CULINARY CONCEITS.

When frying eggs have the fire low and slide them about the pan to prevent burning the thin whites. Bacon should be soaked in water for three or four minutes before being fried to prevent the fat from running. When making layer cakes spread the batter around the pans with a spoon, making it thicker around the edges than in the middle. Apples alone with olive oil, or apples and celery with equal parts of olive oil and cream mixed, form a light, nourfshing and easily digested meal. A custard cannot be boiled. Boiling at once curdles the egg. But a custard put in a jar in a saucepan of water may have the water boiling round the jar with good effect.

Moving Canada In France. Monsieur Leo Lefebvre of Paris, France, sent to Canada by the French Government in order to secure moving pictures for public exhibition there, has sailed for Europe. His experiences in British Columbia Discovered In London, Ont., in Out-of were somewhat arduous. He had his delicate instruments carried to camps to which a footpath was the only means of access. The roads were at times rough and dangerous, but he believes the pictures secured will be well worth the trouble. Besides these very instructive views, Mr. Lefebvre has taken a number which illustrate the beauty of Canada. These include views of Niagara and other Falls, the Thousand Islands, the Rockies from a C. P. R. train, etc. He has also a set illustrative of the codfishing industry.

The trips being taken by this French Commissioner are a sign of the progress of France along the lines of free education. The pictures are to be exhibited at what are known as the "conferences populaires," which are free illustrated lectures, to which any citizen may gain admittance. The subjects treated include many branches of study, agriculture, geography, the arts, and should prove most useful in raising the standard of national intelligence. "People in France have no idea that Canada is so big," declares Mr. Lefebvre, whose views will be a splendid immigration agent for the Dominion wherever they are shown.
