GENERAL SENDS WORD HE'S COMING

GENERAL BOOTH.

A message from General Booth was read at the session of the Salvation Army congress yesterday afternoon. In his message the general extended his greetings to the officers assembled here, made kindly reference to Col. Gaskin and urged the officers to work aggressively for the good of the Army and the salvation of the people. He also stated that it was his intention to visit Canada next spring, if it was God's will that he should do so.

The congress called an answer to the venerable father of the Army, expressing appreciation of the message, assurance of fidelity to the flag and principles of the Army, and the hope that the general would be spared to visit St. John.

At the morning session Col. Gaskin delivered two addresses—one on God and the other on mutual responsibility. At the afternoon session the colonel spoke on the sources of strength. The other speakers were Ensign Hargrove, Mrs. Adjutant Ritchie, Adj. Baird, Capt. Davis, Capt. Sternberg and Capt. Barr.

At the evening session Col. Gaskin spoke from the text: "I'm not ashamed of the Gospel of Christ." Capt. and Mrs. Barr made short addresses, bidding the Colonel goodbye and Godspeed.

Appointments Made.

The following appointments were made yesterday:

Capt. Major and Lieut. Ellis to St. Stephens; Capt. Bent of Yarmouth to Freeport, N. S.; Capt. Miller and Lieut. Bartley to Amherst; Capt. Smith of St. John to Montreal; Lieut. Rix from Digby to Sussex.

Col. and Mrs. Gaskin of the Salvation Army left on the express for Halifax last night. About fifty officers were at the Depot to farewell the Colonel and sang a number of hymns just before the train left.

WEDDINGS.

St. Paul's church was the scene of a quiet wedding yesterday afternoon at 5.15 o'clock, when the rector, Rev. E. B. Hooper, pronounced the words that united in the bonds of matrimony William Fraser Napier and Miss Mary Kilgour Shives, daughter of the late Kilgour Shives of Campbellton. The bride was accompanied by her brother, and was given away by her brother, and was given in an appropriate travelling costume. The church was decorated for the occasion with palms and cut flowers. The organ, and as the happy couple entered and left the church, rendered appropriate nuptial music. After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Napier left on the Montreal express for a tour in Upper Canada. Guests were present from all parts of Eastern Canada and from Maine. The decorations of Trinity church were rarely beautiful. Potted plants were plentiful, alternating with ferns and smilax, while white and yellow chrysanthemums decorated the altar. A special programme of music added to the brilliancy of the occasion, the solos of Mrs. George Mitchell, of Cobalt, Ont., holding the large congregation entranced. The bridesmaids were Miss Edith K. Edgecombe, of Fredericton and Miss Katie L. Baird, of Toronto. Mrs. J. D. Polard Lewis, of St. John, was matron of honor, while Miss Muriel Baird, of Perth, was page. Wm. LOOKING FOR TRUTH

Japanese Writer Makes Observations on What He Considers Flaws in Adam's Story—On Solar System

(Letter 4.)

In my previous letters I endeavored to show why I was compelled to abandon the idea that the Garden of Eden story was a literal fact, and if my view was correct, to indicate how it must affect orthodox Christian theology, and this naturally draws me into it must be perfect?

If there is a great infinite being with every attribute infinite and perfect, the Creator and controller of all things that exist, the plans in connection with human beings, if I made them, must be perfect, and the plan as explained by what is known as orthodox theology, or Christianity, is the correct explanation, where will it lead us to, admitting, I think it is impossible to avoid, that it must be perfect?

I believe it will be conceded by every broad-minded thinker, that this life world of ours is not the only plane in the universe inhabited by intelligent beings. Comparatively speaking the thinnest atom that sparkles in the sunbeam, would not be small enough to make a comparison of our world with the worlds in space. Astronomers tell us, if we would take the space between our earth, and some of the fixed stars, and cube it, our whole solar system would be no more in comparison than one drop of water to the water on the face of the globe. They also tell us that with their present telescopes, one hundred million stars or worlds are visible.

In measuring distances they use what is called light years, which means the distance a ray of light will travel in a year, viz., 25,000,000 multiplied by 63,000, and they have gone so far as to suggest that the boundaries of the universe are in a radius of 30,000 light years. Those are distances the mind cannot grasp. But how many millions of millions of worlds this means. Surely astronomers are placing themselves in a very peculiar position by assuming that space is limited to a radius of 30,000 light years. Do they then come to a blank wall, where everything is stopped and nothing beyond? Have astronomers grasped what they mean by virtually placing a limit to infinity and presuming to tell where it stops? Thus annihilating infinity itself.

I cannot take that view of it, and beg to suggest one which I will illustrate by supposing four railway trains starting from a central point, say London, one going north, one south, one east, one west, going with the velocity of light, 180,000 miles a minute. Those trains would run to all eternity and never reach the end of space. And this filled with worlds and systems of worlds, which figures would lose their powers to define, controlled by a mind as infinite as space and its contents.

Confining ourselves to this view of space beyond conception, words without number, and an infinite being or mind controlling it all, is it supposable for a moment that this little speck of a world of ours is the only planet with intelligent beings upon it? If there are others, there must be countless millions of them. And were the inhabitants placed upon them under the same conditions as on this world? Were they made immortal? Did they lose it by violating a divine command? If so did they all require the same sacrifice to redeem them? How many millions of times would that sacrifice have to be made? Considering as we must, that the creation of worlds has been going on from all eternity past, and will continue to all eternity, carrying with it as it does such stupendous conceptions, as grow out of it, can it be possible that Christian theologians have correctly solved what they call the problem of the Divine Plan in connection with this world of ours?

Fifth Anniversary.

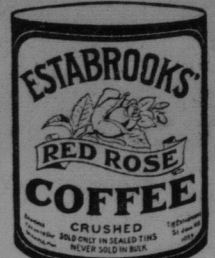

A merry party of city folks joined forces with others in the suburban district Tuesday evening in paying respect to Mr. and Mrs. James McTavish, of New Land, Marsh Road, who thus celebrated their fifth wedding anniversary. A very pleasant evening was spent during which F. J. Rafferty, on behalf of the assembled guests, presented the bride and groom of half a decade with a fine centre table. There were complimentary speeches by Messrs. J. McCarron, L. Donovan, and P. J. Rafferty, to which both Mr. and Mrs. McTavish responded with hearty thanks. It was a very happy occasion and not until the break of day did the city friends get back in buckboards.

In Air-Tight Tins until it reaches your home.

Why?

Because coffee, after it is roasted, whether bean, ground or crushed, must be kept in absolutely air-tight packages. Otherwise it quickly loses flavor and strength. This is one of the reasons why we never sell coffee in bulk to be ground in the store when you buy it. It must be protected from the air from the very start.

Our tins are double sealed. First there is a band put on the seam where the cover joins the tin, then over this band the label is placed, doubly sealing it and making it absolutely air-tight.
