

of Bremner Bros., stationers, bookbinders and book and job printers, Charlottetown, P. E. I., left that port May 16th, on board of the ship "James Duncan," for Liverpool, Eng.; after a passage of 28 days, she arrived June 12th. Mr. Bremner has gone to recruit himself, as he has not enjoyed the best of health lately. He intends to return in the fall, after visiting London, Paris, Glasgow, etc. We shall be happy to chronicle his return to P. E. I. fully recruited and enjoying his former good health and vigor.

The Perth, Ont., Expositor says:—The death of Mr. Burton Campbell, printer, well known in Perth, and, indeed, throughout Canada, is announced. The late Mr. Campbell was a man of very considerable ability and great force of character. He was born in Ireland. At an early age he was apprenticed to the printing business in that country; but, being of a somewhat roving disposition and fond of adventure, ran away before his apprenticeship was ended, and enlisted as one of the English volunteers to Spain, then a very popular movement. He, with the rest of the English volunteers, suffered great hardships, and returned home in a destitute condition. He afterwards worked at his trade in England, the United States and Canada. In 1852 he came to Perth as the editor of the British Standard. His career since then is well known. The Ottawa Typographical Union took charge of his funeral.

From our Fredericton, N. B., Correspondent.

Mr. Charles H. Lugvin, formerly editor of the defunct Colonial Farmer, was one of Victoria County's candidates for the House of Assembly.

Come "Stick and Rule," rise and ventilate yourself and don't keep us in suspense any longer, but enlighten us about "The Printer." Out with it, man.

Compositor—St. John—blue ribbon—"tangle-foot"—arm in arm with an Indian—executing the bear dance—"Melecite" language—can grunt "Ah-ha"—"S'posen you do it gen, ugh!" Draw the veil of charity.

Mr. Watts, editor of the Carleton Sentinel, Woodstock, was the recipient of a large number of letters, begging him to offer as a candidate for the legislature. Owing to the lateness of the hour he declined with many thanks for their kindness.

A. Jones, who served his apprenticeship under our old-time friend Will. Wallace, of the Senti- nel office, Woodstock, is now part owner of the Rockland Courier. By the way, Bill and Jack were down to Fredericton on the 24th, wearing the blue badge right nobly. KELO.

UNITED STATES.

Mr. F. J. Bonnelle, night editor of the Boston Herald, left that city lately for a tour of Europe.

A literary and social entertainment given by the Boston Herald Mutual Benefit Association recently proved a grand success, and added over $100 to the funds of the association.

Mr. John A. C. Rice, a gentleman connected with the Boston Herald counting room, died in Charlestown, Mass., recently, of consumption, aged 26 years. Mr. Rice was a gentleman in every sense of the word, and his demise is deeply regretted.

Barnum has more reason than ever to be thankful to the printers. Five men who were arrested for counterfeiting tickets for his show had a hearing in Philadelphia, April 29th, and were held in $600 bail each for trial. A printer, who was engaged to work off the tickets from the block, which was a perfect fac-simile of the genuine, surrendered it to the police, and betrayed the conspiracy. The gang had expected to make $25,000 by their "spec."

Mr. John H. Carney, an old Boston printer, died in that city on the 15th of June, of a brain affection, aged 46 years. Mr. Carney had worked in nearly all of the principal newspaper offices in Boston, and, at the period of the commencement of his illness, held a situation in the composing room of the Herald. In early life John shipped in the United States navy, and was with Commodore Perry in his famous expedition to Japan. During the late war he served as a soldier in Company F, First Massachusetts Volunteers, and participated in many engagements with his regiment until he was taken prisoner at the battle of Fair Oaks and conveyed to Belle Isle, Virginia. Shortly after he was exchanged, and went back to his regiment in the field, with which he served out his period of enlistment, and returned home with the organization just after the battle of the Wilderness. After the war he resumed his former occupation of typesetting, which he continued up to a few months prior to his death. Mr. Carney was a gentleman of genial and kindly disposition, honorable and generous, and was very highly esteemed by his many friends and associates.