

HERBIE

as she gave him one dollar she said: "You can keep ten cents for yourself." Herbie said: "I promised Jesus that if He would help me to write, I would give Him all the money I earned, and if I kept this ten cents I would be stealing." So the dollar was placed in the box.

Herbie wrote two copies of the Lord's prayer. One he gave to Miss Veazey, our missionary from Japan, the other hangs in the home in that part of the room known as Herbie's corner. There is the wheeled chair, the house chair, the music box, the work box, and the scrap-book, on which we find his first attempt at making a mark with his foot, and the advances until he formed the first letter; then a word, and a sentence and his own name. The improvement was quite discernible. There was also a large photograph of the
