They are necessarily conducted with the utmost secrecy, the Russian government's espoinage over them even here, despite com-plaints from the Danish authorities, being extremely close. A sort of head-quarters has nevertheless been established in Copenhagen, where men iden-tified with the independence movement are constantly coming and going in connection with the enterprise.

Enough is known of their deliberations, however, to render it certain that they are delaying just at present pending reports from emissaries at other capitals throughout Europe and perhaps in America concerning the support the Finns are to receive from abroad in an attempt to resist the Czar. They realize, of course, that in a straight fight with Russia they must certainly be beaten. William Oliphant again went into the witness box when the case was umed. He was taken over the purchase of the property and his dealings in it by W. J. Taylor, K. C., city barrister. On an appeal to the court by witness his lordship held that the question was perfectly fair, and when it was the view, he announced, "of showing the utter nonsense and absurdity of the whole claim." In addition to claiming for the original cost of the land plaintiff claimed additional sums for portion of the same land which he had given to the city on Vancouver, Cook and Sutlej streets for street widening and straightening purposes. A further claim was for a house and lot value

If the budget had been passed as sual last year, he said, there would have een a surplus of $21,000,000.

The Prince does not seem to relish the idea of his rustication, but the Kaiser is consoling him with the fact that Frederick the Great declared that the time he spent, when heir, in command of a provincial regiment was the happiest of his life.

Another of the Kaiser's sons, Princ Eitel Frederick, is attracting attention at the moment. The eyes of all pious Germans have just been turned to Jerusalem where, on April 9th, the Prince was present at the consecration of the German church and hospice, to Jerusalem, for a few days, was in possession of Germans. The visitors were largely Protestant and for this reason there was a tremendous rush on the hotels and boarding houses, the Latin convents-usually the hosts of tourists-not being available.

The church, which rises on the Mount of Olives, over against Jerusalem, will e devoted to services of the Lutheran creed, while the hospice will serve as a convalescent home for sick and suf-fering Germans in Palestine and adjacent parts. With all its modern appliances it is likely to offer a striking contrast to the ancient associations and surroundings of the holy place. Its management will be under the care of the Knights of St. John, the famous Knights Hospitallers, who have carried on their work of tending the sick and wounded since the sixth century. The Kaiser is especially interested in the foundation, both because the ground on which it is built was the gift from a sultan of Turkey to his ancestor, Frederick William III., and be-
