Doctors and Gas Fires

In an article which recently appeared in the London "Evening News," Mr. W. G. Faulkner stated: "In making my inquiries I discovered one significant fact. This was that one company—the Gas Light and Coke Company—had among their consumers 2,500 doctors who had gas fires installed in their houses, some as many as ten or a dozen; that 1,500 of these doctors had become users of gas during the past three years; and that not one had ever given them up."

Professor C. V. Boys F.R.S. says: "In the 'Standard' it is stated that gas is the general adoption of gas fires and cooking appliances."

It is a fact that, in spite of the fact that gas is a fire, it is an admirable agent for heating a room; and, as a scientist, I fail to understand how such a gas fire dries the air in a room more than any other fire.—Nov. 17, 11

Western Fishery.

According to reports brought along by the S. S. Portia, which arrived from the westward last night, codfish are very plentiful on the Rose Blanche grounds. During last week R. Moulton's crews landed 1,500 quintals of prime cod and were it not for the scarcity of bait much larger catches would have been secured. The other crews fishing in this locality did well also, the total catch for the week being the largest for many years.

The fact that the successful business man is an advertiser is usually incidental. He is an advertiser because he is wise and possessed of good, sound business sense and an analytical mind. At some time or other he came to the conclusion that advertising could be made one of the mightiest factors of his business organization, and having arrived at this conclusion, he just naturally went to it and advertised.

The Admiral's Broom.

Mr. Fred E. Weatherly has written a third verse to his song "The Admiral's Broom," which has gained popularity throughout the world. The following is his new version:—

Van Tromp was an Admiral brave and bold,

The Dutchman's pride was he,

And he cried, "I'll reign on the rolling main."

As I do on the Zuyder Zee,

And as he paced his quarter-deck

And looked o'er the misty tide,

He saw old England like a speck,

And he shook his fist and cried:

"I've a broom at the mast," said he,

For a broom is the sign for me,

That wherever I go the world may know

I sweep the mighty sea."

Now Blake was an Admiral true as gold,

And he walked by the English sea,

And when he was told of that Dutchman's bold

A merry laugh he gave:

"Come here! you Dutchman queer,

To-day you must fight with me!

For while I ride on the rolling tide

I'll be second to none," said he,

"I've a whip at the fore, you see,

For a whip is the sign for me,

That the world may know wherever we go

We ride and rule the sea!"

And we still have a foe in the grey North Sea,

A swaggering foe to-day,

But still we keep the mighty deep,

Whatever the foe may say.

And this is the challenge we fling to him:

As our ships ride to and fro,

"Come out and fight in the open light,

Come out like an honest foe,

For there is still a whip at the mast,

And it's strong and long and fast,

Though you ravage and slay and sneak away.

You'll have to fight at last!

There still is a whip at the mast,

And it's strong and long and fast,

And 'dodge that life

And will not fight

Shall be whipped to death at last!"

FRED E. WEATHERLY.
