GOODNESS GRACIOUS, AGNES, LONDON WON TWO BALL GAMES ALL IN THE SAME AFTERNOON

Manager Barrett's Blokes Bunched Hits in the First Game and Won Easily-Sammy Smith Scored a Shut-Out in the Second Game-Both Teams Played Good Ball and Fielded Well.

[BY JINX.]

Mr. Barrett and his recently retreating band of brigands put over a good stroke of business at the local ball premises yesterday afternoon when they managed to transfer a perfectly up-to-date, alive-and-kicking slump into the hands of one, Rubenus Deneau, large and lofty leader of a flock of delirious Dutchmen. It requires a vivid stretch of the imagination to realize such a startling fact, but nevertheless it is, as "Honey Boy" Evans would say, a "stirrin" reality" that the Indians humbled the Deneau Dyaks in succession in the same bill, and boosted their stock about 30 per cent in the estimation of the natives of

It is the first time this season that the Tecumsel's have come across with a pair of victories in a double-header, and there is much cause for rejoicing. When the news spreads as far as St. Thomas the natives of that hamlet will go into mourning. The Indians' double win put them a few points farther ahead of the Section Hands, and it looks as though the Stewart aggregation is doomed for the second division.

A Real Bail Club Now.

To be brief, London beat Berlin twice in yesterday's double-header. They pulered the opening joust by the score of 2 to 7, and copped the good-evening pasm by the score of 4 to 0. Incidentity, they gave an imitation of a real who had been pitching great ball previous to that, for five successive bingles. Hessberger doubled to lead off with, and scored on Matteson's single. Burns, Hartwell and Nickells each landed on one of Reitzman's choice ones, the last-named overdoing it for two pillows, while Matteson, Burns and Hartwell counted.

A Big inoing.

In the fourth inning the Indians made seven hits and six runs, and chased the eminent youngster, Bradshaw, to the woods. Cocash doubled and Fox singled, Kelliher walked, but Neale scored Cocash with a timely bingle to right. Speer followed with a single to left, and Fox counted. Fitzpatrick then surprised the throng by doubling to deep centre and ball club, and this alone was a treat for Two Fast Games.

Both games were god ones, the first one developing into a swat-the-pill affair after the second inning, but the second one was a pitchers' battle between Smith and Beatty, in which the former, backed up by great support, pushed the other off the boards. He allowed more hits, but they came at a time when they were of little use.

Reitzman and Bradshaw started out with the very best of intentions in the first game, but neither linguage.

Reitzman and Bradshaw started out with the very best of intentions in the first game, but neither lingered long, Reitzman getting his in the second and the kid tasting until the fourth, when a fullilade of hits on the part of the home folks proved his undoing.

Fitzpatrick went in to replace Reitzman, and Deneau undertook to place the reasonsibilities of the Dutch on his own shoulders. In the sixth he Beest ted it up and made it 7 all, but in the seventh the Indians put a dinge in Deneau's notion that he can pitch, and five runs were the result. Following that the was a valik away, and the locals were never in danger.

The second game was much less boisterous than the first. Both Beatty and Smith pitched good ball. Sammy allowed with two more in the first pame, and chased Reitzman to the barns. They hit Fitzpatrick utrifle, but he kept the bingles betterous than the first. Both Beatty and Smith pitched good ball. Sammy allowed with the bases full.

Beatty held the locals without a hit or run until the fourth inning. In this linning Gilhooley made the circuit after singling to centre and being helped around by Fox's single and Neale's long sacrifice fig.

Two more runs came in the fifth. Linneburn was safe on Burns' mult of his long fig. and Blerbauer was given a walk. Gilhooley fouled to Buflock, but the bases were filled. Fox then delivered another single, this time to left, and Linneburn was safe on Burns' mult of his long fig. And Blerbauer was given and Bierbauer was given and Linneburn was safe on Burns' mult of his long fig. The Brantford on Saturday last, the London press would name the first game. Clothes in the first game, and chased Reitzman to the barns. They hit Fitzpatrick urifie, but he kept the bingles boisterous and Smith pitched good ball. Both contests were marked by some sharp fielding and hitting by both sides. The locals played with new life, and some nice fielding stunts were pulled off by Gilhooley. Fox, Kelliher and the out-field, Linneburn had the visitors' ingoods, despite the Rube's deciaration it was "the same old story."

Some Foul Tips and a Few Liners

Oskee Neale made four hits yesterday. It would simply tickle us to death to Now what do you know about that? They were all clean bingles too. This lad is showing symptoms of late that this sort of thing is not accidental. When he gets the habit, nothing but the big ring for large in clusters in the first engagement. Rube in stolen bases. It is a queer game that they do not get three or four of them. In the double-header yesterday they snatched six sacks. Linneburn is easily the best on the paths, although Bier-bauer, Cacash and Gilhooley are close up.

Sammy Smith complained of a sore arm during the game yesterday. He should have a sore arm all the time if that is the brand of ball he can serve up.

The Dutchmen had on their hitting clothes in the first game, and chased Reitzman to the barns. They hit Fitzpatrick a trifle, but he kept the bingles separated. This lad is a pretty handy man to have about.

Bradshaw, the infant prodigy, got his in clusters in the first engagement. Rube Deneau, who used to pitch when Methu-saleh was a kid, finished the fracas.

Fox is hitting now, and is showing improved form all through. If this lad ever learns to take an interest in the game there will be no stopping him. "Dad" Stewart was in the city last evening arranging for the post-series between the Saints and the Tecumsehs. The boys are enthusiastic over the prospects, and if they show the brand of ball exhibited yesterday during the remaining games, they should get a number of

The Tecumsehs are showing signs of getting over their slump, and look better than for some time. When they try there is some hope for them.

Red Isaacs had a chance to work for a minute yesterday in Toronto. He looked pretty good to the bunch there.

It is to be hoped that the team finishes with a percentage of more than 500. Less than that looks bad.

Talking of regular slumps, what do you think of the Tigers? They are slipping for further orders.

Kelliher has not found his batting eye, but he is putting up a brilliant fielding game. He looks like a comer.
