Manchus Pursue Vaccilating

REVOLUTION IS

There are persistent reports that isings have been planned for the ext few days in the immediate vinity of the capital. It may be that ese will not be fulfilled, but they dicate widespread sympathy with e revolt,
The diplomatic corps has discussed

e necessity of maintaining commuation between Tien Tsin and Peng. The military commanders reart only sufficient troops to protect legation quarter in Peking and foreign settlement in Tien Tsin. hich number approximately 1,000, ad 3,200 respectively. Consequently a serious emergency only Japanwould be immediately available m the garrisons at Port Arthur d Dalny. As yet the legations have considered seriously the suggesn of an English newspaper in nanghai that the Manchus, sperate, might endeavor secretly to courage the ignorant multitude to tack foreigners and thereby attain eign intervention which would milite in their favor, they being the ly established dynasty. It is argued at such machinations would prove fore dangerous to the Manchus than any one else, because it is known nat the rebel organization elsehere is able to restrain its adherents. he Manchus, however, apparently re following a weak and vaccilating olicy which conceivably might bring bout desperate measures. A promication, in discussing this possibilty gave it to be understood that precau-

would not be overlooked. Newspaper Campaign The increase in the activity of the press shows either defiance or relaxation of the censorship, whether from venality or sympathy on the part of the police is not known. The newspapers ublish reports of rebel victories which ave not yet been attained, and of govnment calamities more serious than ve yet been suffered, and in so doing are displaying a greater degree of merity than usual. General Ying Tchang, the war min-

tions against such a manoeuvre

e, are of the opinion that he intends attack promptly. He has, however, wer troops under his command than retofore was supposed. It is not nerally believed that he has above 000 of which only two battalions ar nchus. They are guarding the raily in the rear. Other troops intended the Hankow campaign have not been owing to the fear of their desern. There was also necessity for the ntion of a strong force near Peking. ne British and American attaches here for Shanghai yesterday, inng to proceed to Hankow up the tse Kiang. It is believed that Yin ng, Manchu-like, desires to give although the half-hearted spirit his troops may deter him. On the or hand, Yuan Shi Kai, Chinese-like, emporizing with the rebels. Yuar Kai has refused to leave Changte in special car which has been sent for m, but there is evidence that he has spatched frusted adherents of former ays as emissaries to the rebel leaders is believed he is endeavoring to reach compromise between the rebels and onstitutional government. The forign customs commission at Changsha as telegraphed the inspector-general of ustoms here that the city has revolted. he officers were killed and the viceroy fled. The foreign customs' took refuge in the river boats. It is said officially that the diplomatic body has informed the Chinese government that it is unable to reply on the subject of indemnities, which is so complicated HICAGO, Oct. 23.-John R. Walsh, victed former president of the Chigo National Bank, died at his home today. He lived only nine days to the liberty of his parole from federal penitentiary at Leavenrth. Kas., gained by the continuous erts of his family and friends, since s incarceration of one year, eight onths and 26 days. Death was caused myocarditis, an inflammation of the seles of the heart.

de fermer banker was 74 years of Members of his family attributed immediate cause of his death to his Ismment and charged President it and Aftorney General Wickersham th responsibility in failing to arrange parole earlier.

They wanted the last ounce of od," said Orville E. Babcock, son-inw of Mr. Walsh.

Who do you mean by they? President Taft and Attorney General ekersham" by ekersham," he replied.

We presented them with statements Dr. Frank E. Billings and Dr. Jo-2h A. Capp that Mr. Walsh was dangerously ill and that turther confinement meant his death. They ignored these medical statements and his death resulted from the long delay in obtaining his release."

Mr. Waish entered the Leavenworth penitentiary in January, 1910, to begin a five-year sentence. Members of his family seld that this was engineer to amily said that this was equivalent to a life sentence and at once began work for his release. His health began to fail and examining physicians at the penitentiary said he was suffering from nardening of the arteries. After his release he was probably further weak-ened by a 26-mile automobile ride in the cold from the prison to Kansas

Mr. Walsh was convicted of the mis ipplication of funds of the bank for the use of his other properties, the Bedtord quarries, the Southern Indiana Railway, the Chicago Chronicle and others. All depositors were paid full.

ARRESTS FOLLOW FIRE Ledger Keeper and Teller of Winnipeg Bank in Durance

WINNIPEG. Man., Oct. 23.-Tonight John K. McLeod, ledger keeper, and Gordon T. Nagle, teller of the Selkirk avenue branch of the Union bank, were arrested. On Friday morning at 1 the bank, and an investigation showed it was in two places, and that the books of the bank were burning. An audit on Saturday and today showed a shortage of $5,000, and the entire staff was sus-"pended, and the two arrests were made.

TOULON, Oct. 23.—A repetition of the Liberte disaster was probably averted today by the presence of mind of the commander of the battleship Suffran. As the vessel was preparing to leave here, escaping steam overheated the partitions between the coal bunkers and the magazines, causing an outbreak of fire. The commander without delay flooded the magazines and extinguished the flames.

ORVILLE WRIGHT NEAR DISASTER

Turns Turtle — Occupant Saves Himself by Nimble Work in Air

KILL DEVIL HILL, N. C., Oct. 28 .-Orville Wright had a narrow escape today when his glider turned over in the air, and dashed to the ground. The mater, seems to have pushed his troops chine was disabled, but can be repaired frough the passes on the Honan-Hupeh for flights tomorrow or Wednesday. Wright was slightly shaken up Today's accident was the second with which the machine has met. Wright had made one short glide, and was essaving a second when the glider began to turn turtle slowly. The aviator scrambled nimbly over the machine as it furned; and was on top of it when it dived to earth, bottom side up. To make travel in the air as safe as on the earth is the purpose of the ex-beriments the Wright brothers are condetting. They are working on their new mechanism designed to keep an aeroplane on an even keel. The Wrights began their work on this problem before 1907. What they have accomplished, if anything, both Orville and Wilbur, are keeping in characteristic secrecy. It is expected that their newest mechanism will be sent here and tried on the glider In some respects the Wright contrivance is said to resemble the aileron device used on the Curtiss biplane and some of the foreign machines Ailerons are small flaps attached to the main plane. When a tricky gust tilts an aeroplane out of balance, one of the ailerons flops downward while another flops upward. That makes a difference in the air resistance, and helps the aero plane to settle back to a level.

The device the Wright brothers may try is said to apply this principle with the use of a pendulum hanging into space below the aeroplane. The law of gravity is expected to keep the pendulum hanging straight downward. The upper end of the pendulum rod will be connected with the ailerons, and as the aeroplane dips from side to side, gravity will cause the pendulum to swing. The swinging of the pendulum is depended upon to operate the allerons up and down and to restore stability.

Until recently all birdmen have looked upon automatic balancing devices with disfavor. It is said that none of them had ever worked quickly enough to restore the balance of an aeroplane after it has lost its equilibrium. A fatal gust of wind, it is said, would do its work in less than the fraction of a second; which the stability device requires to operate In many cases, hand control has been quick as the wind, and has even anticipated its action, according to the experience and alertness of the aviator.

Cross Continent Plight BANNING, Cal., Oct. 23.—Robert G. Fowler, the aviator who is now making his second attempt to fly across the contihent, and who had a narrow escape today with a defective motor, probably will fly tomorrow. For a time today it was thought the trip eastward would have to be postponed for several days until a new motor could be procured from Yuma, where Fowler had sent it on ahead. The motor, however, was received late today, and Fowler and his mechanics worked all night in an effort stated the motor would be ready by morning, and if weather conditions were favorable he would be off again.

SERIOUS WOUNDS

Charles Watkin Loses an Arm and A. L. Partington Has Side Torn, in Different Duck Shooting Accidents

Two shooting accidents, both of terday afternoon. In both instances the victims were in row-boats engaged in the quest of ducks when the mishaps

A. L. Partington, of Spring Ridge, received a charge of buckshot in his back, the bullets fortunately turned aside in such a way as to prevent a mortal wound. He is a young the Jubilea hospital under the care of Dr. Nelson, who reported last night that he is doing well. In the other case: Charlie Watkin, a lad of 17 years, had his left arm so badly mutilated with shot that it was necessary for Dre with as litle delay as possible.

With R. Neill, his companion, partington secured a boat from the Oak Bay club early in the afternoon. They Bay club early in the afternoon. They explained that it was their intention to endeavor to kill a few ducks. They left in a southerly direction towards left in a southerly direction Cadboro Bay, skirting the shore in the hope of discovering flocks feeding in the small bays of the coast. They had been out, from what can be learned, about an hour and a half when the accident took place. A gun, cocked and ready for action, was lying in the bottom of the boat, and Partington was turned away from its muzzle when a sudden movement caused the hammer to fall. The charge struck him in the right side, tearing away the muscles. His friend did what was possible to stop the flow of blood and the tug Shamrock, which happened along, was hailed. She towed the duck-boat into Oak Bay, where a conveyance was se cured. In this the disabled man was taken to the Jubilee hospital. It is believed that he will recover.

The accident to Master Watkin occurred earlier in the day. He and a companion, whose name has not been dis closed, started from the city an a small boat to do some duck shooting between Trial Island and the shore. At about 12.30 they decided to make a landing at Shoal Bay. Watkin, who admits being a novice in the handling of fire arms, grasped his loaded gun by the Famous Aviator's Machine barrel, close to the muzele and was dragging it from the craft when the trigger caught and, exploding the cartridge, the flesh of his arm was torn to shreds, while the bones were shattered in many places. An automobile was hurrled to the scene and the young man, was taken to St. Joseph hospital A hasty examination by Dr. Hart proved that amputation was absolutely nec essary and the operation was perform doing as well as could be expected.

President Taft Defines His Attitude on

ABERDEEN, S. D., Oct. 23 .- The re publican regulars and insurgents of South Dakota joined force's today to make President Taft's last day in the state pleasant. The truce was more or less armed however for the insurgents on the president's special train did not hesitate to declare that if Mr. Taft got any delegates at all from South Dakota. he "would have to fight mighty hard for them." The regulars on the other hand declared that the estimate of four out of the ten delegates for Mr. Taft was too low, and that there would be some surprises in the state next year.

During the run from Pierre, to Aberdeen today with a score of stops this morning, the president found big and apparently friendly crowds awaiting him. He discussed tariff vetoes, peace and, arbitration, economy in the administration of affairs at Washington and the relation of government to business. His, principal tariff speech of the day was delivered at Huron. The crowd there listened in silence to the president's explanation of his three vetoes. There was every evidence of interest among his hearers, but no applause until he declared that until congress had the facts upon which to base changes in the tariff laws he would continue to veto such'

Military Concentration.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.-After month's tour in the west, Secretary Stimson and Major General Wood have returned to Washington. They made a flying trip along the Mexican border, inspecting army posts, as far as Prescott, Ariz. Secretary Stimson and General Wood said the trip confirmed their belief that sound army policies required the concentration of troops in large posts and the abandonment of the many small western forts. It was decided that nearly all the troops now in the southwest over and above the normal garrisons of the posts, including the troops ordered thither in connection with the formation of the manouevre Orders probably will be issued for the return of most of these troops to their posts, though some of the men must go to Hawaii and the Isthmus to form the rmanent garrisons there. "Starvation Doctor"

SEATTLE, Oct. 23.-Mrs. Linda Burfield Hazzard, known as the "starvation doctor," lost a point in the hearing to compel her to make an accounting of her guardianship of the estate of Claire Williamson, the English spinster whom Mrs. Hazzard is accused of having starved to death, when Judge Lester Still overruled today a motion to dismiss the proceedings. The most important evidence adduced at today's hearing was the testimony of a banker that he had tee." cashed for Mrs. Hazzard a check for $110 drawn by Dorothea Williamson and that the money had been deposited in Mrs. Hazzard's name. Mrs. Hazzard had previously declared that she had given the money to Mrs. Wil-

EAM-BUE HAS REALED IT.

Mrs. Wilson, 110 Wickson Ave. Toronto, says: "About four years ago" a sore spot appeared on the right side of my tace. This spot increased in size until it became about half an inch n diameter, and very painful. I went to a doctor, but the cintment he gave did not have any good effect. ore continued to discharge freely and salves, but it was no good, and I con-tinued to suffer from it for four years! given to me and I used it. Although the quantity was so small it seemed to do me some good, so I purchased a further supply.

"Each box did me more and more good, and to my delight before I had been using Zam-Buk three weeks I saw that it was going to heal the sore. In less than a month it was healed! "I know a lady in the east of the city whose husband suffered for years with an open sore on his leg. On peal was drawn up and will be sent to leading citizens of the country, calling upon them to demand of their repreher she told me that it had healed the sore completely. "My daughter, who lives in Lethbridge, Alta., has also used Zam-Buk with the same satisfactory result. think it is beyond all doubt, the finest healing balm known."

Such is the opinion of all person who have really tried Zam-Buk. CHARGES OF CORRUPTION Lumberman Denies He Had Anything to Do With Election of Senator Stephenson

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Oct. 23.-Edward Hines, the lumberman, denied to-day before the senatorial investigating committee that he had anything to do with the election of Senator Isaac Stephenson, Mr. Hines' denials covered the following: That he went to Washington and there told Senator Stephenson that ecause of charges of corruption the senator could not be re-elected. That to overcome this obstacle he entered in an agreement whereby he and Stephenson each contributed $55,000 which resulted in an election by the Wisconsin legis lature on March 4, 1909, after three democratic assemblymen had absented themselves. That he paid Robert Shields $7,500 to help "put over" the election.

"Did you ever assist in or receive any benefits from the election of Senator Stephenson?" Mr. Hines was asked by Chairman Heyburn. Sever, nor did I ever make or receive any promises in that regard. I was interested to a small extent in his campaign in the primaries. This was simply to ask Shields to induce some jusinessmen to sign a kind of appeal to the public to support the senator berause of his standing as a busineesman in the state."

Hines declared that much of the story as given to the committee by Wirt and Cook of Duluth was due to business reasons. He said Cook had written a letter threatening to "expose" him if he (Hines) did not withdraw as a director from a company in which both were interested. Hines also denied part of a conversation attributed to him by Cook at a hotel in Chicago, in which Hines was reported to have said: "I have had a terrible time getting Stephenson lined up. After I elected him, he goes down o Washington and votes for free lumber, and he is a lumberman, too."

Hines had read into the record a letter in which he said Cook declared, because of Hines' prominence in the Lorimer case, he ought to withdraw from a certain company. Hines said he did not withdraw and the testimony of Cook followed.

The committee endeavored to trace the source of the charges implicating Hines and Shields. The development of this phase of the investigation, as shown by the record, was: "John Brady, a Duluth hotel clerk, now dead, said he overheard two men, unknown to him, 'ioshing' about Hines and Shields' work in Stephenson's behalf. Then Brady told Daniel Haley, Cook's partner, and Haley told Cook, and Cook told Lieutenant Governor Thomas Morris, and Morris told the investigating commit-

Going over the record, the committee found that Cook had denied part of what Morris said, and Haley varied from what Cook had said, and as Brady, the hotel clerk, was dead, no information could be had as to the identity of the two men who were held responsible for the original report. Another feature of today's session was an admission by Assemblyman Joeph A. Domaschowski, that the charge that he was offered a bribe of $1,500 to remain away from the legislature at the time of Stephenson's election was a joke.
