PROHIBITIONISTS OPEN CONVENTION

Ontario Branch of Alliance Expresses Gratification at Hotels' Closing.

WANT DOMINION ACT

Dominant Note Sounded Demands No Let-Up Until Victory is Nation-Wide.

Gratification for the success which has attended their campaign against the liquor traffic, and enthusiasm for still liquor traffic, and enthusiasm for still preater efforts in the future was manifested by the hundreds of delegates who sathered at Massey Hall yesterday for the provincial prohibition convention unter the ausaces of the Ontario branch of the Dominion Allience. This year's convention brings with it the laurels of victory after many years of struggle, but the dominant note sounded by the speakers was that there must be no let-up on the part of the workers until a victory that means Dominion-wide prohibition is consummated.

The convention opened at 2 o'clock in the afternoon with the address of welcome by Mayor Church.

In the presidential address Charles E. Steele of Port Colborne expressed his pleasure at the recent action of the government in granting the franchise to women. He said the people of Ontario should be proud that they had Sir W. H. Hearst and N. W. Rowell as leaders of their parties. The gathering had the assistance of a number of speakers from the United States, chief among them being Dr. E. J. Moore of Washington, assistant general superintendent of the Anti-Sabon League of America, who delivered a clear-cut history of the fight for prohibition in his country, and a bitter denunciation of the liquor traffic.

Dr. Moore was the principal speaker at the evening meeting, which was attended by almost three thousand of the general public. His address was frequently punctuated with applause, and his statement of how the temperance movement in the United States had overcome many obstacles was followed with interest.

The Struggle of the Century.

In showing how the people of the centurles had rebelled against the liquor traffic and many attempts had been made by crowned heads to suppress it, Dr. Moore declared that history was now repeating itself. Some people, he said, thought that the fight against liquor was a small thing of weak growth, but he wished to tell them it was the struggle of the century. They osved their position today because of the movement.

"They say in the United States that "They say tury. They owed their position today because of the work and experiments of the ploneers of the movement.

"They say in the United States that you cannot make a man sober by law," he declared. "I agree with that. Some men will drink if they have to get Jamacia ginger. But I do say that, while we can't make a man sober by law, we can keep him from drink by law. When an organized business puts its slimy hand on our lads, who have reached an aage when we are most concerned about them, then I say that that business has no right to live. But whose business is it to take up this phase of the question? It is not the business of the financier, the politician, or the corporation. It is the primary business of the church to meet this question of right and wrong. meet this question of right and wrong.

"There is not a mae who was ever made a better man and not a home that was ever made a better home by the organized liquor interests. Its history has been one of black despair. There can was ever made a better home by the organized liquor interests. Its history has been one of black despair. There can be no friendship between the church and liquor, for one is the friend of the people and the other the enemy. Liquor never cleys a law until it has to. And you have first to pass the law and then force the liquor traffic to obey it.

"I am everlastingly opposed to granting compensation to those who will not compensate the thousands of people they have wrecked," he said, in conclusion. The secretary's report showed a decrease in crime between 1915 and 1916 of approximately 25 per cent., and the treasurer's statement showed that the expenditure for the var totaled $85,647.90 and the revenue $77.24.39 er. cent., and the treasurer's statement showed that the expenditure for the var totaled $85,647.90 and the revenue $77.24.39 er. cent., and the treasurer's statement showed that the expenditure for the var totaled $85,647.90 and the revenue $77.24.39 er. cent., and the treasurer's statement showed that the expenditure for the var totaled $85,647.90 and the revenue $77.24.39 er. cent., and the treasurer's statement showed that the expenditure for the var totaled $85,647.90 and the revenue $77.24.39 er. cent., and the treasurer's statement showed that there was a large falling of line the number of cases being fly company to the company of the citizens. They could go on and down the streets of Toronto and they would find everybody sober and in his right mind. If there had been any doubt as to the outcome of the vote on prohibition, he said it had been removed by the granting of the franchise to women. It should be their aim to continue in the movement until the government had finally prohibited the manufacture and sale of liquor in the Dominion. He was hopeful that in the near future it would be unlawful to ship liquor into the province.

Dr. Graham had a word of praise for the ministers of the different churches for the assistance they had given the movement, elito he estated that the hopeful that in the read been somewhat late in taking up the work. French require. As a great many French soldiers have received leave to go home to plant this season's crops, their absence from the front may delay the full force of the allded spring offensive for a few weeks.

An official communication of the Canadian war records office, issued yesterday, gives the truth concerning the Canadian operations of last week. Owing to an exaggerated unofficial report sent out from Ottawa many people believed that the Canadians had moved down to the Ancre and were engaged in a full offensive operation. In reality they successfully carried out a trench raid so large as to be classed as a minor operation. This big action extended along a frontage of 2000 yards and to a depth of 700 yards. Owing to the broken ground, pitted with shell holes, the Germans had facilities for offering a stronger resistance than usual to the rushes of the Canadians, and these also encountered resistance at the German line of supporting trenches. They reached all their objectives, however, and they remained in the German positions for an hour and a half before returning to their own line. Meanwhile they did great damage to the German trenches and dugouts. The Canadians lost Lieut.-Col. Kemball, C.B., of Vancouver, and Lieut.-Col. Beckett of Toronto, who were killed while leading their men. On the whole the enterprise was a big success for the Canadians.

On the other fronts the war still keens subdued. The French have fought some fierce local actions north of the Caurieres Wood, on the eastern bank of the Meuse. On the eastern front winter trench warfare till prevails. In Persia, the Russians, after driving the enemy from Hamadan, have pursued him close to the frontier, and they are now scaling a mountain range and passing the summits. The Turks are also receding before the Russians in the Bitlis region,
