THE PET MEANNESS.

Eccentric People Noted for Stinginess in Some Particular Articles.

Shoes were the pet meanness of a distinguished nobleman, whose ground rents in London alone would have shed all its inhabitants for centuries to come. It is related of him that he once took his favorite pair in person to a cobbler, and that after carefully examining them the man said to him:
"I never saw the like since I've been at the business. You are either the greatest pauper, in England or the Marquis of . . ."

"I am the marquis, not the pauper," said his lordship, and far from being offended, seemed greatly amused. To mount a new pair of shoes, he even, in pain and grief to him, and a new pair of shoes always brings on a violent fit of gout, so vehemently is he opposed to the sad necessity of donning them at all.

Lord Eldon was a peer of this pattern, only he proceeded to the other extremity, and would never allow his wife and daughter but one bonnet between them. One wonders what pretty Betty Sturges saw in him to induce her to elope with him, cost what it might.

There is a Frenchman whose eccentricity in respect of a pet meanness is very often commented upon in Paris; for, though he has a model establishment, and positively rolls in money, he cannot bear to use towels freely—his own or his neighbor's. It is said that upon starting at one of the old castles of Brittany for a week he took his hostess aside privately and showed her over three dozen towels that he had been gloating over for days. "All these, madame, I have saved," he remarked with great delight. "Your servants put them in my room. It is true, but I and my wife have only used one between us. Servants are careless; wasteful creatures; I return the rest."

WILLIAM DURDAN.

For a Long Time Engine Driver on the Great Western and Grand Trunk

Railways.

And Billy's dead. Ah, well-a-day!

Our hearts feel sad and sore

That we who knew him forty years,

Will know him now no more;

His memory will keep fresh and green,

Within our heart of hearts—

A noble man was seldom seen:

A man of many parts.

His was the hand that guided well

The mighty, rushing train;

For years and years he never pulled

The throttle valve in vain.

With courage true, with judgment rare,

Along the track he sped;

His duty was his every care—

But now brave Billy's dead!

Short was his shift; a sudden call

Has taken him away;

Green be the turf above his head

Until the judgment day;

Smooth be his way to heaven, and

When

He hears the golden gong.

A thousand angels then will cry,

"Now, Billy, come along." the supervision of Mrs. Crow, of Toronto. The Y. W. C. A. classes have been organized. The Bible and shorthand classes will hold their meetings on Tuesday evenings, and the choral and art classes on Thursday evenings.

HIS LIPS WERE GLUED.

A Minister in a Bad Box—Charged With Political Fraud.

Greenville, Ohio, Oct. 28.—The Rev. C.
W. Hoefler, the Republican candidate for the Legislature, charged with offering the Democratic executive committee to vote for a Democrat for Senator if they would give him $1,500 for election expenses, appeared in the pulpit to preach yesterday. The church was crowded. Stenographers were there to take down his words. He was late coming but gave out the hymn, and after it had been sung arose, trembling all over, and said: "Last night a boy waked me up at midnight at my house and brought me a powder which I took. I hoped it would give me strength, but it had the opposite effect. It will be impossible for me to say anything. This powder has deranged my mind."

With that he fell into a chair, his head leaning over the back, his arms hanging limp. Women screamed and great excitement and confusion followed. Some shouted to bring him water. By some means he partly revived. To all cross questions he answered: "My lips are glued." He repeated this answer to all questions. Finally a dean prayed that God would show the church what to do. Finally the preacher was carried home where admission is denied to all callers. Inquiry seems to reveal the fact that Rev. Hoefler was not at home, but stayed at a neighbors' house Saturday night.

A NEW CLUB.

Name Suggested for a New Social Organization in London.

London (Special), Oct. 28.—It has been facetiously suggested that a new social club in process of organization in this city should be entitled "The Dada's Kidney Pill Club," as the present members are all enthusiastic advocates of that remedy and in common with many other citizens declare that in all cases of kidney trouble no other agent has been found so completely effective. Most Londoners have at their fingers' ends the particulars of the many marvelous cures through the use of the specific. In every drugstore in the city the medicine is kept in large quantities and warmly recommended.

TOO MUCH CHLORFORM.

Hamilton, Oct. 28.—Miss Maud Held, 20 years old, who resided with her parents on Caroline street north, took an overdose of chloroform Friday afternoon to relieve her from pain in the stomach. She fell asleep, face downward, with a handkerchief saturated with chloroform to her face, and when discovered life was extinct. It is not thought she intended suicide.

BABY LOST IN A SWAMP.

Chatsworth, Ont., Oct. 27.—No trace has been found of the 5-year old daughter of T.
J. Spears, second concession of Holland, although the woods have been diligently searched. Mr. Spears was at work in a field when his little daughter came out to him. The child being bareheaded and barefooted and the wind cold, Mr. Spears sent her home to get her hat and shoes on, and from that time to the present the little one has not been seen and no trace of her can be found. All hope of the child being alive has been given up.

Ireland's Gaelic league has just held its first public meeting in Dublin.

A Letter
just to hand says: "It is needless for me to express my high opinion of Pearline,
and that no clean family lives without it. Thousands of letters come, praising Pearline, but they don't put it so strongly. We wouldn't want to, ourselves. We don't say that things can't be made clean without Pearline. But we do say that things can't be made clean with so little labor and so little damage by any other means. And we want to say that, loudly. Millions use Pearline. Only a short time ago they rubbed and scrubbed and fussed in the old-fashioned way without it.
