THE LAURIER DEMONSTRATION. It is amusing to notice the references which have been made by so many papers to the large procession of students, last Tuesday evening, and in a few cases some political significance seems to have been wrongly attributed thereto.

WE ARE BRITONS. It seems that in these days the Canadian people are becoming more and more conscious of the reality of their illustrious kinship and the glory that is theirs.

These are great days for us. We cannot move northward without a well as we will hereafter in the days that are before us.

And who would deny it? That little sea-begirt island is the home of statesmen who have shaped the destiny of millions of souls.

With the establishment of a University Alumni Association, a decided step in progress has been taken, if such an association were needed at any university that university was Toronto.

There is rather an amusing incident told at the expense of one of our most popular professors. A green, green fresher, perhaps we might say to speak more academically, a verdant unconscious member of the first year, approached this certain member of the faculty, mistaking him for O. ye gods! the janitor!

ment look after it." Thus we escape Scylla to fall into the jaws of Carybdis. It is at this crisis of affairs that the Alumni Association comes to the rescue.

cal distinctions of a senior from a freshman.

Mr. H. G. O'Leary, '02, is back again. We have a note from a fourth year English lecture, in speaking of Wordsworth, the learned professor said:

Mr. Graham Stewart, '00, has been away on a geological survey in Northern Ontario. Mr. Stewart is looking as if surveying in the northern wilds is conducive to good health.

It seems that the poor freshies this year are making more egregious blunders than usual. Some statisticians who make a study of crimes, marriages, suicides, etcetera, could possibly throw some light upon this year's record of freshie blunders.

Mr. J. P. McGregor, '02, who so valiantly led the "Old Lits" in their election yell, will soon be back at Varsity, having his lungs and wind in excellent shape for next year.

The presidents of the different years through the suggestion of Mr. A. I. Fisher, '01, hired two hacks for several of the Varsity ladies who were found sitting smiling on the library steps on the afternoon of the games.

Editor Varsity (who has passed the man at the door who takes the tickets).

Mr. C. S. Chant, B.A., lecturer in physics, is at present taking post-graduate work in Harvard.

L. R. Holman, '02, Trinity, is at Varsity with '01.

MR. LANGTON'S ADDRESS. Mr. Langton, librarian of the University of Toronto, gave an address on "How to Use the Library."

Boys, try H. W. Burgess, 278 Yonge street (corner Alton).

THE DEFEAT OF DANIEL.

Once there was a studious maiden, And her brain with loyalty was laden, Late and early still she staid in O'er the dusty books of man.
