-Among all the cities in Italy suffering from famine and misery this winter Reme bears the heaviest burden. The trade of the city has declined since the overthrow of the Pope's Government, and the taxes are a hundred-fold what they were; they were almost nominal under the Popes, as the whole world contributed to enrich the city. Large capitalists from Turin and Milan have monopolized what has been left of the trade once possessed by Roman merchants.

About twelve months ago a Protestant living in Natal offered him 6,000 acres of land in the Transvaal for the purpose of a Catholic mission. He takes out with him on his return a considerable number of tradesmen and twenty or thirty families in order to establish a white colony. Father O'Haire describes the Zulus as standing in physical and intellectual capacity supreme among the savages of the earth, and believes that they may be highly civilized.

AN ENEXPECTED MEETING. A Couple Separated for Twenty Years

Meet on the Contra Costa.

[From the Vallejo Chronicle] One of those strange episodes in human life, which make us sometimes wonder at "the eternal fitness of things," occurred last night at the Vallejo junction. The tide being low on the arrival of the Contra Costa, passengers for Vallejo were compelled to make quite a descent from the wharf to the boat, and the ladies required the assistance of the gentlemen present, A Mr. G--, a grain speculator, was doing the agreeable in this respect, and one of the last ladies to descend was overburdened with a few feminine bundles, which he galantly took charge of, and accompanied the lady to the cabin, where they sat and engaged in conversation. The subject finally touched upon the nativity of each, when it was found they were both from the same town in Kentucky. This fact made each more communi-goutleman grew pale and excited, and asked:

"You had a daughter, did you not?" "I did," she responded. "Pray, how did you know that?" "Is that daughter living?" "She is, and at present on a visit to friend: in Vallejo, where I am now going." "Merciful heavens?" he gasped. "My child!" 4 Sir," said the lady rising; " what do you "Mean?" he hastily replied. " Mean? Why,

I mean that that daughter is my own child, and you are my wife!" Almost overpowered at this confession, and in doubt as to whether he was an escape from Napa or an adventurer, she plied him with questions, to every one of which he returned correct answer, when she was convinced that the man was really her husband, from whom she had been separated twenty years It seems, from what we can gather from a party familiar with the event of last evening, that the twain were married at Paris, Kentucky, in 1858, and thirteen months afterwards he went to Liverpool on business. The vessed on which he took passage was wrecked, and all on board were supposed to have perished. The news coming to the young wife's ears, she was utterly prostrated, and was ordered to California by her physicians. Arriving here she took up her resi-dence in Los Angeles. The husband was picked up from the wreck by a fishing smack and taken to some remote foreign port, where he was thrown upon a bed of sickness, which insted some fifteen months. In the meantime he had written repeatedly to to his wife, but received no answer.

In his despair he concluded to risk a journey across the Atlantic in the hope of once more seeing her. Feeble as he was, and his daily, between the hours of 11 and 4, or by letter. | funds being exhausted, he shipped before the will please mention the True Witness.

mast on a sailing vessel, and in due time arrived in New York. From there he wrote three times to his wife, but received no answer. Almost frenzled at the thought that she might be dend, and being without money and no friends, he " faced " his way clear to Kentucky, and shortly after arrived at Paris. livie he met no famillar faces, and at the post office he inquired for his letters. They had been forwarded to the Dead Letter Office months before. Inquiries throughout the town assured him that his wife had disappeared a year or so be-fore, no one knew whither. Some said she had gone in search of her husband, others that she might be dead, and others that she had gone to California. He sought the old family physician, but he had left the town some time before. Mr. G. then went to work at Louisville, and made enough to bring him to California a year after his arrival in Kentucky. He searched everywhere for his absent wife, but without success, and finally gave her up as dead, and she also mourned for his death. Neither, however, had married again, and last evening on board the Contra Costa was the first intimation either had that the other was in existence.

The now happy couple arrived here last night, and to the surprise of the friends of the lady she introduced her husband, from whom she had been separated twenty years. But imagine his unutterable surprise and joy when the mother led into the parlor a beautiful young lady, his own daughter, whom he had not seen since she was a babe. But let us draw the curtain over this beautiful incident. Three souls that yesterday were as foreign to each other as the poles, are now basking in the sublimity of united affection, and father, mother and child will be in anew the pilgrimage of life. They will leave to-morrow for San Francisco, where Mr. G., who is now a com-paratively wealthy man, has his business, and where they will bereafter reside.

Three New Catholic Parishes. Some four or five years ago the idea was onceived his by Eminence Cardinal McClosky, and his council of priests, of redistricting certain quarters of the city and forming new parishes for the accommodation of the Catholies who in some parishes were too numerous to be attended to with convenience and good order. It was seen that before many years semething would have to be done to cope with the fast-increasing Catholic population, but the matter was dropped for the present, presumably with the hope that the new Cathedral, when finished, would be adequate to contain the surplus from other congregations However this may be in theory, it is practically wrong. The matter was lately taken up again and acted upon with the result of creating three new parishes, and appointing pastors over them. The sites of the new churches are to be respectively in Twenty-eighth street, between Broadway and Fifth avenue: Fifty-fifth street and First avenue, and Seventy third street and First avenue.

Rev. Thomas J. Ducey, now of St. Michael's Church, Rev. James J. Flood, of St. Gabriel's, and Rev. J. Doherty, of St. Jesome's Church, Mott Haven. Although these young pasters have not yet left their present appointments they are exempted from duty and allowed to devote their time to negotiating for their future parishes. Father Ducey has purchased two extensive 000. Thirty-one thousand dollars have been paid by Father Flood for five lots in Fiftyfifth street and First avenue, on which a large tenement house now stands. The new parish in Twenty-eight street will be taken principally from St. Stephen's and St. Francis parish in Fifty-fifth street will be composed | of a corner of the Cathedral parish and a portion, also, of the Dominicans in Sixty-sixth street. THE MANSION HOUSE PUND. Parnell's Reply to the N.Y. "Herald." ROCHESTER, N.Y., Jan. 27, 1880.

To the Editor of the Herald: As you have thought proper to suppress the most important portion of my remarks at Buffalo in reference to the Dublin Mansion House Relief Committee I am compelled to supply the omission by saking you to publish this note. You first attempted to toist upon the people of the United States the Relief Committee started by the Duchess of Marlborough, but the common-sense and self-respect of America revolting from your project you now endeavor to mend your hand by lavishly parading and advertising the claims of the Dublin Mansion House Committee, an association of a kindred character, mainly composed of government office-holders, whig and tory laudfords, and castle flunkies, destitute of all sympathy with our struggling people and hostile to their aspirations.

We shall be told that the presence of the Catholic hierarhy on this committee is a guarantee, but the fact still remains that it is mainly composed of the landlord interest, and much of it of a most virulent chreacter.

The control of this committee also and the disposition of its funds must necessarily rest with the Dublin portion of it since its sessions are held in that city. Hence the influence of the Irish bishops, whose names have been attached to mislead Catholic public opinion in this country, and who chiefly reside in portions of Ireland remote from Dublin, will be unable to control the landlord and castle management. The Lord Mayor of Dublin, moreover, the chairman of this Committee, has already shown his bias by refusing at the meeting of Irish members to accept a resolution of sympathy with the distressed peasantry of the west. I do not wish to examine the motives of this refusal, but it is a significant fact that the passage of this resolution, in spite of the opposition of the Lord Mayor, led to the refusal of the Duko of Marlborough to accept the former's invitation to dinner. In view, however, of your persistent attempts to mislead the American people on this question it now becomes my duty to state plainly, for the information of the charitable, an expiring and tyrannical land system, and that all aid from it will be refused to those of the starving peasantry who have actively Gloria "and Credo" from Gonnod's Messa for impartiality which you have assumed in your notice of the Mansion House Committee
