max of a number of years of general prosperity. Production has never been so great nor has labor, generally, ever been better paid.

It is natural to suppose that when the matter is adjusted some few interests will suffer. No victory of importance of any nature whatever has been achieved without some such result obtaining.

NOT A SUMMER CAMP. The present season has demonstrated the fact that the Klondike is not destined to become a summer camp.

Thus it came about that at a time when labor and capital both are presented with the very best opportunities for exerting their productive energies, they are flying at each other's throats and doing their best to bring back the evil conditions which prevailed five years ago.

Unless some unlooked for influence is brought to bear upon the situation, we are of the opinion that "hard times" may be expected in the not distant future.

YANKEES IN CANADA.

The English newspapers having started some months ago to "view with alarm" the ascendancy gained in the British Isles by Americans and American manufacturers and race horses and yachts and what not, the Canadian newspapers are now seriously discussing the advantages or disadvantages of the large influx of American citizens into the Dominion.

Occasionally an American who has no conception of real patriotism sees some advantage in becoming a subject, and occasionally the Britisher becomes a citizen. Such changes are merely individual. Each man has a perfect right to elect to which nationality he will give his allegiance.

A FEW MAY SUFFER. There may be a few people whose selfish interests are served by the fact that high freight rates are maintained. Any man who is enabled through a private pull or by some other means to get his freight into Dawson under the ordinary schedule reaps a distinct advantage through high freight schedules.

WE ARE UNABLE TO SEE, however, how the merits of the matter can be affected by any such considerations. The freight question is a matter in which all classes of people in the territory, irrespective of occupation are deeply interested.

He Went to the Farm for a Quiet Vacation. George Ade Tells of the Joys and Sorrows of a City Man in the Country.

Once there was a man who had an Aunt Hester. She was a fine manager around the house and a good one.

When he arrived there he put him in the spare bed room. It was the first time the shutters had been opened since Uncle Burton died.

Being a pale person of bilious temperament and sedentary habits, he was accustomed to a morning repast of a few berries, an egg and a small cup of coffee, mostly milk.

He was tired of the hot, blinding asphalt the endless rumbling of cabs and the sullen roar of elevated trains, the clarion whoop of the newsboy selling the fake extra, the garish display on the bill boards and the endless parade of sappy individuals in noisy shirts and $1.95 pajamas.

In wanting to get out of the hurry-burly, Albert seemed to display tall judgment in selecting Pinksburg. He knew that out there he could hear the birds sing and there would be no trolleys whizzing past.

the difference between buckwheat and red clover. They climbed barb-wire fences and tramped under the broiling sun to look at the yearlings and colts. Out of politeness, Al simulated a keen interest, but when he stopped in front of a broad, luxuriant heifer and looked at it critically, it was all a bluff.
