

THE ACADIAN.

WOLFVILLE, N. S., SEP. 6, 1889.

Only an Echo.

The patriotic articles of "Harl Harlow" seem to have aroused the ire of the Echo of the Halifax Chronicle, which has recently occupied quite a portion of its space in berating this brilliant and popular writer. This can hardly be considered unfortunate as the space thus occupied would otherwise, of course, only have been filled with some questionable scandal. It appears strange, however, that anything of a patriotic nature should prove such a veritable "red rag" to papers of this class. Our contemporary "blues" to confess that "a countryman has won distinction." Probably the Echo could spend its time more profitably blushing over its own failures and shortcomings. At any rate we do not see why it should be considered strange that a "countryman" should win honor, as the history of our Province all the way down proves that all our ablest men have been from the country. The great and mighty capital has furnished a very small proportion of Nova Scotia's notables.

Concerning Street Lamps.

The dark nights of autumn will soon be upon us again and it appears to us that it is time some action was taken to obtain sufficient lighting for our streets. The matter has been talked about often and we see no reason why the great convenience of an abundance of lights on our streets should not now be had. The outlay necessary would not be heavy and could easily be borne by our people. We have now a number of oil lamps, erected by private enterprise, which are doing good service. A sufficient number of such lamps to provide plenty of light for the town would cost much and would be good enough. We had hoped to see the electric light in Wolfville by this time, but are told the scheme has not received enough encouragement to assure its success. At any rate we do not see anything of the kind, and good oil lamps would be in our mind, the next best. In other towns we find the inhabitants subscribing $200 for a water, gas, and electric light, and the people of Wolfville are able to meet this outlay. We hope to see the matter actively in operation in the near future.

The 35th Association.

The fourth annual meeting of the King's Co. S. S. Association was held in Canning, September 4th. In the absence of the President, Mr. W. Chapman, the chair was taken by vice president, A. A. Pines. The programme was good and well carried out, although there had to be some changes from the printed programme as appeared in the papers. There was a large representation from all parts of the county, showing a deep interest in the school. The report of the Secretary showed a good advance over last year. The officers elected for this year are: A. A. Pines, President; E. G. Foster and Mr. Baker, Vice Presidents; Rev. W. Dawson, Secy; Dr. Woodworth, Treasurer. The executive and visiting committees are nearly the same as last. The several papers read had been carefully prepared and brought discussions that must have made impressions that will result in good. The good people of Canning evidently vied with each other in making everything pleasant and profitable and the result has been that we had one of the best if not the best session of the Association. The only thing lacking was that there was not any invitation from any place for the meeting of the Association next year, but the executive are open to receive invitations.—Ours.

We have received through the courtesy of Mr. C. B. H. Starr, a very handsome and useful publication entitled Modern London. It contains interesting facts concerning the history, growth, industries, &c., of "the world's metropolis." Mr. Starr has also laid on our table a splendid photograph, size 9x11 inches, of the building of apples at Messrs. Nothard & Love's apple farms, London. Mr. Starr is Canadian agent for this firm, which was founded in 1846 and is one of the largest firms engaged in the apple business in London.

Mr. Frank A. Dixon, of Wolfville, desires that apple shippers should know that the following steamers leave Halifax: For London, Danania, 26th Sept.; a steamer, 17th Oct. For Liverpool, Nova Scotia, 16th Sept.; a steamer, 30th Sept.; Peruvian, 14th Oct. He is correspondent for Messrs. J. C. Houghton & Co., London and Liverpool, fruit brokers, and will be pleased to give any information to those who ask for it.

We had a pleasant call on Thursday from Mr. J. J. Dingwell, of the North Sydney Herald, who is spending his summer vacation visiting different towns in the Province. He expressed himself as much pleased with Wolfville.

Hantsport.

Hantsport is a pretty town and occupies a prominent place among the many fine ship building towns of our Province. The recent "boom" in ship building has given a greater impetus to the progress of the town, and the prospect for the future is good. Ship building is now going on in the yards of Messrs. Churchill and Mr. J. B. North. In the former are two steamers under course of construction. The smaller is intended as a river boat and is expected to be ready for launching this autumn. The other is a large vessel and is intended, we understand, to sail between the Province and American ports. In Mr. North's yard a fine large ship is under construction. She will be 227 feet keel and thoroughly built throughout. About forty men are now engaged upon her and it is expected she will be ready for the water early in November.

Besides these enterprises, which keep employed quite a large number of men, other industries are in operation and about being begun. The block mill of Mr. Mark Hathorn is doing a thriving business and employs a number of men. The machine shop of Mr. J. E. Mumford is also doing a large business and sending machines all over the country. Just now the place is quite elated over two new industries that are just coming into existence. These are a foundry and a door and sash factory. The former is to be conducted by a joint-stock company, most of the stock being taken up by young men of the place. The foundation is now being got ready and active work will soon be in progress. The door and sash factory will be controlled by private capital, and will be a valuable addition to the industries of Hantsport. The building is now nearly completed.

Hantsport has pretty streets, handsome residences, comfortable churches, tasty public grounds; and shows thrift and prosperity in all directions. The Baptist church is now undergoing repairs which will add much to its comfort and appearance. The vestry has been considerably improved and presents a pretty appearance; and work is now progressing on the church proper. The Episcopal are about erecting a new church which will not doubt be a credit to the town and denomination.

The people of Hantsport are kind hearted and hospitable and appear to have a big faith in the future of their town. We believe they have reason to and that they are just now upon the threshold of a very prosperous era. We say, Well done Hantsport! go on and prosper.

Dalhousie.

Dalhousie is a small, sparsely inhabited settlement in the south west of King's county. The immense granite boulders, which protrude from the soil in all directions, render the cultivation of the soil difficult; but the natural fertility of the soil, the industry of the people who till it, and the lumbering business, in which many are engaged, makes the settlement one of some thrift.

The people here enjoy, to the fullest extent, social, tea meetings, &c. On the 26th ult. was held one of the former, which attracted from Berwick and other parts of the valley enough young men and some older ones to make a merry time. The receipts of the day and evening amounted to $27. Much amusement was afforded in the sale of the jackets, with the privilege of showing their contents with the fair ones. In the evening all repaired to the hall and until daylight the young indulged in an old fashioned dance. The object of the entertainment was to raise funds to build a church. One is puzzled to know which can be characterized the religious element of the occasion—the sale, the eating or the dance.

As might be expected, it is difficult to make good roads in this granite country; but by the assistance of the Municipal Council and the Government pretty good roads are found throughout the settlement. There are in all 23 miles of road in Ward 11, and some six or seven small bridges to keep in repair. The Government has built two of the bridges and this summer gave a grant of $100 on the road. The Council expended $325. These sums and the statute money have made the roads good in most places. Mr. Murphy, Provincial engineer, Mr. Ryan, supervisor of roads, and Mr. Hand, M. P., have visited the place in the interests of the roads and people. On the road leading from Dalhousie through Lake Paul and Lake George to Morristown, a distance of 11 to 15 miles, four grants have been expended amounting to $600. This sum, I was informed, was given by Government. This in a distance of 38 miles there have been expended on the roads, this summer, $1000. Pretty good for these back settlements.

DEAR ACADIAN, Can you inform me of the benefit of our so-called Society for the Prevention of Cruelty? I notice that recently several interesting (?) dog-fights have taken place under the management of the "agent" of this society. Is it true that his presence is required on such occasions to see that the sport is not interrupted? Surely the R. P. C. had better surrender its charter and not stand a dead letter in the way of those who would use their influence to prevent and interrupt such a cruel amusement.

Visit to Masonic Grand Lodge.

Report of J. B. Davidson, Esq., P. M., delegate from St. George's Lodge to the Grand Lodge meeting, June 12th, 1889. (Published by request of Lodge.) To the Worshipful Master, Officers and Brethren of St. George's Lodge, A. F. & A. M. CONCLUDED.

Leaving the lower flat we proceeded to ascend to the top and feast our eyes on the magnificent view there presented. Away off in one direction you see the green hills of Pictou, truly named green hills, as you cannot imagine a more beautiful green than these mountains showed on this June evening. I never saw anything that could compare with them. Talk about our dikes being green, they can no more compare with the green hills of Pictou than can a desert to a cultivated field. In another direction you see the waters of Northumberland Strait, and yet farther away the island of Prince Edward; turning yet to the right a beautiful expanse of water is seen, with islands here and there rising out of it; following the same course these waters appear to be coming nearer and nearer, until the beautiful harbor of Pictou is at our feet. Leaving the Acaemy and on our return we visited the beautiful grounds of Mr. Puyvis, who owns one of the prettiest estates in the Province. In his garden can be seen a multiplicity of rare and beautiful plants and flowers; those indigenous to our own Province as well as those from abroad. Ornamental trees of almost every conceivable variety found native in this Province may be found in his miniature forest, which is close proximity to his dwelling, and you can for the once imagine yourself in the depths of a real forest. A more beautiful spruce hedge than the one in his grounds, forming a circular garden in front of his dwelling, it would be impossible to find, and a more courteous and gentlemanly person than the proprietor or his efficient gardener it has never been my good fortune to meet.

After doing these grounds we returned to our hotel well pleased with our ramble and in good condition for a night's rest. Next morning at 12 o'clock sharp we all repaired to the Lodge room, when Lodge was opened in form and procession formed and marched through the principal streets of the town to St. James' (Episcopal) church where a service was held and a most excellent Masonic discourse delivered by Rev. W. Brother G. W. McCully, Grand Chaplain, after which procession was returned and adjourned for dinner. (Your proxy is of the opinion that however desirable or praiseworthy it may be for P. and A. Masons to attend to the worship of Almighty God and to commence no great or important undertaking without first invoking his blessing; yet the practice of taking the Masonic body to a church to listen to a discourse at a time when the members are called together for the purpose of attending to the business of G. L. and are anxious to get that business attended to and get home with as little delay as possible, particularly so when the Grand Lodge refuses to pay the representatives of subordinate Lodges their travelling expenses as they did in the present instance and also at Toronto two years ago, seems to be uncalled for and without beneficial results.

The afternoon session was taken up with the usual business, particularly that of receiving and reading reports. The Grand Master's report was a voluminous and exhaustive document, containing acts, events, rulings, etc., some of which your proxy could not altogether endorse, but as this report will appear in full in the proceedings of the Most Worshipful Grand Lodge, comment by him at present is unnecessary and probably would be out of place here. The reports of the District Deputies were on the whole up to the average and had the very praiseworthy property of being at least brief. The next business in order was the report from the committee on constitution and regulations which received a very severe criticism from the brethren, and so many were the queries and interpellations when finally adopted that it would be difficult to identify it as the original document. I refer to the pamphlet received by our Lodge a short time ago entitled Ritual, authorized by the G. L. of Nova Scotia, which contained the ceremony to be used at the laying of Corner Stones, Installation of the Officers of a G. L. Dedication of the Officers of a Lodge, Grand Visitation and Regulation for, and Form of Processions. We were also presented with a burial service also called Ritual. Your proxy is of the opinion that the word Ritual should not be used in either of these connections, but in place of it either the term ceremony or service would be much better.

The Worshipful Master announced that an invitation from the brethren of Pictou had been extended to the members of G. L. to attend a ball on the evening of Wednesday, in the hall below, consequently G. L. adjourned in time to give the members an opportunity to attend. The large and commodious hall in the base of the Masonic building was beautifully decorated with hunting and mottoes and a gay assemblage of ladies and gentlemen were present. A full band was in attendance and the large and commodious hall seemed to be overflowing with anxious ones to engage in the enjoyments of the evening. Soon after the music commenced and some 25 couples were immediately upon the floor tripping the light fantastic toe, which continued with slight intermission until low twelve, when all were invited to the refreshment room, on the upper flat. Here we found tables arranged from end to end of the hall, loaded with every delicacy of the season and we were accorded a welcome and a hospitality that the ladies and gentlemen of Pictou know well how to extend. Doubtless you will have learned ere this who have been elected officers of G. L., through the daily newspapers, and to repeat them here would be unnecessary. They are all gentlemen of well known Masonic ability and will probably be able at a next meeting of G. L. to give a good account of their stewardship. Our W. M. M. W., Rev. Daniel C. Moore, I believe to be a man of sterling ability, a good scholar, a profound theologian, a fluent speaker, a prolific writer, and a faithful minister. He is an enthusiastic Mason, and will, I doubt not, use his best endeavor to promote the interest of the craft in this Province. Our G. S. R. W., Bro. Hon. William Ross is a new man and untried in the practice of his art, yet his masonic record for many years is before us and stands unblemished before the world. He has held several of the more important offices in G. L., and for a season exercised the functions of G. M. in the absence of R. W. G. M. Gen. Laurie, and performed them with credit to himself and profit to the craft, and I believe he will perform the duties of his new office with equal ability. I missed from the Lodge room many familiar faces that I had been accustomed to see there on former occasions but none more so than that of our lamented late Bro. R. W. Benjamin Curran, Esq., D. C. L., who for so many years so ably filled the important office of Grand Secretary. He it was who was ever to be found at his post and I could almost hear his musical voice, in judgment, ringing through the hall calling the roll of Lodges, as was his wont, and keeping the business running so smoothly and so well that discord was seldom known at our annual gatherings but he has gone, his column on earth is broken, but we trust he has been summoned to sit in the G. L. above, where the supreme Grand Master has labor for him and that we all may, when the hours of this earthly Lodge is closed, meet him in that Lodge where separations shall be no more. Respectfully submitted, J. B. DAVIDSON.
