

SERIOUS MATTER FOR POOR CARLO

Teased by Youngsters,
He Bit Wrong One

HICKS CASE ADJOURNED

Alleged Stone Thrower Accompanied by Many Witnesses—Fruits of "Being Out For a Time."

The police court dock and benches were well filled yesterday. However, much of the crowd was composed of witnesses, and most of these present were in connection with the charge against Richard Hicks. This young man, it will be remembered, is accused of breaking the window in the front of Colerick's store with a stone.

Hicks was arrested Monday but he succeeded in getting bail Monday night on account of ill health. He certainly did not look like a well man in the dock yesterday. His health, it is said, is suffering from heart disease, and, on the case being adjourned for a week, his bail was renewed. In the meantime, Mr. Hicks, solicitor for the defence, will look into the case. He said that from the little he already knew he was convinced that the damage could not be called malicious or intentional. The witnesses, of whom there were seven, were all cited to re-appear a week from next Wednesday. Most of them were from McCormick's but the most interesting and perhaps impartial one was the big stone with which the damage was done. When it was thrown high enough to break a window, it might just as easily have broken someone's head.

Robert Corbett had been both drunk and disorderly. He said he had been out for a time Monday with some other young fellows, and had not succeeded in reaching home. He had gone to sleep in the barn behind the house where one of his companions lived, without knowing how he got there. The lady of the house had been badly scared by suddenly coming across the prostrate figure in the morning. Corbett did not look at all as if he had the pugnacious inclinations of his big namesake, and he admitted his guilt. He was fined $10 or twenty-one days.

Robert Hackett was charged with assaulting his wife. Both the parties concerned were colored, especially the man. It was alleged that he slapped his spouse's face and did other unpleasant things to her. A person who witnessed the trouble was to have appeared in court to tell all about it, but did not show up, so the case was adjourned till to-day.

Mrs. Crawford was charged by Oscar Rider with keeping a vicious dog. The complainant said that while walking along Richmond street one night with his little daughter, Valma, the dog sprang at her and fastened his teeth in the calf of her leg. "He made quite a little snarl while doing it," said the witness.

No doubt Carlo was in dead earnest. He was allowed to come but was said that he was a little black fox-terrier.

"I never knew him to do such a thing before," asserted the owner. He was sitting at the door of a drug store waiting for me, just as good as any dog ought to be. Some children began to tease him with papers and things and he got mad."

Mrs. Crawford said that she had come out of the drug store and said to one of Carlo's tormentors, "Come, like a good girl, do not tease him. He does not like being hit with papers."

But it came out in evidence that Valma had not been among Carlo's enemies. She had just been walking along with her father when Carlo made his attack. Perhaps the canine was anxious to wreak vengeance on all little girls, or perhaps he had mistaken the child's identity.

Mrs. Crawford then was sure that the dog could not have bitten the child.

CAN MAKE MEN SOUND AND STRONG.

Detroit Specialist Discovers Something Entirely New for the Cure of Men's Diseases in Their Own Homes.

You Pay Only if Cured

Expects No Money Unless He Cures Your Method and Full Particulars Sent Free—Write For It This Very Day

A Detroit specialist who has 14 certificates and diplomas from medical colleges and boards, has perfected a startling method of curing the most common men in their own homes; so that there may be no doubt in the mind of any man that he has

DR. S. GOLDBERG,
The Possessor of 14 Diplomas and Certificates
Who Wants No Money That He Does Not Earn

both the method and the ability to do as he says. Dr. Goldberg, the discoverer, will send the method entirely free to all men who send him their name and address. He has heard from men who have striven that they have been unable to get cured, prostatic trouble, sexual weakness, varicocele, testicular trouble, blood poisoning, hemorrhoids, impotence, etc. His wonderful method not only cures the condition itself, but also the complications, such as rheumatism, bladder or kidney trouble, heart disease, nervous debility, etc.

The doctor realizes that it is one thing to make claims and another thing to back them up, so he has made it a rule not to ask for money unless he cures you, and when you are cured he feels sure that you will willingly pay him a small fee. It would seem, therefore, that it is to the best interests of every man who suffers in this way to write the doctor confidentially and lay your case before him. He sends the method, as well as many booklets on the subject, including the one that contains the 14 diplomas and certificates, entirely free. Address him simply to:

Dr. S. Goldberg, 205 Woodland Ave., Room 555, Detroit, Mich., and he will immediately be sent your free.

This is something entirely new and well worth knowing about. Write at once.

AN ANCIENT FIRE ENGINE.

This is probably the oldest piece of fire fighting apparatus in Canada, if not in North America. It is a fire engine and was presented to the town of Shelburne, Nova Scotia, by George III. It did valiant service in those old days, and is now preserved as an object of interest and veneration. The photo was recently handed to the Free Press.

on the leg, because she had seen him jump towards her shoulders. However, the bite was not deep. There was no doubt about that. Perhaps Carlo had not succeeded in going as high as he had aimed.

"You will have to dispose of him," said the court finally. "Oh! I have done that," was the unexpected reply. "I sent him out to the country where there are no children to tease him."

But the court was not satisfied. There was no guarantee that Carlo would do no further damage to mankind. Mrs. Crawford again pleaded that he was good as long as he was not teased, and on the faithful evening in question he had been badly teased just about three minutes before he had made the attack.

"A well-conducted dog would get over his temper in three minutes," said the court. And sentence was suspended for a week to give Mrs. Crawford a chance to bring the dog to the police station, where he would be executed in expiation of his crime. Two drunks were discharged.

HOW THEY GET CONSUMPTION

Do you know that seventy-five per cent. of the "lungers" contract consumption because their power of resistance falls so low that favorable conditions are provided for the bacilli to develop. In a vigorous, healthy system consumption can't take root. But in the presence of debility and weakness it finds an easy victim. In other words, sow weakness—you reap tuberculosis.

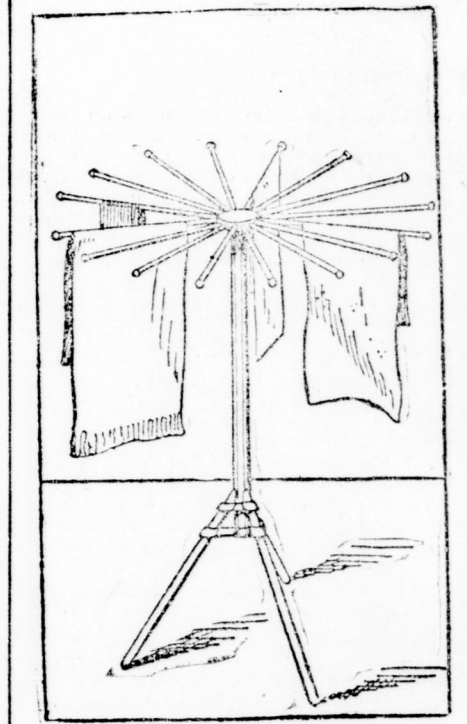

Nothing so far discovered equals Ferrozene in building up the weak, in developing strength, in forming nutritious blood and enduring nerves. It's hard to credit the appetite it gives, its power to digest and convert food into the kind of nutriment the system needs. Ferrozene supplies exactly what the man verging on consumption requires. If tired and weak, try it. 50c per box, or six boxes for $2.50, at all dealers, or Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont., and Hartford, Conn., U. S. A.

A NEW DRYER

A Very Simple and Useful Contrivance for the Housewife.

These are the days of the year when things will not dry. They will dry, after a fashion, in the sunshine, but when brought in the house feel damp and limp.

This little invention, called an umbrella clothes dryer, folds up when not in use, and may be put in a small, out-of-the-way corner, but when wanted expands its score of arms and is found most useful. This may be used for the drying of clothes or for a clothes horse on which to hang ironed clothes. It may also be kept on the back porch for convenience or hung out to air.

THE OCEAN RATE WAR

Settlement in the Shape of a Compromise Reported.

(By Special C. P. K. Wire.)
Liverpool, Aug. 29.—A message from one of the principals in the shipping conference at Frankfort-on-the-Main, indicates that a practical settlement of the trans-Atlantic rate-war has been reached; that the terms of a compromise arrangement satisfactory to both sides will be announced in a few days.

Mr. W. C. Harris, mother, and Mr. S. A. Davis, of Delaware, have returned from a four weeks' visit in the vicinity of the northern lakes.

BUSY DAYS AT FAIR GROUNDS

Preparations for the Big Fair Going on Apace—Accident to Mrs. Wm.
Taylor—Personal of Interest.

Mrs. Frank McLean, of Dundas street, east, has returned from a visit to Detroit.

Mr. James Corsant, corner of Eglinton and Kingston streets, is erecting a modern two-story brick dwelling on King street, east of Rectory.

Miss Francis, of the east side, is visiting her brothers in Brandon, Manitoba, and other relatives in the Northwest.

Ex-Alderman Dreaney has received word from his son Harry, a well-known former resident of the east side, Mr. Dreaney is now residing in British Columbia, and is engaged in the fish canning business with his uncle.

Mrs. Wm. Taylor, of 744 King street, who is visiting her daughter Mrs. J. T. Powell, in Toronto, met with a rather painful accident Monday, spraining her ankle and receiving other injuries. Mr. Taylor left Monday evening for Toronto.

Superintendent Break, of the street railway, has left on a short visit to friends in Toronto.

The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Watson, of the Globe Casket Works, will sympathize with them in the death of their only daughter, which occurred Monday evening at the family residence, 229 Queen's avenue. Miss Watson was a great favorite with east side residents, and her death will be regretted by all.

Miss Jeanie Newman, of Detroit, sister of Miss Lily Newman, who has been here in attendance on her sister during her illness, has left for home. Miss Newman is now out of danger.

Miss C. C. Irwin has left on a short visit to friends in the east.

The funeral of the infant daughter of Mr. Henry Hyatt, of 90 Hyatt street, took place to Woodland cemetery Sunday. Their many friends in the east came with them in their train bereavement.

Miss Crittle, of the east end, who is visiting in Toronto, has suddenly become indisposed. Nothing definite has been learned of the nature of her illness, but it is feared that typhoid has developed, as Miss Crittle was in Port Stanley with some who have the malady. Mrs. Crittle has left for Toronto.

The quarterly board of the Centennial Methodist church met last night. Sacramental service was held Sunday.

Mr. Cephas Wickett, of the east side, has returned from a pleasant holiday spent in Muskoka.

The east end city weigh scales are undergoing a thorough overhauling. New bearings have been put under the scales and the woodwork repaired.

A young man got on a full load of liquor early yesterday and, naturally, very obnoxious to the residents of the east end by insulting young ladies. The policeman on duty scolded him.

Mrs. Dr. Wyckoff has left on an extended visit to friends out of town. The gas company have a force of men engaged in locating and repairing gas leaks to their pipes in the east end. The smell has been very unpleasant to the residents for some few days.

The contractors for the Main building repairs at the Fair Grounds have finished the repairs to the roof and are now engaged in repairing the down pipes to the building.

Rev. A. H. Goring, pastor of the Centennial Methodist church, has returned from the summer school of the Epworth League, held at Dorchester. Mr. Goring reports a successful meeting, both spiritually and financially, and will result in much good. It was decided to hold the meetings again next year. Mr. Goring is president of the London district.

Superintendent Brown has a large staff of men engaged in cleaning out the buildings at the fair grounds. The buildings present a very untidy appearance at present, but after the cleaning and painting have been done will be presentable and in condition for the great fair.

Grand Trunk Report

Various Views of the London Financial Papers Regarding It.

London, Aug. 30.—The Financial News says it must be admitted that the Grand Trunk has made a very inauspicious beginning for the new half year. It had been anticipated by the market that the revenue statement for July would show a net increase of something between £400 and £10,000; instead of a net decrease over the whole system of £8,100.

The Financial Times says there is yet reason for crediting the Grand Trunk authorities with endeavoring, not altogether unsuccessfully, to reduce the ratio of expenditure. That the market does not take the disappointment very seriously is shown pretty well by the fact that the quotation only declined from  $\frac{1}{4}$  to  $\frac{1}{2}$  on the balance. The London water is absolutely pure. This rather serious falling off in receipts is considerably mitigated by the fact that the period of comparison recorded a total gross advance of £124,000 in twenty-six working days this time as against twenty-seven last year. The Times believes good harvest trade in the Dominion will yet greatly improve the trunk situation.

FINE WATER SUPPLY

Board of Health Chairman Says It Is Absolutely Pure

In view of the prevalence of typhoid fever in the city, mostly caused by impure water, it is particularly gratifying to have the assurance of Dr. English, chairman of the Board of Health, that, as proved by analysis, London water is absolutely pure. Now that the opening of the public schools is close at hand, it is comforting for parents to know that the supply there is of pure water. The water is of good quality and of any description, so that the little ones will be exposed to no danger whatever.

Dr. English is still continuing his investigations into the number of cases of typhoid originating in Port Stanley, and it is probable that a few more may be traced to that source.

The public will be pleased to learn that the horse belonging to the fire department which received a shock of paralysis the other day, after a rapid run to a rest house, is now in a fair way to recovery. It appears that the gallant steed in its anxiety "to get the job done" had been straining every nerve, and a severe attack of nervous prostration ensued. Now that it is convalescing there is reason to hope that the animal will soon be in the fire-fighting business again.

The office of Secretary McElheran, of the Board of Education, at present, has been moved from the local branch by an earthquake. Broken plaster, planks, and contractors' paraphernalia of all kinds litter the floor, and a coating of dust rests upon everything. The secretary has fled from the scene, seeking temporary refuge in Inspector Carson's office.

Everything is in first-class shape for the opening of the public schools on Thursday, and the buildings look as bright as soap and water and fresh paint. The flowers are in full bloom, and springing on spots where previously nothing flourished but a few scattered weeds, and things generally are made possible.

Nature study will in future be taught in the public schools more systematically than hitherto and more attention will also be devoted to instruction in drawing. The training of the eyes and minds of the young people is being recognized in the public schools of Great Britain, and it goes hand in hand with technical training of all kinds.

Building permits have been issued to the following:
Richard Howlett, for a one and a half story brick veneer dwelling, on Orchard street.
Mr. Lashbrook, for two one and a half story brick dwellings on Horton street, between Burwell and Maitland streets.

Tourist Car Service to the St. Louis World's Fair via Canadian Pacific Railway.

The Canadian Pacific Railway have inaugurated an exceptionally good tourist car service from Montreal to St. Louis, passing through London every Sunday morning at 11:35. This will enable passengers going to the great world's fair to purchase sleeping car accommodation at half the regular Pullman fare. The tourist cars used are of the latest Canadian Pacific design and were especially built for this service, and no doubt will be appreciated by the travelling public, as it will give them the luxury of a sleeping car at a very moderate cost. Call on W. Fulton, city passenger agent, corner Dundas and Richmond streets, for information regarding world's fair travel.

A Question of Wages.

The case of Chisholm vs. Moore for non-payment of wages was continued before Justice Gaulty on Tuesday. Two witnesses who lived near the defendant were called to give evidence. The hearing was finished, and his worship reserved judgment until this morning.

Fined For Sidewalk Riding.

A boy of about fifteen years of age appeared in the juvenile police court yesterday morning for riding his bicycle on the sidewalk. He did not deny the charge. Probably he had been breaking the by-law in this way before without being captured. He was fined one dollar.

Big Entry of Horses.

Secretary Nelles, of the Western Fair Board, states that there will be an unusually large display of horses at this year's Fair. A single entry of no less than sixteen Percheron stallions has just been received, and many more are expected, a good portion coming here from the other side.

Gatecliffe-Hier.

On Monday evening, in the presence of about thirty relatives and friends, Miss Beatrice May Hier, eldest daughter of Mr. William Hier, was united in marriage to Mr. Alfred Gatecliffe at her father's residence, 25 Cavendish street, West London. The couple were married at eight o'clock beneath the Union Jack, by the Rev. H. Mackenzie, the wedding march being acceptably rendered by Mrs. A. W. Jones. The bride was tastefully attired in fawn and white silk and carried a bouquet of roses. Her sister, Miss Annie Hier, and Miss Violet Armstrong attending as bridesmaids. The groom was supported by Messrs. Fred Hier and John Hier. Among the guests from outside points were Mrs. E. Gatecliffe and Mr. and Mrs. A. Jolly, relatives of the groom, and Mrs. A. Jones, of Portland, Oregon. The numerous and valuable wedding gifts were evidence of the genuineness of the hearty good wishes expressed by many friends of the bridal pair. A most delicious gold chain was the groom's present to the bride.

OBITUARY

Mr. Robert Routledge.

Mr. Robert Routledge, one of the most widely known and respected residents of London township, passed away at his residence in Hyde Park yesterday at the advanced age of 89 years. Deceased was born in London township, was a man of sterling qualities, who had the respect and confidence of a wide circle of friends and acquaintances. The late Mr. Routledge, while he never sought office, was an ardent Conservative and took a keen interest in municipal affairs. He was survived by five brothers and one sister. The funeral will take place from his late residence to St. John's cemetery. Rev. G. B. Sage, of this city, will officiate.

The Late Joseph Caravella.

The funeral of the late Joseph Caravella, whose death occurred suddenly on Sunday last, took place yesterday at St. Peter's Cathedral, and was largely attended. The floral tributes were numerous. The pall-bearers were chosen from amongst the deceased's fellow countrymen resident in this city, as follows:—Messrs. A. Miles, C. Paladino, F. Kasle, A. Onta, R. S. Soper, and J. Masera. Requiem high mass was sung by Father Aylward. Interment at St. Peter's cemetery.

COLLISION IN WYOMING YARDS

Engineer McKenzie Was Seriously Injured

SMASHED INTO CAR OF ORE

Express No. 7 Narrowly Escapes Disaster on Double Tracked Division—Ore Car on Second Track.

About ten minutes after 5 yesterday morning a collision took place in the Grand Trunk yard at Wyoming, between Express No. 7, due there at 4:35, and a train of loaded ore cars. It appears that the ore train had found difficulty in climbing the grade about three miles west of here and had been assisted by engine No. 84, running light, with only cab attached, pushing her up the grade. When near Wyoming they uncoupled, but shortly afterwards, owing to some misunderstanding, engine No. 84 crashed into the cab of the ore train, throwing the last ore car foul of the second track. In the meantime Express No. 7 was rapidly approaching on the second track, being within the semaphore when the accident occurred. An effort was made to stop her by lantern signals, but she was too close and crashed into the wrecked ore car, sweeping the engineer's cab off his engine, and merely scraping along the sides of the baggage car, but smashing the glass in the wide Pullman cars. Engineer Thos. Mackenzie, of the express, was the only person seriously injured. He was thrown from his cab, and had one of his legs completely severed at the ankle. After his wounds had been dressed by Drs. Harvey and Chappelle, of Wyoming, he was removed to St. John's hospital. Engineer Mackenzie was on No. 5 at the time of the Wainstead disaster, but escaped unhurt. Just who is to blame for the accident it is difficult to determine.

Was Poe's Raven First an Owl?
Susan Archer Weiss in the Independent.

I once on a quiet, drizzling summer day had an hour's talk with Mr. Poe in our own parlour about "The Raven," when he said:—"Do you know that 'The Raven' was originally not a raven at all, but an owl?" I hardly noticed at all, but I had been older would have so much interested me. I only asked why he had made the change. To which he replied:—"For sake of the 'nevermore.' I afterward mentioned the circumstance to Dr. Holland (editor of Scribner's), who said that he had heard something of the same kind, but did not credit it. For this reason I refrained from mentioning it in my 'Last Days' of Poe. But regarding the poem one comes upon words and expressions which irresistibly remind us of the owl, the bird of wisdom. Minerva's bird, which 'perched upon the bust of Pallas'—more appropriate to an owl than a demon that is dreaming.

Then this ebony bird beguiling my sad fancy into smiling,
By the grave and stern decorum of the countenance it wore, etc., etc.

Moreover, owls are night birds, and, as is well known, are attracted to lighted windows at night, which doesn't apply to ravens.

And its eyes have all the seeming of a demon that is dreaming is decidedly owlish. But I would not venture at this late date and with no proof to put forth this claim of owl versus raven.
