

THE MOTHERLAND.

Latest Mails from England, Ireland and Scotland.

The Dublin Herald has published in its issue of the 18th inst. the Archbishop of Dublin's letter to the Bishops of the Province of Canterbury...

An appeal for aid to complete the monument to the Queen Victoria Centenary in the Park, Dublin, is being made by the Dublin Corporation...

The death of Rev. Fr. Brownrigg, Bishop of Osnabrück, is a personal and sad loss to the present stage of the grand work of the Holy See...

A melancholy boating accident occurred off Carrickfinn. A boat left Buncbeg quay, with seven young men, whose parents reside in Gweedore district...

By the death at an early age of Mrs. M. M. Moclair, wife of Mr. P. Moclair, P. L. G. Oascl, following within a week of the death of her mother, Mrs. M. Carew...

It is time says the Freeman's Journal that the Law Officers of the Crown in Ireland and the Government who are responsible for their action should be brought to task in some effectual manner...

Among the later subscriptions to the Irish National Fund is the following letter accompanied as draft of £70 from Kimberley...

The annual reunion of the natives of Armagh and their friends residing in Glasgow and the West of Scotland was held in the Grand National Hall, Glasgow...

His Lordship Bishop Maguire, of St. Francis Church, Glasgow, raised the Rev. Father John Doherty to the priesthood for the Franciscan Order...

The regular meeting of this branch was held the first Monday. The large audience present were treated to a very enjoyable musical programme contributed by Miss U. Clavet, Miss Alice McCarron, Miss M. Milne, Miss Teresa Tymon and Mr. D. J. Egan...

years before the Norman invasion, but when they submitted to fealty they were guaranteed their lands by the English King. Our correspondent points out, adds the Freeman, that this "submission to fealty" is but a euphemistic phrase for landgrabbing as practised in the days...

By the death at an early age of Mrs. M. M. Moclair, wife of Mr. P. Moclair, P. L. G. Oascl, following within a week of the death of her mother, Mrs. M. Carew, a feeling of deep and widespread regret has been created...

It is time says the Freeman's Journal that the Law Officers of the Crown in Ireland and the Government who are responsible for their action should be brought to task in some effectual manner...

Among the later subscriptions to the Irish National Fund is the following letter accompanied as draft of £70 from Kimberley...

The annual reunion of the natives of Armagh and their friends residing in Glasgow and the West of Scotland was held in the Grand National Hall, Glasgow...

His Lordship Bishop Maguire, of St. Francis Church, Glasgow, raised the Rev. Father John Doherty to the priesthood for the Franciscan Order...

The regular meeting of this branch was held the first Monday. The large audience present were treated to a very enjoyable musical programme contributed by Miss U. Clavet, Miss Alice McCarron, Miss M. Milne, Miss Teresa Tymon and Mr. D. J. Egan...

The regular meeting of this branch was held the first Monday. The large audience present were treated to a very enjoyable musical programme contributed by Miss U. Clavet, Miss Alice McCarron, Miss M. Milne, Miss Teresa Tymon and Mr. D. J. Egan...

The regular meeting of this branch was held the first Monday. The large audience present were treated to a very enjoyable musical programme contributed by Miss U. Clavet, Miss Alice McCarron, Miss M. Milne, Miss Teresa Tymon and Mr. D. J. Egan...

the Franciscan Order, and he was the oldest member in Athlone and one of the oldest members in Ireland of this great religious society. He received shortly before his death the last Sacraments from the Right Rev. Monsignor Kelly, Dean of Elphin, his intimate friend. Though one of the oldest residents in Athlone, Mr. O'Connor was not a native of the town. His father was a Westford man, and enjoyed the distinction of being amongst the first who took part in the memorable battle of Vinegar Hill, while he was himself a '48 man.

Mr. Gladstone having been asked by the Abbe Louis Picard, of Lyons, to accept a copy of his recent work entitled "Christianism Against the World," has addressed the following letter to the author:

It is astonishing how, when the true key to an historical puzzle has been found, statements which before were passed by as of no consequence, or indeed, as contradictory, immediately assume a value and importance in evidence of the truth. Thus, in the only three contemporary documents existing as evidence of the first voyage, viz. the letters of Estevão, Soncini and D. Ayala, there is a most remarkable discrepancy of statement as to the distance of the New-found-land from Europe...

In connection with the catastrophe in Paris, Mr. Geo. R. Sims calls attention to a singular prophecy in "Old Moore's Almanack," where it appears in reference to the last few days of April— "We are almost sure to hear news of an awful fire in Paris which will involve great loss of life, whilst a gang of loafers will be busy amongst the ruins." "Old Moore" has certainly been singularly right in this case at any rate.

The annual reunion of the natives of Armagh and their friends residing in Glasgow and the West of Scotland was held in the Grand National Hall, Glasgow...

His Lordship Bishop Maguire, of St. Francis Church, Glasgow, raised the Rev. Father John Doherty to the priesthood for the Franciscan Order...

The regular meeting of this branch was held the first Monday. The large audience present were treated to a very enjoyable musical programme contributed by Miss U. Clavet, Miss Alice McCarron, Miss M. Milne, Miss Teresa Tymon and Mr. D. J. Egan...

The regular meeting of this branch was held the first Monday. The large audience present were treated to a very enjoyable musical programme contributed by Miss U. Clavet, Miss Alice McCarron, Miss M. Milne, Miss Teresa Tymon and Mr. D. J. Egan...

The regular meeting of this branch was held the first Monday. The large audience present were treated to a very enjoyable musical programme contributed by Miss U. Clavet, Miss Alice McCarron, Miss M. Milne, Miss Teresa Tymon and Mr. D. J. Egan...

CABOT'S VOYAGES.

For Light See. Bishop H. W. Arnett.

It is astonishing how, when the true key to an historical puzzle has been found, statements which before were passed by as of no consequence, or indeed, as contradictory, immediately assume a value and importance in evidence of the truth. Thus, in the only three contemporary documents existing as evidence of the first voyage, viz. the letters of Estevão, Soncini and D. Ayala, there is a most remarkable discrepancy of statement as to the distance of the New-found-land from Europe...

It is astonishing how, when the true key to an historical puzzle has been found, statements which before were passed by as of no consequence, or indeed, as contradictory, immediately assume a value and importance in evidence of the truth. Thus, in the only three contemporary documents existing as evidence of the first voyage, viz. the letters of Estevão, Soncini and D. Ayala, there is a most remarkable discrepancy of statement as to the distance of the New-found-land from Europe...

It is astonishing how, when the true key to an historical puzzle has been found, statements which before were passed by as of no consequence, or indeed, as contradictory, immediately assume a value and importance in evidence of the truth. Thus, in the only three contemporary documents existing as evidence of the first voyage, viz. the letters of Estevão, Soncini and D. Ayala, there is a most remarkable discrepancy of statement as to the distance of the New-found-land from Europe...

It is astonishing how, when the true key to an historical puzzle has been found, statements which before were passed by as of no consequence, or indeed, as contradictory, immediately assume a value and importance in evidence of the truth. Thus, in the only three contemporary documents existing as evidence of the first voyage, viz. the letters of Estevão, Soncini and D. Ayala, there is a most remarkable discrepancy of statement as to the distance of the New-found-land from Europe...

It is astonishing how, when the true key to an historical puzzle has been found, statements which before were passed by as of no consequence, or indeed, as contradictory, immediately assume a value and importance in evidence of the truth. Thus, in the only three contemporary documents existing as evidence of the first voyage, viz. the letters of Estevão, Soncini and D. Ayala, there is a most remarkable discrepancy of statement as to the distance of the New-found-land from Europe...

It is astonishing how, when the true key to an historical puzzle has been found, statements which before were passed by as of no consequence, or indeed, as contradictory, immediately assume a value and importance in evidence of the truth. Thus, in the only three contemporary documents existing as evidence of the first voyage, viz. the letters of Estevão, Soncini and D. Ayala, there is a most remarkable discrepancy of statement as to the distance of the New-found-land from Europe...

It is astonishing how, when the true key to an historical puzzle has been found, statements which before were passed by as of no consequence, or indeed, as contradictory, immediately assume a value and importance in evidence of the truth. Thus, in the only three contemporary documents existing as evidence of the first voyage, viz. the letters of Estevão, Soncini and D. Ayala, there is a most remarkable discrepancy of statement as to the distance of the New-found-land from Europe...

It is astonishing how, when the true key to an historical puzzle has been found, statements which before were passed by as of no consequence, or indeed, as contradictory, immediately assume a value and importance in evidence of the truth. Thus, in the only three contemporary documents existing as evidence of the first voyage, viz. the letters of Estevão, Soncini and D. Ayala, there is a most remarkable discrepancy of statement as to the distance of the New-found-land from Europe...

It is astonishing how, when the true key to an historical puzzle has been found, statements which before were passed by as of no consequence, or indeed, as contradictory, immediately assume a value and importance in evidence of the truth. Thus, in the only three contemporary documents existing as evidence of the first voyage, viz. the letters of Estevão, Soncini and D. Ayala, there is a most remarkable discrepancy of statement as to the distance of the New-found-land from Europe...

The expedition sailed from Bristol about the beginning of May following, namely, 1498: that is to say three months after the date of the Patent, not fifteen months as some writers have said. This second charter was given to John Cabot, but Sebastian went with him. The King gave permission to have six ships, of 200 tons each, with 300 men, and it would seem that the M-J set was a little more generous this time. It is stated that he fitted out at least two of the ships from the Royal Exchequer. Lough even that is doubtful.

The expedition was supplied for a twelve months' cruise, and probably did not return till some time in 1499. We know for certain that they had not returned up to the end of October, 1498, and it is most probable that they wintered in the Baseline. As to the course of this second voyage, for many reasons, I believe that they did not make the detour northwards along the west coast of Ireland this time, but struck out boldly northward from Cape Clear, making the great circle with the intention of reaching the New-found-land as soon as possible. This was his express intention, as mentioned by Soncini. Cabot's men said, "Now that we know where to go, we can reach there in fifteen days." This implied going by the shortest and most direct route. They were no longer terrified by doubts and fears of the unknown region of darkness. They were no longer sitting at an uncertainty, but had a definite object, and went for it at once.

It is astonishing how, when the true key to an historical puzzle has been found, statements which before were passed by as of no consequence, or indeed, as contradictory, immediately assume a value and importance in evidence of the truth. Thus, in the only three contemporary documents existing as evidence of the first voyage, viz. the letters of Estevão, Soncini and D. Ayala, there is a most remarkable discrepancy of statement as to the distance of the New-found-land from Europe...

It is astonishing how, when the true key to an historical puzzle has been found, statements which before were passed by as of no consequence, or indeed, as contradictory, immediately assume a value and importance in evidence of the truth. Thus, in the only three contemporary documents existing as evidence of the first voyage, viz. the letters of Estevão, Soncini and D. Ayala, there is a most remarkable discrepancy of statement as to the distance of the New-found-land from Europe...

It is astonishing how, when the true key to an historical puzzle has been found, statements which before were passed by as of no consequence, or indeed, as contradictory, immediately assume a value and importance in evidence of the truth. Thus, in the only three contemporary documents existing as evidence of the first voyage, viz. the letters of Estevão, Soncini and D. Ayala, there is a most remarkable discrepancy of statement as to the distance of the New-found-land from Europe...

It is astonishing how, when the true key to an historical puzzle has been found, statements which before were passed by as of no consequence, or indeed, as contradictory, immediately assume a value and importance in evidence of the truth. Thus, in the only three contemporary documents existing as evidence of the first voyage, viz. the letters of Estevão, Soncini and D. Ayala, there is a most remarkable discrepancy of statement as to the distance of the New-found-land from Europe...

It is astonishing how, when the true key to an historical puzzle has been found, statements which before were passed by as of no consequence, or indeed, as contradictory, immediately assume a value and importance in evidence of the truth. Thus, in the only three contemporary documents existing as evidence of the first voyage, viz. the letters of Estevão, Soncini and D. Ayala, there is a most remarkable discrepancy of statement as to the distance of the New-found-land from Europe...

It is astonishing how, when the true key to an historical puzzle has been found, statements which before were passed by as of no consequence, or indeed, as contradictory, immediately assume a value and importance in evidence of the truth. Thus, in the only three contemporary documents existing as evidence of the first voyage, viz. the letters of Estevão, Soncini and D. Ayala, there is a most remarkable discrepancy of statement as to the distance of the New-found-land from Europe...

It is astonishing how, when the true key to an historical puzzle has been found, statements which before were passed by as of no consequence, or indeed, as contradictory, immediately assume a value and importance in evidence of the truth. Thus, in the only three contemporary documents existing as evidence of the first voyage, viz. the letters of Estevão, Soncini and D. Ayala, there is a most remarkable discrepancy of statement as to the distance of the New-found-land from Europe...

branch has speakers of no mean ability. Rev. Father Dollard who acted as judge in giving the decision in favor of the affirmative congratulated them for their magnificent effort in upholding "Prohibition." For the affirmative were J. Fulton, J. Whelan and John O'Shea, the negative were J. Murray, E. K. Kelly and P. J. Lowe.

BISHOP B. W. ARNETT

SWAYS ATTENDANCES WITH HIS MANLY ELOQUENCE.

He Writes a Letter of More than Usual Interest to Suffering Humanity. At Wells, Ohio, three miles north of Lima and near Dayton and Springfield, is located Witherspoon University and Payne Theological Seminary. These two institutions of learning have educated many ministers and teachers. In this somewhat noted educational centre resides Bishop Benjamin W. Arnett, D.D., a divine who is of especial prominence because of his thrilling eloquence with which he has swayed many minds here.

Before being elected bishop he was a leading minister in his church and also a very prominent publicist. He represented his county in the Ohio Legislature for several years. Having given the students of the bishops the following testimonial from him will be found very interesting reading and fully explains itself. To whom it may concern:

In April, 1893, while on my way home from Philadelphia I caught a very severe cold, which soon developed into rheumatism. It was impossible for me to rest by day or sleep by night. About the first of June I was compelled to take to my bed, where I remained for some time. When I was able to get up, I could only go about by the use of crutches.

"The fall came on and the rheumatism grew worse, lasting all through the winter of 94 and 95. I suffered as I never suffered before. I thought that the spring would bring me relief, but it did not; consequently I was forced to cancel a number of engagements to speak.

"Our day in June, 1905, my wife said, 'Bishop, I read so much about Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, suppose you try them and see if they will not help you?'

"I said, 'No, there is no use of getting these pills, unless almost everything that has been recommended to us, and none of the remedies suggested seem to help my case.'

"She said no more, but went to Xenia, Ohio, and bought a box of the pills. On her return she gave me a dose at noon and another at night. She was only called one time to attend to me during that night.

"For months previous she had been called three or four times during the night. The next day I took three doses of the pills, and the second night I was not disturbed. The next day, for the first time in more than ten months, had a good night's sleep. I have not lost a night's sleep since that time on account of the rheumatism. I carry a box of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in my pocket wherever I go. I cheerfully bear testimony and hope that others may find relief as I did. I have recommended Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to several people.

"Yours for God and Man." BENJAMIN W. ARNETT.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, by going to the root of the disease. They renew and build up the blood and strengthen the nerves, thus driving disease from the system. Avoid imitations by insisting that every box purchased is enclosed in a wrapper bearing the full name, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People.

As we sometimes find a crooked stick over the fire to straighten it, so God holds us over the fire of affliction to make us more straight and upright.

Six Oils—The most conclusive testimony, reportedly laid before the public in the columns of the daily press, proves that Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil—an absolutely pure combination of six of the finest mineral oils in existence—removes rheumatic pain, eradicates affections of the throat and lungs, and cures piles, wounds, sores, lacerations, tumors, furuncles, and injuries of horses and cattle.

Every man will find his own private affairs more difficult to manage and control than any public affairs in which he may be engaged.

Some Frazz—Mrs. E. J. Neill, New Arruagh, P.O., writes: "For nearly six months I was troubled with burning sores and pains in my feet to such an extent that I could not sleep at night, and as my out worn, badly swollen feet could not wear my boots for weeks. At last I got a bottle of Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil and resolved to try it and to my astonishment I got almost instant relief, and the one bottle accomplished a perfect cure."