An Ulsterman The Preacher At Knox

Rev. Captain Thomas Harrison Occupied Pulpit in Knox Church Yesterday—Also Addressed Sunday School at Rally Service.

The people of Knox Church heard with pleasure again this eloquent Ulsterman.

Capt. Harrison spoke in the morning on "Christian Growth," and in a way peculiar to himself traced the growth of a human soul to Christian perfection.

In the afternoon he addressed the Sunday School rally, founding his remarks on the rally text, "What our home means to us." In a helpful and inspiring address he said the home means safety, rest, companionship, development and education.

In the evening, his theme was "Memorial Stones," from Joshua 4:1 chapter: "And when your children's children shall ask you what meaneth these stones? ye shall answer, Your fathers crossed over this Jordan." The first act after crossing, said the Captain, was a religious act; the first bit of Canaan they took possession of was hallowed as a memorial site; setting there anything analogous to which we ought to do? and would there be any advantage in doing it? Let us see what this action would suggest as our proper course. In a foretold sermon, full of oratorical skill he said: First, we should all take special measures to remember our mercies; 2nd, it is a duty to report to others as well as to remember for ourselves the mercies of God; 3rd, make your memorial as enduring as possible. They were to set up twelve stones, something that would endure, that could give testimony to many generations; as a matter of fact they did remain till probably some centuries after the destruction of Jerusalem; 4th, that the lessons of the memorial should especially reach our children. No one should despair of the future of a land in which parents can engage the ear of children with the story of their sacred experience. Is there not too much reticence between parents and children on the greatest of all themes? If our hearts were more devout would it be impossible for us without undue detail to charge our children with a sense of what we owe to our Redeemer.

City Cornet Band's Forty-Fifth Year

Will Open Its Seventh Around the World Fair in St. Andrew's Rink This Evening—A Big Event Well Planned.

In the City Cornet Band the city has a musical organization which works but five years to complete its golden jubilee. That is a record of which there is much to be said. During the forty-five years of its existence the band has ever been a real live institution and has, at all times, been willing to assist in any matter of public interest. To the enterprise of the band the city owes the erection of the splendid stand in King Square, and, during the late war, the organization was ever to the fore in all matters relating to the success of our war efforts. The City Cornet Band is, therefore, an institution in which the City of St. John has every reason to pride itself. Tonight in St. Andrew's rink the band will open its seventh "Around the World" Fair. In connection with the big event citizens also have the opportunity of winning trip tickets around the world or shorter distances or cash prizes to a total value of $1,200. These tickets may be secured at the rink or from any of the bandmen and, as they usually go very swiftly, intending purchasers should make their purchases without delay. Opportunity is also given to win a $150.00 cash prize by purchasing a ten cent ticket. There are all the tickets that will be sold apart from the entrance fee of ten cents.

Patrons of the fair will see much which will interest them. The replica of Niagara Falls is in itself worthy of notice, yet it is but one of the many novel ideas worked out. There are a great variety of means whereby a couple of hours' solid enjoyment may be had. In addition to this musical concert will be given this evening.

The band has never yet made an error of judgment which fell short of anticipation. The fair which will be opened this evening and will run for one week will be but another chapter in the book of splendid achievements to the record of the City Cornet Band.

CHARGED WITH THEFT.

Special Rally Day Services Were Held

"The Home and God's Work" Was Central Theme Considered in First Presbyterian Church Services in West St. John Yesterday.

"The Home and God's Work" was the central theme considered at the rally day service held at the First Presbyterian church, West Side, yesterday afternoon. The order of service used was one which was prepared by a joint committee of Sunday School boards of the Congregational, Baptist, Methodist and Presbyterian churches. The reproduction of a famous painting by G. A. Reid, B. C. A. called "Family Worship," was on the cover of the pamphlet. Hymns, responsive readings, and addresses by the associate superintendent of the Sunday school, Leonard Wilson, and Rev. Dr. J. A. Morrison made up the program.

Leonard Wilson spoke on the occasion and explained the procedure to be followed by the various churches. On the platform were also the superintendent of the Sunday school, A. W. Fraser, and the honorary superintendent, J. R. Cameron.

The address by the pastor of the church, Rev. Dr. J. A. Morrison, dealt with the value of the home and how the church, Sunday school and home may help one another. Dr. Morrison said that the word "home" is Anglo-Saxon, coming from the root "ham," and that the use of the expression "my home" usually marks the person of British birth. The French have no word for home. He showed the scholars how it has been planned by the Almighty that a child should grow up slowly in contrast to the animals whose growth is a matter of a few years and thus the child has the benefit of parental training and education.

After the benediction the teachers held a meeting in the vestry for the purpose of organizing for the coming year. The meeting was presided over by Leonard Wilson and various committees were appointed. All the members of the Sunday school will be in working order next Sunday at two-thirty.

Evening Service.
Opening the service on behalf of the Sunday school and its work in the evening, Rev. Dr. Morrison offered the following prayer: "Be pleased, O God, to raise up amongst us more people to undertake the blessed work of fatherly and self-sacrificing joy, and inspire with the love of souls the souls whom Thou hast loved. May the Good Shepherd be with the church instructed by the multitude of His lambs who now have no fold and no shepherd."

The text was taken from Deut. 32-4, "And thou shalt teach them diligently unto thy children," and the subject was "The Work of the Sunday School for the Nation." Dr. Morrison said: "Any great public movement is usually the length and shadow of one man. For instance, Quakerism, George Fox; Methodism, John Wesley; Presbyterianism, John Knox; the Sunday school, Robert Raikes. Though the school and institution is the length and shadow of one man, still there are other elements of the organization of far greater origin. Striding up the ladder of progress, the one, from whence a movement or institution springs.

Before the discoverer was an inventor without whom his effort would have been impossible. Before the Messiah came many lesser prophets appeared. It is God who calls up the man and prepares him for his work and helps him to overcome his difficulties. Yet tonight we are not thinking especially of Robert Raikes, but rather of the Sunday School movement. Think of the large body which the Sunday School has opened for church service. This service is not confined to the ordained pastors but is open to all men. Without the Sunday school how could the church and to mankind, the noblest endeavor would have been lost to the church and to mankind. After expressing his honor for those who had made such honorable voluntary service to the Sunday school, the preacher emphasized the point that the Sunday school formed a link of incalculable strength between the church and the nation. The poor insensate set a feeling of love for those who care for their children.

Another point referred to was that in Canada there is an open door to the highest station in every boy and girl. There are no bars that offer an insurmountable obstacle to those who have character, courage and the force to fight their way through. Today as in our social economy how many of our parents, as well as their own plethoric, are proud of the fact that from a humble childhood by the plea of parents, as well as their own plethoric, early nurtured they have advanced to the very highest place in the land?

How many of the heads of notable families trace their success back to the influence of Sunday school lessons—lessons of honesty, industry, diligence and moral self-restraint and have developed those qualities in those sterling characteristics upon which the safety, health and wealth of the nation depend.

In making the announcements, Dr. Morrison gave notice that the vestry of the Kirk will be open Monday and Tuesday evening from 7 to 9 o'clock for the purpose of registering the women of the congregation or any others who may desire to have their names on the voters' list. An official will be present to see that the applications are made in legal form.

On Tuesday evening W. A. Nelson of Fairville, principal of Winter Street School, will be the officer.

Rev. F. S. Fraser and S. H. Davis were the speakers at the Rally Day exercises in German Street Baptist Sunday School yesterday. There was a large attendance and a special rally program was carried out.

The morning service in St. Matthew's Presbyterian church yesterday was given over to the Rally Day exercises of the Sunday School. There were short addresses and then certificates were presented for attendance during the year.

Zion Methodist Church Rally Day

Yesterday Rev. M. E. Conron Preached at Both Services and Also Addressed the Sunday School—All Services Most Impressive.

The Rally Day services in Zion Methodist Church were largely attended yesterday. At the evening service Rev. M. E. Conron preached upon the dignity of Sunday School work and the strategic position of the Sunday School in the life of the church. The school offered a great opportunity to reach the young life when it was most plastic. There was also a great chance for the grown-ups, too, in those times when so many people do not understand the will and the workings of God. The great unrest of the present time was caused by the people not being near enough to God, and the remedy for this unrest was a closer relationship with God.

An open session of the Sunday School was held during the afternoon when there was a large attendance. Rev. Mr. Conron spoke on the two ideas of Rally Day. First, the world was so built and the people were so dependent on one another for evil or good. An apple would not rot alone in a barrel but caused others to go bad, so the bad girl or boy had a bad influence on the whole community. Also a log would not burn alone but several logs together made a bright flame, so for work all must get together and work as a unit.

Within the last few weeks the choir of Zion Church has been greatly enlarged and improved.
