"Doctor of Laughter"
Degree for Lloyd

"HOT WATER" PROMISES TO BE
GREATEST LLOYD BLUE
CHASER.

Have you ever stopped to consider how vitally important it is that all of us should laugh occasionally? It is just as necessary for our well-being to laugh as it is to exercise, or to eat, for that matter. This, at least, is the opinion of the world's foremost psychopathic experts, who repeatedly have issued advises that the world would be a better place to live in if we would laugh more.

Consequently, any person engaged in the business of making us laugh is a boon to humanity. Harold Lloyd, D.L. (Doctor of Laughs) is doing his share towards the betterment of our well being with his feature length comedies, the latest of which is "Hot Water" and will be seen to-night at the Nickel Theatre. It is not the story of a plumber, as you might think, but relates the trials and tribulations of a young married couple, who have the wife's family around their necks like a ball and chain on a prisoner.

Where medicine fails, Lloyd cures.
 This is no idle statement, for there is not a day in the year that the young comedian fails to receive a letter telling how their ailments had been alieviated through seeing Lloyd perform on the screen. Lloyd is as important to the world in his way as the Mayo brothers are in theirs. Only he doesn't use medicine or knives. Laughter is his medicine, and after all, isn't it reasonable that a good laugh sometimes should help where pills fail?
 See "Hot Water" if you want to take a dose of medicine without objecting to it.

Hats! Hats! Hats!

And more Hats! We take care of your topmost necessities. Don't let Easter pass you by without looking over our fine line of Men's Hats. Absolutely the latest and most authoritative styles. J. J. STRANG, Water and

SIDE TALKS.
 By Ruth Cameron.

AFTER ALL CHILDREN ARE PEOPLE.

There is a certain window in a little art shop that I pass on my way to the station whenever I go to town which always has such an attractive display of pictures that I'm prone to linger as I go by even at the risk of missing my train.

But last week, instead of the usual exhibition, the window was filled with framed mottoes, hands illuminated, of the sort that many people like to hang on their walls. There were the guest room mottoes, the farewell mottoes, "symphonies," wedding congratulations, misphs, birthday greetings, commencement mottoes, The "Girl's"
 "If" (with apologies to Kipling); mottoes "To My Mother," and "To My Daughter,"—the sort of thing that someone has called cant sentiment.
 They were all most attractively gotten up, the decoration was appropriate and the text beautifully printed, but in many cases the sentiment was inclined to be "stipopy."

What About The Ground?

For instance I noticed one highly ornamental motto—dedicated "To My Son" in which the mother warns her boy that his faults will be laid to her door. "Like mother, like son, is a saying so true, the world will judge largely of mother by you," it says.
 It's a good idea, of course, to appeal to a boy to do right because of his love for his mother and the blame that may fall to her if he doesn't. But I'm not so sure that whatever his future may be, (as to motto solemnly assure him) the world will try to his mother? "She has reaped as she sowed. Lo, this is her son!"

Perhaps the world does blame the mother, but is it really fair? Sometimes she is to blame if she hasn't tried to do her duty by her son as a child, but to blame every sorrow of a mother's reaping to the "seed she has sowed," is pretty far fetched, it seems to me.
