

NO SPECIAL PART IN CONVENTION IS GIVEN TO WOMEN

Omission of Temperance
Workers of Last Year
Noticeable.

Women's Christian Temperance
Union Gave Greetings
Last Year to Delegates.

Women's part in the provincial prohibition convention which opens in Massey Hall today, does not seem to be of sufficient importance to have a place on the printed program. The prominent part taken by the women temperance workers of Toronto would be fully recognized in this convention. Ben H. Spence, secretary of the Dominion Alliance, was called yesterday and asked if the W.C.T.U. would give the greetings as last year. Mr. Spence said he was sure the W.C.T.U. had never given greetings. When asked if the names of the women taking part on the program should not have appeared he said: "You want to know if the omission is accidental or intentional? The women never did give greetings, certainly not at any evening session I ever attended. If you want to know what the W.C.T.U. is going to do, you go to them."

Following Mr. Spence's advice, Mrs. E. A. Stevens, president of the Provincial W.C.T.U., was asked if the W.C.T.U. had ever received official recognition from the Dominion Alliance. "Certainly," she answered, "last year I was invited to extend greetings from the women temperance workers of Toronto to the delegates attending the convention. Mr. Spence invited me himself. I have not heard anything about this year yet. Our union has not been asked to do anything."

The W.C.T.U. send delegates to the convention, one for every fifty members. Mrs. Stevens is one of the executive committee. When asked if there was in favor of the Hon. William Jennings Bryan being invited to address this convention, Mrs. Stevens said: "I am not in favor of his peace policy. I do not see how anyone in Canada could agree with him in that. He was invited because he is an orator and, much as I disagree with his peace policy, I would like to hear him speak and attend the meeting for that purpose." Mrs. Stevens acknowledged that she had noticed the absence of names of women on the program and had wondered over it. "The W.C.T.U. have accomplished a wonderful work in the province for temperance," she said, "and it is right that the men should give them equal prominence on the program."

LEAGUE SENDS COMFORTS.

Mrs. Arthur Vankoughnet, convenor of soldiers' comforts department of the Women's Patriotic League, reported supplies for soldiers overseas, and for returned men in Canada as follows: 1,480 pairs socks, 169 personal property bags, 211 quilts, 2 gramophones and 22 records, 2 square pianos. A deep appreciation has been expressed by the National Service Committee of Ottawa for the result of the "Valentine Shower" of 684 pairs of socks for overseas.

RECEIPT FOR WARDING OFF AGE

Fat is commonplace—middle aged. It stamps a woman as unquestionably past the period of youth, hence it loses her influence. She may charm still—by rimbleness of wit—but that indefinite fascination a fine figure yields has fled from her.

"Forever" No! for it can be regained, and that easily. Youth as expressed in the straight front, the lissome hip, the wavy outline, is not beyond reach. Let any woman who is too well filled out take a Marmola Prescription Tablet after each meal and at bedtime. The springiness of youth will come back to her. Off will go the fat, untrimly and smooth, revealing the foundation of the youthful form beneath.

Try this method. No exercising or dieting; no necessary to take off a pound a day. The Tablet will do it alone. No wrinkles or haggard lines will form; instead the health, the brightness and the lissomeness will increase. The Marmola Prescription Tablet is absolutely non-injurious (being made of the famous fashionable formula—15 ounces Marmola, 34 ounces P. Ex. Cacao, Aromatic, 44 ounces Peppermint Water), and it is also inexpensive, a large case enough to show results, costing, at any drug store, or direct from Marmola Co., 864 Woodward Avenue, Detroit, Mich., only seventy-five cents.

WOMEN ENDORSE NEW CONSERVATION

Plan Effort to Lower the High Cost of Dressing.

Following in natural sequence the program mapped out by the government in food and fuel conservation is the American women's campaign to promote the conservation of clothing. Making over the family's old clothes is by no means a new idea, but when it is done on a large scale as a community service it assumes the role of a war-born industry that gives promise of developing into a campaign against the high cost of dressing. The idea of conservation of clothes originated with a Washington woman, Mrs. Charles E. Stoddard. After mature study Mrs. Stoddard had a vision and forthwith began a systematic plan to spread her gospel of clothes conservation among women. The more clothing conserved and its wear and usefulness extended, the more of the materials and labor required in clothing production may be diverted to the manufacture of war supplies.

Sample Exhibits. In order to make her plan convincing Mrs. Stoddard put her practical ideas of needlework into the form of an exhibit consisting of several dozen sample garments of all sizes made from worn clothing. These garments, Mrs. Stoddard does not claim that the made-over clothes will wear as long as those made from new materials, but she does insist that they will give as much wear as some of the new articles that people of moderate incomes can afford to buy at the present prices.

Organizations of mothers have taken on Mrs. Stoddard's plan and intend to develop the conservation idea on a large scale in every United States city by establishing as quickly as feasible a municipal plant for the collection and utilization of clothes waste. These garments, which will then be sold at a small price, thus giving the poor an opportunity to get clean, practical clothing at a much lower cost than buying new ones of inferior quality.

Mrs. Stoddard maintains that if all of the stored-away clothing was brought forth from its storage places and transformed into serviceable garments, every man, woman and child could be decently clothed. Toward this end she is working as a matter of patriotic duty, with the indorsement of the great body of mothers to spur her on. She packs up her exhibits and responds to calls far and near, preaching this gospel of clothes conservation to clubs and all groups who ask.

The idea is taking hold upon women who wish to be of service as well as the mothers of children and a new practical use is found for every discarded, from last year's bathing cap to the old lace curtains, too ragged to use, but retained thru regard for their one-time elegance.

TO REHABILITATE VIMY.

Secoursa ational Busy These Days
at New Quarters.

Everyone at the Secoursa National is particularly busy these days. The new quarters near the corner of King and Yonge streets are filled with projects for the carrying out of the new work which the organization has taken in hand—to rehabilitate the devastated and historic site of the village of Vimy.

For this an appeal is being made throughout Canada. The work will entail considerable outlay, the intention being to set young trees, provide portable and other houses and supply the people who will go back with clothing.

In addition to planning tangible things are largely in evidence in the work room of the "Secoursa." Sewing machines are flying and various garments are being turned out by willing fingers. Knitting is also a daily industry and the socks which are being made will eventually go to the people in France for whom the society works.

At the annual meeting it is expected that reports of the past year will prove very interesting.

THE MOSHERS' REVUE.

The many friends of little Miss Audrey Adams, the little lady who danced so gracefully on Friday night, being called back and greeted with a beautiful bouquet of flowers, will be sorry to hear that she was taken very ill after the dance on Friday night.

CHARGE OF THEFT.

Charged with the theft of a coat valued at $50 from the Robert Simpson Company, W. J. Summerville, 600 East Gerrard street, was arrested yesterday by Detective Cronin.

CANADIANS REPATRIATED.

London, Feb. 25.—The following Canadian prisoners are repatriated: Capt. J. C. Curran, F. R. Hahz; Pte. F. Book, escaped, and Corp. J. L. Davis.

CHIFFON SCARF.

The long scarf is an interesting note of the season. For sports it is eminently practical and it makes a graceful and attractive wrap for afternoon wear developed in more elaborate style and materials. For evening wear, the scarf pictured is made of yellow chiffon and is fringed with golden-brown ostrich.

ADVICE TO GIRLS

By Rosalind

DEAR ROSALIND:

I am a girl of 27, and am desperately in love with a young man of 21. He is a dream, but he is rather bashful. He is the first young man I have ever had, and I think I am the first girl he has ever had. I have been keeping steady company with him now for six months, and he has never approached the marriage question. As I said before, I haven't had any experience and I don't know what to say to urge him on. Kindly answer this and tell me what to do.

HOPEFUL ONE:

Six months is not very long. It takes a long time to get acquainted. Don't do anything "to urge him on." Just be as sweet and friendly and necessary to him as he can be. He will come without your friendship. Then he will tell you so.

DEAR ROSALIND:

Could you please give me advice, as I am not alone in Canada? My husband went overseas more than two years ago. It is a little more than a year since he was wounded and brought back to England. After he got quite well he received a commission as lieutenant. Since then he has been very good with his letters, and he is always writing me. Do you think I have a right to know what he is doing with the money I send him? But he never tells me anything about what he is doing in England, so I wrote and asked his mother if she would keep an eye on him. Well, I got a letter from her, telling me she thought her son was capable of looking after himself, and if I looked after the money on this side of the water I would have plenty to do.

DEAR ROSALIND:

This is the first time I have written to you, but I feel so lonely and unhappy since I got her letter. But of course I know she does not like me from the way she writes to me. She is always telling me I ought to get work to do while he is away and send all I can. I have been working part of the time till I buried my baby, whom my husband never saw, and I am not very strong now.

LONELY AUDREY:

My dear Audrey: I wish I could do something that would really help and comfort you. You have surely suffered enough here alone without having to live on comfort alone. I know you demand the mother's attitude at all; but I would not write her about it again. It is very hard for me to advise you to do anything that might hurt you. I have trouble with my husband, but I do think you should know why he requires so much extra money. I know that soldiers on leave or convalescing in England are said to be very extravagant. But I do not think you should send money if you need it here. As long as you are sure that he has enough to live on comfortably, then you have every right to keep the rest in return for all you can in case he returns unfit for work.

If I were you I would work—not at hard work that would overtax your strength, but at something that will keep you busy and give you something to think about. There is nothing like work, Audrey, to keep one happy.

Write to me again. I should like to know how you get along and if you care to, send me your real name and address. I might be able to find friends for you if you find the strange too hard alone.

DEAR ROSALIND:

For over three years I've read your column and many times have I been almost disgusted with the letters some of your readers write, but now

Recipes

By Toronto Women

Many a good dinner we have had without meat from the following recipe. It is very nourishing, cheap and easily made and wholesome.

Potatoes and Onions; Yorkshire Dish. Three onions sliced into a deep dish; 3 potatoes, sliced; sprinkle with salt and pepper, add a little beef dripping. Bring stock to boiling point and sprinkle in the vegetables, boil until quantity desired. Pour over all about half-cup water or an ozo cube dissolved in water, just sufficient to make a steam; cover tightly and bake slowly for one hour.

Carrots and Leeks.

Boil carrots and leeks together and then pickle. This makes a most delicious dish.

H. Ward, Woodbine Heights.

Vermicelli Soup. Three pint stock, 2 ounces vermicelli, salt and pepper. Break the vermicelli between the fingers into short lengths. Bring stock to boiling point and sprinkle in the vermicelli, boil gently for 15 minutes, season to taste. L. L. B. St. Claire.

NATURAL CAUSES.

A verdict of death from natural causes was returned by the jury inquiring into the death of George Harvey, formerly of 62 Robert street, at the morgue last night. Harvey was removed to the General Hospital recently suffering from pains in the head, and owing to the fact that his case could not be properly diagnosed the inquest was ordered. Dr. C. W. Brand conducted the inquest.
