

One munition man claims that there are enemy aliens in every plant in the city and that all the orders for 18 pound shrapnel and high explosive shells are being discontinued on account of the cheap labor resulting in a poor product.

One of the Canadian General Electric officials stated that the government was to blame for lack of supervision over the movements of aliens. "I do not know if there are any alien enemies working in munition plants or not, but they are working somewhere or starving, because they are not in jail," he said.

The government should either lock them up or let them work. So far as he knew, there was no regulation against alien enemies except regarding registration. Beyond that they could go where they please, make as much as they liked, and put it in the bank in their own name. If not satisfied with the wages paid they could go on strike for more money and in no way was their liberty curbed.

The munition manufacturers, when asked regarding the allegations, absolutely denied that they had any alien enemies in their employ and scouted the idea that 18 pound shell orders were being discontinued.

PRINCIPAL MORRISON MAY SUE FOR LIBEL

Board of Education is Not United in Approving Report of Special Committee.

Considerable difference of opinion still exists as to the way in which the special committee of the board of education dealt with the case of Principal W. G. Morrison of Fape Avenue school. Practical statements made by trustees, it may be gathered there will be some move made towards reorganization in the school. Chief Inspector Cowley and Inspector Ward are charged with the duty of reporting on relations existing between Mr. Morrison and his staff.

Principal Morrison has made no statement other than that he will accept the advice of his solicitors, and may start a libel suit for damages.
